Nitzberg Coaching

Nitzberg Coaching offers presentation and leadership coaching to CEO's, executives, and managers who want to become more effective public speakers, and stronger leaders.

Professional Expertise/Services

We offer coaching, consulting and training in the following areas:

- Creating effective, high-impact, relaxed presentations
- Preparing for fundraising, VC and investor pitches
- Helping leaders identify what is most important
- Improving relationships with employees, supervisors and peers
- Enhancing leadership skills
- Helping Chinese leaders speak and lead in an English speaking context

Eric came to the coaching and training profession after nearly 15 years as a leader, minister, and executive in a San Francisco Bay Area church with a membership of over 400 people. In his ministerial roles Eric brought expertise as a public speaker, teacher and counselor, working with large and small groups to help them navigate life's most foundationally important questions.

In addition to spiritual leadership roles, Eric also served as an organizational leader. As executive minister, he was responsible for staff supervision, leadership development, strategic planning, HR, finance, operations management, and extensive work with board leadership issues. As such, Eric brings a unique blend of experience both as a teacher, and a seasoned organizational leader.

A final element of Eric's work involves his background with Chinese language. Eric speaks Mandarin, has a degree in Chinese language and literature, and has studied linguistics. Eric's Chinese clients find him uniquely positioned to help them become better presenters in English, and to navigate inside American institutions.
