

Index

A

- Abby (student): on assessment as comparison, 10, 174; on confidence based on respect for audience, 143–146; on disconnection related to audience's expectations, 138–141, 142–143; school culture mentioned by, 164; on truth, 123
- Adolescent girls: culture as silencing, 93–94; dissociation experienced by, 60; "I mean" phrase used by, 97, 102n3; knowledge shaped by relationships of, 27, 148
- Aggressiveness, student's explanation for, 53–56
- Alice (student), on value of self-assessment, 7
- Andrea (student), in classroom community meeting, 161
- Assessment: authentic, 11, 15n4; as comparison, 10, 174. See also Self-assessment
- Audience, 135–150; confidence based on respect for, 143–146; considerations in relationship with, 146–147; importance of understanding, 135–136; knowledge sharing dependent upon, 90–94, 135, 136–137; reflecting on, 146–149; and resisting disconnection, 136–138; struggle with disconnection related to expectations of, 138–143

- Authentic assessment, 11, 15n4
- Authority, teachers' acquisition of, 32

B

- Becky (student): on self-confidence and teachers' expectations, 174; on telling the truth, 130–132, 133, 134
- Belenky, M. F., 30
- Berger, R., 162
- Boys: knowledge shaped by early childhood relationships of, 26–27; misbehavior by, and classroom relationships, 61, 149; relational link to school disengagement by, xiii-xiv
- Broadfoot, P., 34
- Brown, L. M., 136
- Buber, M., 5

C

- Care: as basis of relationship between teacher and student, 24–25; teachers having "enough," 52
- Carini, P. F., 155
- Children: helping, locate their voice, 153–154; learning to listen to voices of, 154–159; misbehavior by, and classroom relationships, 61. See also Adolescent girls; Boys; Girls
- Chu, J., 26
- Clinchy, B. M., 30
- Collaborative Assessment Conference technique, 155–156

- Collaborative inquiry, by teachers and students, 33
- Communication: effect of teacher's perceptions on, 84–90; as fundamental for knowledge building, 25; mutual, between parents and infants, 26; privacy of teacher-student, 44–45; to reflect on learning process, 162–163
- Community meeting, in classroom, 161–162
- Competition, in classroom, 152, 169n3
- Confidence: based on respect for audience, 143–146; as link between trust and knowledge, 94–100, 101, 146
- Connectedness, of teachers, 30–31, 38n51
- Connection: as necessary for student's learning, 57–59; and relationship with audience, 146–149. See also Disconnection
- Context: and I, Thou, and It triangle, 163–164; relationships as, for construction of relational learner, 21–23. See also Relational context
- Conversation. See Communication
- Cuffaro, H. K., 22
- Culture: school, and relational learning paradigm, 163–166; silencing adolescent girls, 93–94; of standardization, 166–169
- Curriculum: collaborative knowledge construction to create, 159–160; standardized, distrust evidenced by, 17
- D
- Damasio, A., 22, 23, 146
- Daria (student), on telling the truth, 126–127
- Davis, J. H., 189
- Delpit, L., 118
- Development: goal of, with relational learner paradigm, 152; individual-tion defined as maturity in, 38n47; of self, relationship's role in, 20–21
- Dewey, J., 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 59, 155
- Dialogue. See Communication
- Disconnection: by boys, false relationships as reason for, xiii-xiv; from knowledge about self, 53–57; and relationship with audience, 146–149; selective sharing to resist, 136–138; struggling with, related to audience's expectations, 138–143
- Discovery research, 177–190; checking validity of analysis in, 181–189; evolution of research questions in, 179–180; interview process in, 181–182; limitations of, 189–190; origin of concept of, 190n2; as relational process, 177–178
- Dissociation: experienced by adolescent girls, 60; student's description of, 78–80. See also Disconnection
- Duckworth, E., 31–32, 160
- E
- Eisner, E., 174
- Emily (student): on audience, 137–138; on telling the truth, 127–129, 174; on trust and self-assessment, 8
- Expectations: of audience, disconnection related to, 138–143; of teachers, in teaching-learning relationship, 131–132, 133–134
- Experience: meaning of, dependent on connections, 23–24; of researcher versus of students, 134; teachers', of students, 131, 133–134
- F
- Feiman-Nemser, S., 163
- Freedom, in trustworthy relationships, 34
- G
- Gabe (student), 103–120; background information on, 103–104; on being honest with yourself, 115–117; “I

