

INDEX

A

Accountability; board tools for, 60–61;
CGO vs. relevant board committee,
188–189; chain of, 5; facilitating board,
137–163; muddled policy design on, 81
Advisor leadership approach, 16
Advisory boards, 49
Agency theory, 15–16
Ahlstrand, B., 71
Alchian, A., 15
“Any reasonable interpretation”; monitoring, 86; policy delegation of, 8–9
Assistant leadership approach, 16
Authority; board acting as group, 54; delegating for accountability, 140–141; establishing limitations of, 7; means policies defining CEO, 120–121; ownership as source of board’s, 42; policies defining CGO, 118–120

B

Barker, J. A., 187
Better Together: Restoring the American Community (Feldstein), 58
Bike analogy, 3, 25, 27, 113–114
Board accountability; criteria for, 138–139; delegating for, 139–141;

importance of, 137–138; monitoring to ensure, 139, 141–157; tools available for, 158–163
Board accountability tools; assessment of monitoring report, 161–162; demonstrating being well informed, 159–160; demonstrating care, 160; demonstrating legal compliance, 158; demonstrating loyalty, 158–159; sample Executive Limitations monitoring report format, 161
Board committees, 170–171, 188–189
Board control; budgets, 72; financial reports, 73; new approaches to, 74–76;
through policy containers, 75–86;
strategic plans or business plans, 71–72; that starts from the top, 74–75;
traditional approaches to, 70–74 Board leadership; agency theory on watchdog approach to, 15–16; assistant paradigm of, 16; constituent’s advocate approach to, 16; governor approach to, 16; making shared meaning out of complexity, 187; reviewing current approach to, 14–16; stewardship theory on advisor approach to, 16
Board meeting agendas, 180–181,
201–203

Board members; cardstorming by, 112; creating picture of the future they envision, 111; gathering ends policy input from, 99; ideal qualities of, 169–170; job description of, 166–167, 190–192; Policy Governance questions and concerns of, 22–29; Policy Governance transition challenges for, 21, 167–168, 172–173; recruiting new, 171; sample invitation letter to prospective, 189–190; securing Policy Governance support from, 181–182; using specific talents of, 170, 188–189

Board officers, 170–171

Board-Management Delegation; as container for controlling board means, 79, 120–121; monitoring, 156–157; policy category of, 8; Policy Governance architecture position of, 88

Boards; annual planning by Policy Governance, 199–201; building owner relations, 55–61; CEO defense by, 50–51; characteristics of a great, 54–55; communication between CEOs and, 61–62, 186–187; container for controlling means of, 78–79, 114–121; creating benchmarks for evaluating, 12; evaluation of, 157; getting started with Policy Governance, 166–171; handling Policy Governance transition concerns brought to, 183–186; identifying owners of the, 4–5; moving to Policy Governance from traditional, 20; owner relations with, 55–61; as owners' representative, 50–52; public sector, 47; relations with other stakeholders, 61–62; securing Policy Governance support from, 181–182; self-appointing, 46; special circumstances and implications for, 195–197; See also Ownership

Boards That Make a Difference (Carver), 10, 29, 175

Brainstorming, 100

Budgets; annual governance plan for, 179; used as control mechanism, 72

Bullen, P., 83

Business plans, 71–72

The Buzan Organisation, 111

C

Cadbury, Sir A., 28

Campbell, K., 124

Cardstorming, 112

Carver, J., 2, 10, 21, 27, 29, 48, 78, 97, 98, 114, 143, 175, 176, 197

Carver, M., 78, 97, 114, 143, 175, 176

Carver model, overview of, 2–3

CEO evaluation; creating benchmarks for, 12; as monitoring process, 155–156

CEOs (chief executive officers); accountability roles of staff vs., 189; assessing current roles of, 26; assessing need for new, 173; being clear about governance/management roles of, 11; board defense of, 50–51; board delegation to, 139–141; board trust in, 73–74; communication between board and, 61–62, 186–187; container for controlling means of, 78, 121–135; facilitating freedom of, 11; governance role of, 9; job description of Policy Governance, 194–195; means policies defining roles/authority of, 120–121; monitoring Ends policies by, 146–153; monitoring Executive Limitations by, 153–155; monitoring management of, 48–49; Policy Governance transition concerns of, 185–186; Policy Governance transition role of, 171–173

