

Daniel Granholm Mulhern

Professional Expertise/Services

Dan Mulhern whose academic experience is in education and religion (Yale, '80) and law (Harvard, '86) is an expert in leadership development and practice. He has worked in the public, private and not-for-profit sectors. Since 1999 he has been working as a public speaker, consultant, radio personality, and writer in the field of leadership.

His radio show "Everyday Leadership: Making Work Work" is broadcast across most of Michigan on the Michigan Talk Network. He has authored the book Everyday Leadership: getting results in business, politics and life, and is currently working with his wife on another book on "leading through sustained crisis." For ten years he has been writing an acclaimed blog, "Reading for Leading," which is received directly by thirteen thousand readers. Dan is Married to Michigan Governor Jennifer Granholm.

Dan is expert in individual coaching and organizational development. He has facilitated groups as large as 600 individuals, and worked with CEOs and executive teams from small start-ups all the way to Fortune 500 companies. He had a very successful partnership called the Mulhern Hastings Group, which he left in order to better support his wife and children when his wife became governor in 2002. Six years ago he began Dan Mulhern Inc (www.danmulhern.com). He has used it mainly to support his public speaking but looks forward to growing the coaching, consulting and training aspects of his business nationally when his wife leaves office at the end of 2010.