- poems" for, 107, 114; on listening to himself, 104–107; reflecting on, 117–119; study validation by, 174; on telling the truth, 125–126; on two kinds of thinking, 108–114, 148–149; voice poems for, 105–106, 116
- Gardner, H., 119
- Gilligan, C., 22, 26, 60, 136, 190n2
- Girls, women teaching, xii. See also Adolescent girls
- Goldberger, N. R., 30
- H
- Harvard Project Zero, Collaborative Assessment Conference technique, 155–156
- Hawkins, D., 29, 31, 32, 33, 71, 152, 163
- Help, asking teachers for, 42, 44, 51, 52, 61, 148
- Himley, M., 155
- Honesty, with yourself, 115–117
- I
- "I mean" phrase, used by adolescent girls, 97, 102n3
- "I poems": construction of, 61n1, 185–186; for Gabe (student), 107, 114; for Maya (student), 70–72; for Sharon (student), 93, 96–97, 102n3, 174. See also Voice poems
- I, Thou, and It model, 29, 33, 71, 152, 163–164
- Individuation and autonomy: as goal of schooling, 152; maturity as, 38n47
- Infancy: knowledge shaped by relationships in, 26; relational learning self in, 24
- Instructional practices: creating responsive, 159–163, 170n20; for helping children locate their voice, 153–154; for listening to children's voices, 154–159
- Interpretive communities, 156, 170n17, 188–189
- Interviews: analyzing, 13, 182–188; checking validity of analysis of, 188–189; conducting, 12; relational context of, 181–182. See also Listening Guide method
- J
- Jon (student): on telling the truth, 125; on trust and self-assessment, 8; voice poem for, 185–186
- Jordan, J., 27
- José (student), 41–62; aggressiveness of, 53–56; on asking for help from teachers, 42, 44, 51, 52, 61, 148; background information on, 41–42; on connection as necessary for learning, 57–59; on disconnection from knowledge about self, 53–57; first interview with, 42–52; metaphors of, 45–46; reflecting on, 59–61; on relational learning self, 19, 148; second interview with, 52–59; on self-assessment, 42–43; study validation by, 178; on trustworthy relationship with teacher, 48–51; voice poems for, 46–48, 50–51, 55–56, 58
- K
- Kayla (teacher), classroom control problem of, 157–159
- Knowledge: audience's effect on sharing of, 90–94, 135, 136–137; confidence as linking trust and, 94–100, 101, 146; defined, 29; disconnection from, about self, 53–57; trust and, 35; trust in, and self, 28–29, 38n48
- Knowledge construction: collaborative, to create curriculum, 159–160; and relationship with others, 24–28, 148; and relationship with self, 23–24, 148. See also Learning
- L
- Lawrence-Lightfoot, S., 189
- Learners: relational, 21–23, 179–180; teachers as, 155–156, 157–159, 170n17

Learning: connection as prerequisite for, 57–59; to listen to children's voices, 154–159; reflective thinking on process of, 162–163; and relationship with others, 24–28, 148; and relationship with self, 23–24, 148; research on interplay between school relationships and, 28, 38n47; theory on relationships as based on, 18–19. See also Knowledge construction; Teaching-learning relationship

Learning self, construction of, 19–20

Listening: to interviews, 13; in Listening Guide method, 13, 61n1, 183–188; required of teachers, 82, 154–159; student's, to himself, 104–107

Listening Guide method: as approach to interviews, 13, 181–182; second listening in, 13, 61n1, 184–186; steps in analyzing interviews using, 182–188; validation of analysis with, 188–189

Lying, versus telling the truth, 123–124, 128, 132

M

Maturity, as individuation and autonomy, 38n47

Maya (student), 63–82; background information on, 63; on disconnection related to teachers' expectations, 141–142; dissociation described by, 78–80; "I poems" for, 70–72; math experience of, 65–67, 141; negative experience of, with teacher, 65, 79; on playing cello, 69–71; reflecting on, 80–82; on self-assessment, 64–65, 67–68; on self-esteem, 65, 67, 68–69, 72; on strengths and weaknesses, 72–78; study validation by, 174, 178; voice poem for, 76