CGOs (chief governance officers); accountability roles of board

- committee vs., 188–189; assessing current roles of, 26; board delegation to, 139–141; governance roles of, 9; means policies defining roles/authority of, 118–120; monitoring Governance Process and Board-Management Delegation, 156–157; Policy Governance transition role of, 168–169; reviewing monitoring reports, 143
- Clemmer, J., 71
- Cognition: The Thinking Animal* (Willingham), 187
- Communication; between CEOs and boards, 61–62, 186–187; Policy Governance impact on, 25; tools for owner relations building and, 58–61
- Compliance standard; dealing with compliance/noncompliance to, 144–145; establishing, 144
- Consensus agreement, 176
- Constituent's advocate approach, 16
- Corporate Boards That Create Value* (Carver and Oliver), 176
- Corporate Governance* (Monks and Minow), 137
- Customers, 47–48
- D
- Decision making; board capacity for wise, 54; for Policy Governance adoption, 30–31
- Delegating for accountability; authority for, 140–141; capacity for, 141; determining clarity when, 139–140
- Demsetz, H., 15
- Direct board report, 142–143
- Drucker, P., 72
- E
- Einstein, A., 22, 89
- Eisenhardt, K. M., 15
- Eliot, G., 22
- Embarking on Policy Governance. See Policy Governance transition
- Ends; assigning responsibility for, 6–7; definition of, 77; delegation of, 9; limiting authority to achieve, 7; Policy Governance architecture position of, 88; questions forming organization's, 6; See also Strategic Outcomes
- Ends control container, 77
- Ends policies; defining your destination, 90–95; examples of, 95; monitoring, 105, 146–153, 162; process of developing, 95–106; providing clear direction through, 91; reviewing, 106; tools for, 106–112
- Ends Policy Checklist, 104
- Ends policy development; drafting ends policies for, 100–104; gathering expert input from staff and board members, 99; gathering input from other boards, 99; gathering owner input for, 98–99; identifying primary information needs for, 97–98; importance of, 95–96; planning the, 96–97; scanning your environment as research for, 99–100; visioning and brainstorming for, 100
- Ends policy drafts; addressing ambitions beyond organization vision, 102–103; board agreement on, 104–105; challenges and tips on, 100–101; checklist for, 104; defining the length of your vision in, 101–102; ensuring ends are feasible in, 102; handling controversy over, 105; including your beliefs and philosophy, 103; keeping ends and means clear in, 103; knowing when to stop, 105

Ends policy monitoring; ECO interpretations must relate to whole policy, 147–148; example of, 149–153; interim benchmarks used for, 149; interpretations refining ends policies through, 146–147; key points for, 162; limitations of, 148

Ends policy tools; Ends policy of closely held private corporation, 110; Ends policy for community college, 109; Ends policy for community welfare agency, 106–107; Ends policy for a parks and recreation society, 107–108; Ends policy for public hospital, 109–110; Ends policy for regional library service, 108; visioning techniques, 110–112

Ends questions; 1: what difference do you want to make? 92; 2: whom do you want to affect? 92–94; 3: what level of cost-efficiency do you want to achieve? 94–95

Enron scandal, 16, 172

Environmental scanning; description of, 99–100; questions for, 100

Ethical issue, 129

Ethical test, 129

Executive Limitations; as container for controlling CEO's means, 78, 125–135; delegation of, 9; monitoring, 153–155, 161, 162–163; as policy category, 8; Policy Governance architecture position of, 88

Executive Limitations monitoring; example of, 153–155; key points for, 162–163; overview of, 153; sample report format, 161

Executive Limitations Report, 143

Expert help, 54

External report, 142

External requirements, 135

F

Felder, R. M., 34

Feldstein, L., 58

Financial reports, 73

Flexible management, 71

Funders, 48

Future owner interests, 52

Future Search, 112

Future Search Network, 112

G

Getting started. See Policy Governance transition

Global statement, 147

Governance; comparing Policy Governance to other approaches, 17–19; reviewing current board approach to, 14–16; terminology associated with, 17

Governance goals; questionnaires on board, 35; understanding your, 18–19

Governance Process; as container for controlling board means, 78, 116–120; monitoring, 156–157; as policy category, 8; Policy Governance architecture position of, 88

Governor leadership approach, 16

H

Hillson, D., 132

Horth, D. M., 187

Hough, A., 29

I

Independent report, 142

Internal reports, 142

International Policy Governance Association (IPGA), 23, 25

J

Jensen, M., 15

K

Kelly, H., 28

L

Lampel, J., 71

Leadership. See Board leadership

Learning styles, 34–35

Legal compliance, 158

Legal ownership, 44

Let Go to Grow: Escaping the Commodity

Trap (Sanford with Taylor), 113

The Life Science (Medawar and Medawar), 13

Loyalty, 138–139, 158–159

M

McGregor-Lowndes, M., 29

Management Alternatives Pty Ltd

(Australia), 83

Management Limitations, 78

Management (ownership), 48–49

Marx, G., 22

Mead, M., 1

Meaningful Monitoring (Moore), 143

Means; description of, 77; Ends policy drafts including clear, 103; policies for controlling the board's means, 114–121; policies for controlling CEO's, 121–135

