

Rants and Raves about The Leadership Challenge – November 2011

When The Best Colleges Online named The Leadership Challenge LeaderTalk blog one of the 50 Best Leadership Blogs for the Brand New Grad it proclaimed, “These bloggers believe that everyone should have the chance to step up and make a difference, and they can help you do that through their blog, The Leadership Challenge.” Find the 50 Best list here at <http://www.bestcollegesonline.com/blog/2011/10/10/50-best-leadership-blogs-for-the-brand-new-grad>

Jim Kouzes recently talked with Roy Saunderson and S. Max Brown on Real Recognition Radio <http://rideau.com/radio> about why listening is so important to strengthening credibility, and what leaders do when credibility is lost. Listen in as Jim also explores the six key disciplines for earning and sustaining credibility at <http://rideau.com/podcast/credibility-foundation-leadership>

Management Consulting News also called on Jim to share with the program’s online followers expert advice on how leaders should be adapting their leadership styles to today’s work environment and how they can avoid the common traps that hinder their ability to lead effectively. Find the podcast here at <http://podcast.mwmclaughlin.com/podcasts/james-kouzes>

Author, blogger Shakita Morgan is also spreading the wisdom of The Leadership Challenge at <http://business101.blogspot.com/2011/10/leadership-insight-are-you.html>

Look for other Wiley Imprints

