

Pfeiffer Partner Program

John Choma

John Choma has been a Learning and Development professional for the last 21 years. While serving as an officer of a public company, he held executive titles of Chief Learning Officer; VP, OD, Learning & Performance; Senior VP, Human Resources; and Chief Learning Officer. He has helped organizations with strategic planning, HIPO development, eLearning capabilities, blended learning models, action-learning, and leadership development for large and medium-sized enterprises. John has also established a professional services business unit, a corporate university and Web 2.0 knowledge management system.

John has a degree in Education from the University of Virginia, and a Masters Degree in the Science of Organizational Leadership. He is also an International Society for Performance Improvement (ISPI) - Certified Performance Technologist (CPT), and specializes in taking a “systems” approach to developing team-cohesiveness and performance excellence. John is a certified Meyers-Briggs MBTI facilitator and has been an executive coach for 6 years.

A point of interest: John played professional football for the San Diego Chargers, Kansas City Chiefs and was a world-champion football player for the San Francisco 49ers. He and his wife and three daughters reside in San Mateo county, the technology hub of Silicon Valley where he is currently the President of his consultancy firm, The Leadership Huddle. You can learn more about The Leadership Huddle at www.leadershiphuddle.com