

Index

A

Abu Ghraib Prison, 53
Accountability: creating culture of, 51;
finger-pointing blame instead of,
125–129, 134
Acculturating changes, 51
Afghanistan War: example of authentic leader during, 64–65; Pat Tillman's leadership during, 47
African American Tuskegee Airmen
(World War II), 34
Allbaugh, J., 56
Allouche, A., 246
ALT (authentic leadership theory): defining, 64, 65–66; example of, 64–65
American Women's Everest Expedition,
86
Amore, C., 6, 207
Andacs, L., 246
Andrew, Prince, 46–47, 60
Anger: blame/finger-pointing manifestation of, 125–129, 134; defeatism attitude following, 129–130, 134
Army Recruiting Command's Golden
Nights, 181
Army's School of Advanced Military
Studies, 34
Association of Graduates (USMA), 247
"Authentic Leaders Are Not Above
Joining in the Fray," 64–65
Avolio, B., 246

B

Baath Party (Iraq), 52–53, 54
Bahamonde, M., 57
Bahnsen, J. "Doc," 212–213
BankBoston, 120
Banks, B., 246

C

Barefoot, B., 246
BASE jumping, 92
Bass, B., 8
Battle for LZ X-Ray (Vietnam War), 106–107
Be•Know•Do: Leadership the Army Way
(Hesselbein and Shinseki), 70
"Be, Know, Do" framework (U.S. Army), 70–71, 94, 189, 200
Beck, B., 107
Black and Gold Leadership Forum, 52
Blame/finger-pointing, 125–129, 134
Blanco, K., 126
Blickhahn, A., 95, 210
Booth, E., 246
"The Borinqueneers," 34–35
Bovender, J. D., 44, 45, 155
Bradley, T., 207
Braeger, D., 207
Bravo Company, 112th Signal Battalion,
82nd Airborne Division, 82–83
Brazil, D., 99, 215
Breathing relaxation technique, 122,
133
Brown, M., 56–59, 61, 126
Brunner, A., 247
BTO (brigade tactical officer) [West Point], 170
Buchanan, T., 211–212
Burns, J. M., 8
Bush, G. W., 56, 58, 71, 72, 125
Cabrera, C., 150
Cadet leader selection, 169–172
Campbell, D. (David), 246
Campbell, D. (Don), 246
Cantor Fitzgerald, 145, 153

- Cantor Relief Fund, 153
 Carter, B., 215
 Carter, S., 18, 215
 Casciato, C., 246
 Casper, 213–214
 Casualty Affairs Office (Pentagon), 145
 Cavazos, D., 34–36, 59, 208
 Center of Ethical Leadership (COLE Center) [Duke University], 44
 Champions of Character program (NAIA), 196–197
 Character: extreme threat as revealing, 42–45; in extremis leader's, 70–72; lifestyle as revealing values and, 33–41
 Church, J., 138
 Citigroup Global Wealth Management, 205
 "Cohesion and Disintegration in the American Army" (Savage and Gabriel), 55
 Combat Leader Environment (simulation), 84
 Common Ground (New York City), 28–30
 Common lifestyle: leader and follower's, 7–10; teaching future leaders to have, 90–91; team lessons on, 164
 Competence: as critical in high-risk environments, 10–13; developing trust and loyalty along with, 41, 59–60; development of future leaders, 75–79
 Confidence building, 75
 Controlling emotions strategy, 117–118
 Coping: with anger, 125–130, 134; with fear, 109–116, 121–125, 132; with loss, 135–160
 Corderman, D., 213
 "Corporal Creamer," 40–41, 59
 Corps of Cadets, 169–172
 Crandall, D., 246
 Credibility: establishing crisis-quality, 53–54; sharing risk as strengthening, 30–33, 59
 Cultural awareness: importance for all leaders, 33; Iraqi incident exemplifying, 31–33
 Culture: of accountability, 51; of passion and devotion, 90; The Ranch skydiving, 211–212
- D
- D-Day landing (1944), 65–66
 Dangerous settings. See In extremis situations
- Death event: demonstrating respect in case of, 139; Gander disaster (1985), 144–148, 153, 154–155, 157; information required in case of, 140–142; recognition/rituals as part of moving on, 149–154; taking the lead by staying humble, 143–148; U.S. Army's Warrior Ethos on, 142–143. See also Tragedy
 Death rituals: acceptance of the death, 151–153; establishing for your organization, 159–160; last roll call, 151–152; lessons for leaders, 153–154; recognition of the deceased, 151; representation of the bodies of the deceased, 150–151
 Dees, B., 138–139, 208
 Defeatism, 129–130, 134, 129–130
 Densmore, M., 214, 246
 Department of Behavioral Sciences and Leadership (USMA), 245–246
 Disaster prevention measures, 50–51
 Diversifying solutions, 51
 "Don't Fire Up the Troops in Dangerous Situations," 80–82
 Doughty, L., 246
Dropzone (film), 76
 Dunn, P., 26
- E
- Eadie, C., 163
 EDS, 97
 Ego: leading without, 118–119, 133; Malden Mills example of leading without, 119–121
 Eighty-Second Airborne Division, 95
 Emotions: over child in dangerous situation, 109–116, 132; controlling emotions as bad strategy, 117–118; defeatism attitude as negative, 129–130, 134; final thoughts on handling, 130–134; how leaders should handle/overcome fear, 121–125; leading to blame/finger-pointing, 125–129, 134; relaxation techniques to handle, 122, 133; why in extremis settings flatten, 116–117
 "England's Prince Andrew Fought in the Falklands," 46–47
 Expanding responsible practices, 51
- F
- "Facing Every Parent's Worst Fear and Anxiety: Watching Your Child Deal with a Potentially Dangerous Situation," 109–116

