

Charles St. John

Charles is an internationally experienced executive coach and consultant on leadership, innovation, and life/career planning. He helps individuals, teams, and organizations reach and exceed their goals and has trained and coached thousands of individuals around the world. He is noted for his ability to bring developmental concepts to life through stories and real-world examples.

He founded The Results Group, Inc. in 1977 and has since worked with a wide range of organizations including Sun Microsystems, Sandia National Laboratories, TCI, Sprint, 3M, Myogen, and many others. He draws on his strong background as a hands-on executive having been a Fortune 500 executive, Director of Marketing for the ski resort of Vail, and owner/partner in several entrepreneurial ventures.

In addition to being a Master Facilitator of "The Leadership Challenge" programs he is also certified in the use of "EQi and EQ360" emotional intelligence instruments.

Charles adds the following to his experience:

- Professional photographer with work published in nine countries
- Climbed 19,300 ft. Mt. Kilimanjaro and trekked in remote areas of the Maasai lands of Tanzania
- Member of the Bio-Bio River, Chile whitewater exploratory expedition
