

Contents

Editors' Acknowledgments	vii
List of Figures	viii
Notes on Contributors	ix
Foreword	xii
Warren Ellis
The Art and Philosophy of Comics: An Introduction	xiv
Aaron Meskin and Roy T. Cook
Part One: The Nature and Kinds of Comics	1
1 Redefining Comics	3
John Holbo
2 The Ontology of Comics	31
Aaron Meskin
3 Comics and Collective Authorship	47
Christy Mag Uidhir
4 Comics and Genre	68
Catharine Abell
Part Two: Comics and Representation	85
5 Wordy Pictures: Theorizing the Relationship between Image and Text in Comics	87
Thomas E. Wartenberg

6	What's So Funny? Comic Content in Depiction Patrick Maynard	105
7	The Language of Comics Darren Hudson Hick	125
Part Three: Comics and the Other Arts		145
8	Making Comics into Film Henry John Pratt	147
9	Why Comics Are Not Films: Metacomics and Medium-Specific Conventions Roy T. Cook	165
10	Proust's In Search of Lost Time : The Comics Version David Carrier	188
	Index	203