- “Facing a Threat with Strong Leadership: Why One New Orleans Hospital Evacuated Safely During Hurricane Katrina,” 43–45
 “Facing a Threat Without Strong Leadership: Why Iraqi Soldiers Routinely Surrendered,” 42–43
 Falklands War, 46–47, 60
 Fallen comrades, 142–143
 False pride, 75
Fatwah (religious decree), 31–32
 Fear: over child in dangerous situation, 109–116, 132; how leaders should handle/overcome, 121–125
 Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), 190, 191
 FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Agency), 56–58, 61
 Feuerstein, A., 120–121, 133
 Finger-pointing, 125–129, 134
 Fiorina, C., 26, 119
 First Marine Division, 39–40
 Flattened emotions, 116–117
 Followers: common lifestyle of leaders with, 7–10, 90–91; leader’s lifestyle as revealing values to, 33–41; mutual loyalty between leaders and, 17–18; mutual trust between leaders and, 13–16
 Ford, B., 47–48, 60
 “Ford CEO Bill Ford Stepped Aside for a Stronger Company Leader,” 47–48
 “Fraggings,” 55
 Franks, F., 246
 Free-fall skydiving formation (Thailand, 2006), 33
 French, D., 246
 Future leaders: developing competence of, 75–79; developing sense of shared risk, 85–90; learning orientation of, 84–85; shortcomings of traditional approach to training, 92–94; summary on how to develop organizational, 102–104; teaching them to accept inherent motivation, 80–83; teaching to have common lifestyle with followers, 90–91; training with physically challenging activities, 91–92; unique value of teams to developing, 162–163. See also In extremis leaders; In extremis leadership model
- G
- Gabriel, H. “Gabe,” 165
 Gabriel, R., 55
 Gagliano, J., 5, 9, 14, 216
 Galloway, J., 106, 130
 Gander disaster (1985), 144–148, 153, 154–155, 157
 Gaylord, B., 245
 GE (General Electric), 98
 General Electric, 68
 Germain, B., 121, 246
 Giuliani, R., 156
 “Giving In to Frustration Doesn’t Solve the Problem at Hand,” 127–129
 Goldman Sachs, 129
 Gray, G., 65, 67
 Greg, 213
- H
- Hagenback, F. “Buster,” 209
 Halterman, J., 211
 Hannah, S., 211, 246
 Harris, B.M. “Mac,” 70
 Hauserman, K., 246
 “HCA Everybody List,” 45
 Heinsheimer, E., 181, 183, 208
 “Helping the Homeless” story, 28–30
 Hesselbein, F., 70, 245
 Hewlett Packard: Fiorina’s severance package from, 119; investigation into, 26
 High-risk training: developing future leaders’ competence, 75–79; developing sense of shared risk, 85–90; exploring motivations for, 91; learning orientation of future leaders during, 84–85; physically challenging activities as part of, 91–92; teaching future leaders to accept inherent motivation, 80–83. See also In extremis situations
 Hillegass, K., 182–183, 214
 HMS Invincible, 46
 Honore, R., 156
 Hooker, C., 84, 246
Hope Is Not a Method (Sullivan), 89
 Hospital Corporation of America (HCA), 43–45, 155
 Hospitals: learning from loss-of-life mistake, 49–51; Tulane Hospital evacuation, 43–45
 House Energy and Commerce Committee, 26
 “How Another Teacher of Leadership Used His Deployment to Iraq to Teach in Real Time,” 99–100
 “How a Hospital Learned from Its Loss-of-Life Mistake,” 49–51
 “How Insurance Underwriters Help Prevent Financial Disasters in Their Clients’ Lives,” 49

