

Contents

Preface	v
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	1
Part I: The Pluralist Commonwealth: Equality, Liberty, Democracy	9
1. Equality: Beyond Tax-and-Spend	14
2. Liberty: Money, Time, and Real Freedom of Choice	28
3. Democracy: From the Ground Up	42
4. Democracy: Inequality and Giant Corporations	50
5. Democracy: Is a Continent Too Large?	63
6. The Pluralist Commonwealth	70
Part II: The Democratization of Wealth	79
7. A Direct Stake In Economic Life: Worker-Owned Firms	81
8. Enterprising Cities: Right, Left, and Center	90
9. Building Community: Neighborhoods and Nonprofits with a Mission	99

10. State and National Innovators	110
11. Coda: The Democratization of Wealth and the Era of Deepening Fiscal Crisis	119
Part III: Local Democracy and Regional Decentralization	123
12. Is Local Democracy Possible in the Global Era?	125
13. Community, the Environment, and the “Nonsexist City”	137
14. The Regional Restructuring of the American Continent	152
Part IV: Twenty-First-Century Populism	167
15. The Logic of Long-Term Political Refocusing	169
16. Social Security, Retirement, and Health Care	182
17. A Twenty-Five-Hour Week?	197
18. Beyond Super-Elites and Conspicuous Consumption: Real Ecological Sustainability in the Twenty-First Century	214
19. Coda: Twenty-First-Century Populism	226
Part V: Toward a Morally Coherent Politics	229
Conclusion: The Challenge of the Era of Technological Abundance	232
Notes	241
Index	316