

Chad Prewett

With a background that includes both non-profit and for-profit training and leadership roles, Chad Prewett brings a broad knowledge base to speaking and training events in the public and private sectors. He is consistently noted for his ability to provide meaningful, no-nonsense education with a humorous and entertaining approach. Chad has taught in K-12 education, at the college level, and as a corporate trainer; he has delivered highly-rated training in 44 of the U.S. states, and across Australia, New Zealand and Great Britain.

Professional Expertise/Services

Chad's particular area of expertise is communication skills. Based largely on his experiences consulting and training over the years for many diverse organizations, he has developed a unique, integrated communication model that can be immediately put to use in a variety of settings. This model is often adapted to become the basis for leadership/management seminars, as well as business writing and public speaking courses delivered by Chad. He is known for fast-paced, engaging teaching that "wins over" even the most skeptical training audience, and also for his use of entertainment and humor to increase learning and retention. Chad's training is high-involvement—audiences are actively participating, not just listening.

Recent Assignments

- Provided a business writing training series for a prominent South Pacific mining company
- Provided a series of leadership and team building seminars for a health care recruiting company based in the U.S. midwest
- Customized and presented a leadership/management workshop for a national health association in the U.S.
- Customized and presented a communication skills seminar for a state transportation agency in Australia

Education and Professional Affiliations

- Bachelor of Music, University of Missouri-Columbia
- Bachelor of Science in Education, University of Missouri-Columbia
- Graduate work completed at Northwest Missouri State University and the University of Missouri-St. Louis

Contact Information

Moonspinner Communications
621 Stone Bend Trail • Wentzville, Missouri 63385
(314) 805-4359 • moonspinnercommunications@gmail.com