- "How the Iraq Army Proved That Coercion Is Not an Effective Leadership Strategy," 52–53
- "How Mountain Climbers Evaluate Risk and Apply That Skill to Other Life Contexts," 86–87
- "How a Near-Death Experience Taught a Valuable Leadership Lesson," 167–168
- "How One Company Connects Its Leaders in a Worldwide Discussion," 97
- "How One Leader Handled Tragedy by Focusing on the Family and the Fallen, Not the Funeral," 144–148
- "How One Leader Valued the Needs of His Employees More Than Company Profits," 119–121
- "How One Soldier Inspired Future Soldiers by Vividly Describing His First Wartime Assignment," 95
- "How One Teacher of Leadership Used Her Experiences in Afghanistan to Illustrate Organizational Change," 99
- "How Staying Calm and Relaxed Can Help You Survive a Life-Threatening Situation," 123–124
- "How the U.S. Army Improves Leaders by Peer-to-Peer Mentoring," 98
- "How the USMA Connects Cadets with Soldiers," 96
- Howington, A., 246
- Hughes, C., 31–32, 59
- Human life value, 69–70
- Hurd, M., 26
- Hurricane Andrew, 127
- Hurricane Katrina: failure of FEMA leadership following, 56–58, 61; finger-pointing blame after, 125–126; leadership of General Honore after, 156; Tulane Hospital evacuation during, 43–45, 60, 155
- Hussein, S., 37, 38

I

IBM, 98

Identifying weaknesses, 50

In extremis leader development:
 continuing importance of, 204–206;
 contributors to concept of, 206–216;
 developing sense of shared risk in future leaders, 85–90; of future leaders' competence, 75–79; implications of in extremis leadership for, 72–73; issues to consider during, 73–75; of learning orientation in future leaders, 84–85; summary of, 103–104; teaching future leaders to accept inherent motivation, 80–83; techniques for inspirational approach to, 94–102.

See also Leadership; Leadership development

- In extremis leaders: attributes of trusted combat, 16; character of, 70–72;
 common lifestyles led by, 33–41; coping with anger, 125–130, 134; coping with fear, 109–116, 121–125, 132; coping with loss, 135–160; key characteristics of, 1; lessons for business to learn from, 25–61; moving from transactional to transformational leadership, 23–25. See also Future leaders; Teams
- In extremis leadership competencies:
 common lifestyle shared with followers, 7–10; competence in high-risk environments, 10–13; considering your own, 19–20; continuous learning, 4–5; inherent motivation, 3–4; mutual loyalty between leaders and team, 17–18; mutual trust between leaders and followers, 13–17; ranking in, 1–2; sharing risk with their followers, 5–7; summing up on, 20–21
- In extremis leadership lessons: 1: motivation is most powerful when paired with learning, 27–30, 59; 2: sharing risk strengthens credibility and improves leader's effectiveness, 30–33, 59; 3: your lifestyle reveals what you value, 33–41, 59; 4: developing competence, trust, and loyalty, 41, 59–60; 5: extreme threat reveals true character, 42–45, 60; 6:
 your résumé and pedigree are irrelevant, 46–48, 60; 7: using life-altering quality or actions to inspire, 48–51, 61; 8: leadership effectiveness may be contextual, 52–55, 61; 9: the best leaders want to be leaders with passion, 55–58, 61
- In extremis leadership model: on key elements of leadership, 72–73; on giving purpose, motivation, and direction to others, 70–72; team building role in, 172–201; using theory for in extremis leader development, 73–91;
 values based, 66–69. See also Future leaders
- In extremis situations: caution against controlling emotions during, 117–118;
 considering how to handle emotion
 during, 130–134; emotions flattened

