

Contents

Preface	ix
A Note on Usage	xxii

PART I: THE BEHAVIORAL ATTACK

1. Who Could Design a Brain . . .	3
2. The Strange Paradox of Behavioral Finance: “Neoclassical Theory Is a Theory of Sharks”	19

PART II: THE THEORETICIANS

3. Paul A. Samuelson: The Worldly Philosopher	37
---	----

The Institutionalists

4. Robert C. Merton: “Risk Is Not an Add-On”	47
5. Andrew Lo: “The Only Part of Economics That Really Works”	58
6. Robert Shiller: The People’s Risk Manager	65

The Engineers

7. Bill Sharpe: “It’s Dangerous to Think of Risk as a Number”	91
---	----

8. Harry Markowitz: “You Have a Little World” 100
9. Myron Scholes: “Omega Has a Nice Ring to It” 110

PART III: THE PRACTITIONERS

10. Barclays Global Investors: “It Was an Evangelical Undertaking” 127
11. The Yale Endowment Fund: Uninstitutional Behavior 148
12. CAPM II: The Great Alpha Dream Machine: We Don’t See Expected Returns 165
13. Making Alpha Portable: “That’s Become the New Mantra” 179
14. Martin Leibowitz: CAPM in a New Suit of Clothes 196
15. Goldman Sachs Asset Management: “I Know the Invisible Hand Is Still There” 214

PART IV: CAPITAL IDEAS TOMORROW

16. Nothing Stands Still 237
- Notes* 247
- Bibliography* 252
- Acknowledgments* 261
- Index* 263