Kate Stuart-Cox is a highly skilled facilitator, educator, and coach with over 20 years' experience in creativity, problem solving, and innovation.

Kate's great strength is in working with people at a very practical, down to earth and pragmatic way.

She has worked with organisations such as Guinness, International Masters Publishers, Marshall Cavendish, Dell Computers, City University Business School, RHM, and the Platinum Guild.

For 16 years she worked for various consumer focused, multi-media companies in consumer insight, new product development, and design - as a Creative Director, Director for a Business Unit, and Art Director.

She has been associated with the CPSB Group Inc. since 1995 and additionally is a certified VIEW, SOQ, and LPI user, as well as a facilitator and trainer of Creative Problem Solving.

She graduated with honours in Graphic Design in 1977 and lives with her husband near Oxford in England.
