Todd M. Voit

With 15 years of executive leadership in corporate manufacturing and B2B services, Todd Voit has led numerous companies, teams, and individuals to success through proven Best-Practice tools and techniques.

Todd uses this valuable Best-Practice approach today as the owner of Transformation Agents, LLC. Through mentoring, coaching, and leadership training, he helps others recognize – and tap into – the knowledge, experience, and passion that lie within. Once revealed, he helps guide the implementation of Best Practice principles into their organizations.

Todd's Best-Practice philosophy is backed by a solid foundation in business organization and management. During his career, he has served as President, CFO, VP of Operations, and as an entrepreneur in the launch of a successful national product. In each role, he continually worked to wring out waste, build high performance teams, and bring best business practices to his company.

Currently, Todd serves as president of Immedia, a leading Twin Cities in-store displays and graphics company. His focus on delivering engaging design, extraordinary execution, and exceptional service to retailers and brand marketers has enabled him to successfully weather the prolonged economic recession and remain focused on growth.

But for Todd, growth means more than simply increasing the bottom line. His true passion is helping others achieve more – as individuals, and in their business, family, and community life. Through proven Best-Practice tools and methods, he helps others unleash their trapped potential and improve themselves, while holding true to their beliefs and values. Through this process, individuals, organizations, and communities grow and thrive. Todd is the father of five beautiful children, who are home schooled by his loving wife, Amy. He loves family time, fishing, and the adventure of traveling the United States and the world.