- by in extremis settings, 116–117; emotions inherent in, 105–106; final thoughts on handling emotions during, 130–134; how to handle and overcome fear in, 121–125; leading without ego in, 118–121; perils of blame in finger-pointing in, 125– 129; perils of defeatism in, 129–130;
plumbing depths of fear in, 106–116;
staying calm in life-threatening, 123–
124. See also High-risk training
- Inherent motivation: definitions of, 3–4;
exploring at-risk, 91; as in extremis leader characteristics, 70–72; pairing learning with, 27–30, 59; teaching future leaders to accept, 80–83; team lessons on, 164
- Inspirational leader-development approach, 94–102
- Inspiring others, 48–52, 61
- Insurance underwriting regulation, 49
- Intrinsic motivation, 3–4
- Iraq War: academic updating of combat operations through, 101; “Corporal Creamer,” 40–41, 59; inspirational story on first wartime assignment, 95;
Iraq Army use of coercion leadership, 52–55; securing fatwah (religious decree) during, 31–32
- Iraqi prisoners: interviews with, 216;
why they surrendered, 42–43
- J
- Jacobs, J., 208–209
- James, W., 122
- Jefferies, J., 215
- Journal of Abnormal Psychology*, 127
- Journal of Management Studies*, 4
- K
- Kanis, R. “Becky,” 28–30, 82–83, 87–89, 104, 214, 246
- Kawamoto, D., 26
- Kennedy, J. F., 84
- Kerry, J., 71, 72
- Keyworth, G., 26
- Kingston, S., 246
- Knight, B., 180
- Kolditz, D., 247
- Kolditz, J., 247
- Kolditz, K. (Kay), 137, 247
- Kolditz, K. (Kerry), 109–116, 132, 247
- Kolditz, L., 247
- Kolditz, T., 247
- Korpal, G., 145–146, 147–148
- Korpal, L., 145–146, 147
- Kozlowski, D., 119
- KSAs (knowledge, skills, and abilities):
described, 37; shortcoming of leadership development based on, 37, 93–94
- Krzyzewski, M., 180
- L
- LaCascia, C., 246
- Lanfor, M., 112
- Language sharing, 85
- Last roll call ritual, 151–152
- Layden, T., 47
- Leader developers (USMA sport parachute team), 183–184
- Leader to Leader Institute, 70, 245, 247
- Leadership: importance of cultural awareness for all, 33; lessons to learn from in extremis leaders on, 25–61;
moving from transactional to transformational, 23–25; passionate, 55–58;
values-based, 66–69; without ego, 118–121. See also In extremis leader
development
- Leadership in Combat course (USMA), 100–101
- Leadership development: applying the in extremis concept to, 203–204; inspirational approach to, 94–102; shortcomings of conventional, 92–94. See also In extremis leader development
- Leading Organizations Through Change course (USMA), 99–100
- “Leading Successfully in Hostile Territory: Cultural Awareness Saves the Day,” 31–32
- Learning: continuous, 4–5; motivation is most powerful when paired with, 27–30, 59; orientation to, 84–85, 164
- “Learning the Lesson That Bad Things Happen,” 137–139
- “Learning a New Approach to Helping the Homeless,” 28–30
- Learning orientation, 84–85
- Levine, A., 86–87, 129, 130, 207–208
- Lifestyle: leader and follower’s common, 7–10; as revealing values and character, 33–41; teaching future leaders to have common, 90–91; team lessons on common, 164
- Lockheed Martin, 84
- Loss: demonstrating respect when facing death and, 139; Gander disaster (1985), 144–148, 153, 154–155, 157; handling the death event, 140–154;
how to lead your organization in