Means control containers; Board-Management Delegation, 8, 79, 88, 120–121; for controlling board means, 78–79, 114–121; for controlling CEO's means, 78, 121–135; description of, 77–78, 114; Executive Limitations, 8, 9, 78, 88, 125–135; Governance Process, 8, 78, 88, 116–120

Means policies; CEO freedom through prohibition, 124–125; charging CEO with accomplishing Ends, 122–123;

crafting lower-level executive limitations, 130–133; dealing with external requirements, 135, 135; deciding what to prohibit at broadest level, 125–127; deciding what to prohibit at lower levels, 127–128; defining CEO roles and authority, 120–121; defining CGO's roles and authority, 118–120; on ethics and prudence, 129–130; steering, not rowing through, 133–135; telling CEO what he or she cannot do, 123

Meckling, W., 15

Medawar, J., 13

Medawar, P., 13

Media publicity, 111

Miller Thomson LLP, 28

Mind Maps, 111–112

Minority owners, 51

Minow, N., 137

Mintzberg, H., 71

Mogensen, S., 23

Monitoring; accountability tied to, 139; “any reasonable interpretation,” 86; board evaluation area of, 157; CEO evaluation area of, 155–156; of Ends policies, 105, 146–153, 162; of Executive Limitation policies, 153–155, 161, 162–163; fundamentals of, 141–146, 161–162; of Governance Process and Board-Management Delegation policies, 156–157; management of CEO, 48–49

Monitoring fundamentals; assessing monitoring report, 161–162; dealing with compliance and noncompliance, 144–145; direct board report option, 142–143; establishing compliance standard, 144; external report or independent report options, 142; format of, 143; how often should reports be reviewed, 143; internal reporting

Monitoring fundamentals; (Continued)
option, 142; making your monitoring process count, 146; timing of board reports, 141–142; who should do the reporting? 142

Monks, R., 137

Moore, J., 143

Moral ownership, 44

N

Non-owner interests, 45

O

Oliver, C., 10, 176

O'Neill, O., 69

Organizations; addressing current circumstances of your, 174–175; clarifying ownership of your, 45–46; creating media publicity for your, 111; creating story for your, 110–111; criteria for successful, 53; dealing with external requirements of, 135; loyalty to owners and, 138–139, 158–159; questions forming Ends of, 6; safe and ethical operation of, 53; scenario development for your, 111

OurBoardroom Technologies Inc., 117, 120, 126

Owner relations; description of, 55; importance of, 55–56

Owner relations building; asking intelligent questions for, 57–58; being truly representative for, 58; clarifying your purpose for, 56; creating a plan for, 56–57, 64–65; defining commitment to owners for, 56; designing your strategy for, 56; setting the context for, 57; tools for communicating and, 58–61

Owner relations tools; for being accountable to owners, 60–61; board's expectations of the owners, 65–66; choosing your, 58, 60; for evaluating ownership connection, 61; listed, 59; for responsible ownership engagement, 60

Owners; agency theory on, 15–16; board expectations of, 65–66; defining difference they want to make, 5–6; ends policy development input by, 98–99; ensuring the difference wanted by, 9; identifying legal and moral, 43–49; loyalty to, 138–139, 158–159; minority, 51; significance of board's, 4–5; understanding needs and wants of, 52–55

Owners' interests; board allegiance and focus on, 54; chain of accountability connected to, 5; a great board, 54–55; in safe and ethical operation, 53; in success, 53

Owners' representatives; being the, 50; as minority owners, 51; as potential future owners, 51; protecting owners from themselves, 50–51; weighing different owners' interests, 51

Ownership; clarifying your organization's, 45–46; closely held boards and, 46–47; customers and, 47–48; funders and, 48; management, staff, and, 48–49; meaning of, 4; practical application of, 62; public sector boards and, 47; rights and responsibilities of, 42–43; self-appointing boards and, 46; as source of board's authority, 42; See also Boards

Ownership tools; board's commitment to its ownership, 63–64; board's expectations of the owners, 65–66; sample owner relations plan, 64–65; suggested table of contents for owner's guide, 66–67

