EDITOR'S NOTES	1
John P. Egan
1. The Struggle for Meaning and Power in HIV/AIDS Education	5
Ronald M. Cervero
Community, power, and structural issues often intersect in planning effective HIV/AIDS education for adults.
2. HIV-Positive Adults' Meaning Making over Time	11
Lisa M. Baumgartner
The experiences of HIV-positive men and women in finding meaning in their lives—in personal and professional terms—is the focus of this chapter.
3. HIV Prevention Workers and Injection Drug Users: A Problem-Based Realm of Adult Education Practice	21
John P. Egan
This chapter examines how HIV prevention targeted to injection drug users often confounds traditional categorizations. Do we categorize fields of practice in terms of educators' areas of training or expertise, or in terms of how learners view services?
4. Bad Blood: The Tuskegee Syphilis Study and Legacy Recruitment for Experimental AIDS Vaccines	31
Kimberly Sessions Hagen
Adult education principles are improving the way volunteers are recruited for HIV vaccine clinical trials—especially in the African American community.
5. HIV/AIDS Community-Based Research	43
Terry Trussler, Rick Marchand
Community-based research in HIV/AIDS, informed significantly by adult education principles, brings the power of the research enterprise to the community.
6. Asserting a Positive Role: HIV-Positive People in Prevention	55
Brent Allan, William Leonard
HIV prevention shouldn't be about isolating HIV-negative and HIV-positive persons from one another. HIV-positive men and women have always played and continue to play a key role in stemming the epidemic.

7. Grassroots Response to HIV/AIDS in Nova Scotia	65
Donovan Plumb
When learning was examined beyond individually focused frameworks, a rich meshwork of knowledges emerged from the collective experience of Nova Scotians.
8. Poz-itively Transformational: Sex Workers and HIV/AIDS Education	75
Robert J. Hill
Transphobia, sexphobia, and homophobia often conspire to marginalize transgender sex workers. But workers themselves are effecting change through their own educational programs.
9. Marginalized, Not Marginal: Adult Education's Unique Contribution to the Fight Against HIV/AIDS	85
John P. Egan
With or without acceptance from the mainstream, adult educators from diverse communities assert their place in the fight against HIV/AIDS.