- times of, 158–160; learning that bad things happen, 137–139; as part of life, 135–137; September 11, 2001, 84, 135, 145, 153, 156; value of leadership in times of tragedy and, 154–158. See also Tragedy
- Loyalty: between leaders and team, 17–18; development of competence, trust, and, 41, 59–60
- Lutnick, H., 145
- Lutz, B., 210–211
- Lyle, C., 14, 18, 208
- M
- McCain, J., 215
- Malden Mills, 119–121, 133
- “Managing Risk By Not Being Afraid to Tell the Truth Because the Truth Saves Lives,” 87–89
- Medicare, 50
- Melancon, C., 56–57
- Michaelis, P., 99–100, 215
- Military Freefall School (Arizona), 216
- Millen, R., 210
- Mills, R., 247
- Moore, C., 209
- Mortality salience, 71
- Motivation. See Inherent motivation
- Mountain climbing risk, 86–87
- MRE (meal, ready to eat) ration, 39–40
- N
- Nadal, T., 213
- Nagin, R., 126, 156
- National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), 196–197
- National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA), 136
- O
- Officer in charge (OIC) [USMA parachute team], 185–186
- Officer representatives (ORs) [USMA parachute team]: overview of, 184–185, 186–188; relationship with assigned coaching staff, 188–194
- Olson, E., 64–65, 103, 209
- Olson, L., 247
- 101st Airborne Division, 145–148
- O’Neil, D., 246
- Open Exchange: Beyond the Boardroom* (TV series), 91
- Organizations: death event information required by, 140–142; developing future leaders for you, 102–104; establishing death rituals for you, 159–160; how in extremis leadership applies to you, 58; how to lead in times of tragedy, 158–160; planning for tragedy, 160
- Orientation to learning: of future leaders, 84–85; team lessons on, 164
- Outward Bound, 92
- P
- Parachute teams. See Skydiving stories; USMA sport parachute team
- Passionate leadership, 55–58
- Pathways to Housing, 83
- Peer-to-peer mentoring, 98
- Perez, E., 210
- Performance coaches, 180–181
- Perkins, T., 26
- Petraeus, D., 208, 215
- Pfeifer, J. W., 212
- Physically challenging training, 91–92
- Plumley, B., 131
- Potter, T., 210, 246
- Prince, H., 212, 246
- “Prove Your Commitment to a Team:” 192–194
- “Proving What Matters: Declining a Promotion to Stay with the Unit,” 34–36
- PTSD (posttraumatic stress disorder), 127
- R
- The Ranch, 211–212
- Reagan, R., 84, 155
- Relaxation techniques, 122, 133
- Respect: death and demonstration of, 139; U.S. Army death rituals showing, 149–154
- Risk. See Shared risk
- Risk management: dissecting, 85–86; examples of, 86–89; importance for leaders, 89–90. See also Shared risk
- Roberts, N., 211
- Rokeach, M., 66
- Ruth, B., 194
- Ruth, S., 192–194, 211
- S
- Santelices, C., 9, 207
- Savage, P., 55
- Scales, R., 213
- Scapparotti, C. “Mike,” 214
- Schoomaker, E., 209
- Schoomaker, P., 125, 142, 209
- Schwarzkopf, H. N., 212
- Second Battalion, 327th Infantry, 31–32

- Securities and Exchange Commission, 26
 Self, N., 211
 Selflessness, 85
 September 11, 2001, 84, 135, 145, 153, 156
 Shared language, 85
 Shared risk: developing sense of, 85–90;
 in extremism leadership competency in environment of, 10–13; leader effectiveness strengthened by, 5–7, 30– 33, 59; team lessons on, 164. See also Risk management; Threatening situations
 Shinseki, E. K., 70, 213, 246
 Sistani, Ayatollah Ali, 32
 Sixty-Fifth Infantry, 34–36
 Skydiving: BASE jumping, 92; flattened emotions experienced during, 116–
 117; free-fall skydiving formation (Thailand, 2006), 33; model performance coach, 181; model team captain, 182–183; The Ranch skydiving culture, 211–212; staying relaxed in life-threatening situation, 123–124; “Surf’s Up!” T-shirt, 136; tandem parachuting training, 76–79; watching your child attempt, 109–116, 132.
See also Storytelling; USMA sport
 parachute team
 Smith (first sergeant), 128–129
 Snider, D., 246
 Snipes, W., 76
 Spain, E., 214–215, 246
 Staff Judge Advocate, 246
 Steel Battalion: death rituals ob-served by, 149–154; loss suffered by, 138–139
 Storytelling: on authentic leader during Afghanistan War, 64–65; example of,
 95; on Gander disaster (1985), 144– 148, 153, 154–155, 157; inspiring through use of, 94, 96; from Iraq War experiences, 31–32, 40–41, 59, 95;
 U.S. Army death rituals, 150–160; on Vietnam War experiences, 55,
 106–107, 131. See also Skydiving
 Stouffer, S., 71
 Street-to-Home Initiative (Common Ground), 29–30
 Suicide bombers, 67
 Sullivan, G., 89
 Swain, R., 246
 Sweeney, P., 15, 16, 209, 246
- T
- “Taking Care of a Team at the Most Basic Level: Going Hungry So Others
 Can Eat,” 37–41
- Tandem parachuting training, 76–79
 “Teaching How to Handle Danger by Simulating a Worst-Case Scenario,” 76–79
 Team captains, 182–183
 Teams: diversity issue and building, 177;
 in extremism leadership learning on,
 164–165; final thoughts of building developmental, 197–201; how to compose a high-performing, 172–179; institutional resistance to development of, 195–197; leader developers for high-performing, 179–194; unique value to developing future leaders, 162–163; West Point Corps of Cadets leadership of, 169–172. See also In extremism leaders
 Technological connections: examples of, 96, 97–98; inspiring by linking through, 96–97
 Threatening situations: Hurricane Katrina hospital evacuation, 43–45, 60;
 Iraqi soldiers’ surrender, 42–43. See also Shared risk
 Tillman, P., 47, 60
 Tisch, J., 103
 Tragedy: Gander disaster (1985), 144– 148, 153, 154–155, 157; how to lead your organization during, 158–160;
 planning for organizational, 160; September 11, 2001, 84, 135, 145, 153, 156; value of good leadership in times of, 154–158. See also Death
 event; Loss
 Trainor, J., 246
 Transactional leadership, 23–25
 Transformational leadership, 23–25
 Trust: between leaders and followers, 13–16; development of competence, loyalty, and, 41, 59–60; during high-risk situations, 13–16
 Tsemberis, S., 83
 Tulane Hospital evacuation, 43–45, 60, 155
Twenty Ways to Track a Tiger (Amore), 6
 Twenty-Fifth Infantry Division (Light), 64
 Tyco, 119
- U
- Ujaia* (yoga breathing), 122
 Ulmer, W., 246
 United Network for Organ Sharing, 50
 U.S. Army: “Be, Know, Do” framework of, 70–71, 94, 189, 200; death rituals of, 149–153; Gander disaster (1985)