P

Palus, C. J., 187

Policy; agreeing on board, 176–178; “any reasonable interpretation” delegation

- of, 8–9; board vote to adopt, 182; categories of, 8; definition of, 7, 69–70; Ends, 90–112; ground rules for development of, 178; maintaining your, 86–87; means, 113–136; policy control vs., 183; writing comprehensive yet concise, 7–9
- Policy containers; board control through, 75–76; designing policies within, 79–86; Ends, 77; means, 77–79
- Policy control; ensuring that you have, 8; having policies vs. having, 183; through policy ranges, 82–83; sequencing policy ranges for, 83–84
- Policy design; control through policy ranges, 82–83; haphazard control of, 81; ineffective use of time in, 80; monitoring “any reasonable interpretation,” 86; muddled accountability in, 81; pitfalls of traditional, 79–80; within policy containers, 79; powerful, 81–82; sequencing policy ranges, 83–84; stopping at appropriate time, 84–86
- Policy Governance; answering questions and concerns about, 22–29; architecture of, 88; assessing rewards and costs of changing to, 19–22; bike analogy of, 3, 25, 27, 113–114; chain of accountability provided by, 5; comparison with other governance approaches, 17–19; frequently asked questions about, 23–29; making the decision to use, 30–31; overview of, 1, 2–3, 41–42; registered service mark and rights to, 26–27; reviewing what your board has learned about, 29–30; theory driving, 3–5; See also Policy Governance transition
- Policy Governance components; assigning responsibility for making difference, 6–7; compiling concise written policy, 7–8; defining difference your owners want to make, 5–6; delegating within “any reasonable interpretation,” 8–9; ensuring difference your owners want, 9; limiting authority, 7
- The Policy Governance Fieldbook* (Oliver and others), 10
- Policy Governance Filter, 204
- Policy Governance planning/implementation; agreeing on board policies, 176–178; annual board, 199–201; continual practicing to perfect, 187; defining agreement (consensus), 176; handling concerns brought to the board, 183–186; handling everyday board-CEO communications, 186–187; making any necessary compromises, 182–183; securing your future through, 178–182; transition time frame, 175–176; voting to adopt your policies, 182
- Policy Governance system; adaptation of, 27; available research on, 28–29; benefits of using, 9–12; components of, 5–9; flexibility of, 27; functions of, 3; as model, 2; risk associated with, 27–28; transition to, 20, 165–204
- Policy Governance system benefits; becoming a real leadership team, 10; being clear about who does what, 11; being seen to be great, 12; getting there faster, 11; getting where you want to go, 10–11; having needed control and freedom, 11; overview of, 9–10
- Policy Governance tools; cost of staying without Policy Governance, 37–38; decision-making process for, 32–33; discussion of Policy Governance, 39–40; getting concerns on the table,

Policy Governance tools (continued)
38–39; learning styles and pathways, 34–35; questionnaire on governance assumptions, 33; time/money costs in introducing, 36; what you want to achieve as a board, 35

Policy Governance transition; addressing organization's current circumstances,
174–175; board meeting agendas for, 180–181, 201–203; getting your people going, 166–173; moving from traditional practice to, 20; planning and implementing Policy Governance, 175–187, 197–199; tools for embarking on, 188–204; See also Policy
Governance

Policy Governance transition tools;
annual planning for board, 199–201;
board member job description,
190–192; using board members' individual talents, 188–189;
Policy Governance Filter, 204;
risks/mitigating strategies for Policy
Governance application, 192–193;
sample CEO job description, 194–195;
sample implementation plan, 197–199;
sample invitation letter to prospective board member, 189–190; special circumstances and implications for boards, 195–197

Policy reviews, 179–180

Principals-agents gap; agency theory on,
15–16; stewardship theory on, 16

Proceedings (Fifth International Conference on Engaging Communities), 58, 60

Prudence issue, 129–130

Prudential test, 129

Public concerns, 184–185

Public sector boards, 47

Putnam, P., 58

Q

Questionnaires; on current governance assumptions, 33; learning style, 34; on what you want to achieve as a board, 35

R

*Reinventing Your Board: A Step-by-Step Guide to Implementing Policy
Governance* (Carver and Carver), 114,
143, 175, 176

Reviewing Ends policy, 106

Risk Management Framework, 78

Ryan, C., 29

S

Sanford, L., 113

Sarbanes-Oxley Act, 16

Scenario development, 111

Schwarcz, S. L., 172

Self-appointing boards, 46

Soloman, B. A., 34

Spencer, L. J., 165

Staff; accountability roles of CEO vs., 189; definition of, 42; gathering ends policy input from, 99; ownership, management, and, 48–49; Policy Governance transition role of, 171–172

Stakeholders; board relations with other,
61–62; gathering ends policy input from, 99

Stewardship theory, 16

Strategic Outcomes, 77; See also Ends

Strategic plans, 71–72

Success criteria, 53

Surowiecki, J., 58

Szent-Gyorgi, A., 41

T

Taylor, D., 113

Tooley, R., 117, 120, 126

U

United Nations, 82

V

Vision; End policy defining length of board, 101–102; End policy moving beyond organization, 102–103
Visioning techniques, 100, 110–112

W

Watchdog leadership approach, 15–16
Websites; Future Search Network, 112; OurBoardroom Technologies Inc., 117, 120, 126
Willingham, D. T., 187
Winning Through Participation (Spencer), 165
The Wisdom of Crowds (Surowiecki), 58

