

Patricia (Trish) Cooney

An experienced manager and human resources leader with over twenty years diverse experience in fast paced dynamic work environments. Key strengths include integrity, project management, problem solving, change management, ability to manage multiple/conflicting priorities successfully, communicating with diverse, international audiences, and the ability to work independently as well as collaboratively across organizational boundaries.

Professional Expertise/Services

Trish leverages her corporate experience to provide her clients with outstanding support in the

- Identification of leadership development needs
- Development of strategy to address identified needs
- Design and development of leadership programs and initiatives
- Delivery of leadership development training

Delivery of skill training at all levels on topics such as:

- Driving change
- Business presentations
- Negotiation skills
- Project management
- Effective feedback

Recent Assignments

- Architect and delivery, Johnson and Johnson Executive Quality Leadership Development Program
- Design, development, program manager and trainer: Johnson and Johnson Engineering Leadership Program
- Design, development and management of Citigroup Experience Technology Leadership Program
- Faculty, General Electric Experience Information Management Program and Information Management Leadership Program
- Architect and instructor: Hexcel Corporation Advanced Leadership Program and Early Career Leadership Program
- Architect, develop and delivery for Nielsen Company Emerging Leaders Program

Education and Professional Affiliations

- Bachelor of Science, Duquesne University
- Data Processing Certification, Hartford Community College
- Coursework toward MBA, RPI
- In training for coaching certification with World Institute of Action Learning (WIAL)

Contact Information

Patricia Cooney
246 Breakers Lane
Stratford, CT 06615
chsirt@gmail.com
203 378 7587