- suffered by, 144–148, 153, 154–155, 157; peer-to-peer mentoring using by, 98; values card of, 68; Warrior Ethos of, 142–143
- “U.S. Football Star Pat Tillman Fought—and Died—in Afghanistan,” 47
- U.S. Marine interviews, 216
- U.S. Military Academy (USMA): Association of Graduates of the, 247; cadet leader selection at, 169–172; Citigroup Global Wealth Management meeting at, 205; corporate team building at, 92; Department of Behavioral Sciences and Leadership at, 245–246; Leadership in Combat course at, 100–101; Leading Organizations Through Change course at, 99–100; mission statement of, 94; survey on athletics taken by, 1–2; videoconferences connecting cadets with soldiers at, 96
- U.S. soldier interviews, 216
- USMA sport parachute team: acknowledgments to members of the, 216; as case study on leadership development, 161; individual member achievements, 162–163; as lab for in extremis leadership, 165–169; leadership competencies according to members of, 1–2; near-death experience lessons, 167–168; night parachute jumps as developmental activity of, 87; selection of members, 172–179. See also Skydiving stories
- USMA sport parachute team leaders: importance of, 179–180; leader developers, 183–184; officer representatives (ORs), 184–185, 186–188; performance coaches, 180–181; relationship of ORs to assigned coaching staff, 188–194; selection of officer in charge (OIC), 185–186; team captains, 182–183
- USMA sport parachute team selection: application process, 173–174; assessing cadets’ physical condition/preparedness, 175–176; assessing potential team members, 174–175; choosing members of the team, 178–179; interview process, 178; narrowing field of candidates, 176–177; winter evaluation for, 172–173
- USPA safety regulations, 190
- USS Cole bombing, 32
- “Utah Steve,” 76–79, 103, 118, 214

V

- Values: in extremis leadership model based on, 66–69; lifestyle as revealing lifestyle and, 33–41; selflessness, 85; U.S. Military Academy (USMA) mission statement on, 94
- Values-based leadership, 66–69
- Vernberg, E., 127
- Videoconferencing connections, 96
- Vietnam War: Battle for LZ X-Ray during, 106–107; “fraggings” during, 55; story on handling emotions during, 131
- Villanueva, F., 137–139

W

- Wall Street Journal*, 45
- Warrior Ethos (U.S. Army), 142–143
- The Warriors* (Gray), 65–66, 67
- Wasserman, J.-A., 247
- We Were Soldiers* (film), 213
- We Were Soldiers Once, and Young* (Galloway), 106, 107, 130
- Webb, S. (“Utah Steve”), 76–79, 103, 118, 214
- Weick, K., 4–5
- West, J., 123–124, 125, 133
- West Point. See U.S. Military Academy (USMA)
- “Why Two Instructors Went to War to Learn More About Combat Cohesion and Leadership,” 101
- Wierczynski, F., 211
- Wiley, J., 247
- Williams, J., 163
- Wong, A., 247
- Wong, L., 210, 246
- World Business Forum, 96
- Worth, B. J., 33
- Wright, G., 12, 212

Z

- Zilinski, D., 210