McDermott, R. P., 33, 165

Methodology, 10–14. See also Discovery research; Listening Guide method

Miller, J. B., 20–21, 27, 30, 152

N

Noddings, N., 24–25, 30

O

Observation and description, by teachers, 155–156

Others, relationship with, and learning, 24–28, 148

P

Paley, V., 153–154

Parallel processes: of experience of teacher-student relationship, 81–82; in psychotherapy, 1–2; in study, 2

Parents: as audience for student's thoughts, 90–91, 92, 135; communication between infants and, 26; telling the truth to, 137

Peeling onion, study as similar to, 1–2, 174–175

Peer relationships, and relational learner paradigm, 152

Personalization, 152

Piaget, J., 59

R

Real, T., 27

Reflective thinking: on audience, 146–149; on Gabe (student), 117–119; on José (student), 59–61; on Maya (student), 80–82; on Sharon (student), 100–102; student-teacher conversation for, on learning process, 162–163; by teachers, 158–159; theory of, 23; on truth, 133–134

Relational context: of interviews, 181–182; of schools, 13–14, 163–166

Relational learner: construction of, 21–23; researcher as, 179–180

- Relational learner paradigm, 151–169; assumptions challenged by, 151–152; and creating responsive practices, 159–163, 170n20; goal of development with, 152; and helping children locate their voice, 153–154; and learning to listen to children’s voices, 154–159; obstacles to implementing, 166–169; overview of, 18–19; and school context and culture, 163–166
- Relational process, discovery research as, 177–178
- Relationship between teacher and student: care as basis of, 24–25; and conversation for reflecting on learning process, 162–163; private dialogue and communication in, 44–45; standardization as threat to, 166–169; student’s thoughts on, 48–52; trustworthy, 29–34, 48–51; valuing of individuation and autonomy in, 38n47, 152. See also Teaching-learning relationship
- Relationships: with audience, and connection/disconnection, 146–149; as context for construction of relational learner, 21–23; false, as reason for boys’ disconnection with school, xiii–xiv; with others, and learning, 24–28, 148; between researcher and participant, 181–182; role of, in development of self, 19–21; school, 24, 28, 38n47, 166–169; with self, and learning, 23–24, 148; trustworthy, 29–35. See also Relationship between teacher and student
- Research: on interplay between learning and school relationships, 28, 38n47; methodology for, 10–14. See also Discovery research; Listening Guide method
- Responsive practices, 159–163, 170n20
- “Right” answers, 131–132, 134
- “Right” questions, 156–157
- Robert C. Parker School, 155–156
- Rodgers, C. R., 155, 163, 170n29
- Rogoff, B., 59
- Rosie (teacher): “community meeting” in classroom of, 161–162; student’s close relationship with, 92, 94, 102n1
- ## S
- Safety, environment of, for trustworthy relationships, 33–34
- Samuel (teacher), trustworthy relationship between student and, 48–51
- School relationships: Dewey on importance of, 24; research on interplay between learning and, 28, 38n47; standardization as threat to, 166–169. See also Relationship between teacher and student
- Schoolwork, as fraudulent and important, 7
- Schultz, K., 154–155
- Schunk, D. H., 59
- Self: being true to, in self-assessment, 125–127; core sense of, 22, 23, 146; disconnection from knowledge about, 53–57; learning, construction of, 19–20; listening for expressions of, 13, 61n1, 184–186; relationship with, and learning, 23–24, 148; relationship’s role in development of, 20–21; trust in, and knowledge, 28–29, 38n48. See also “I poems”
- Self-assessment: being true to self in, 125–127; examining both sides of hyphen in, 9–10, 15n3; José on, 42–43; Maya on, 64–65, 67–68; trust and, 8; truth and, 124; value of, 7. See also Assessment
- Self-esteem, student’s thoughts on, 65, 67, 68–69, 72

Sharon (student), 83–102; audience for, 90–94, 135, 136–137; background information on, 83–84; on communication as affected by teacher's perceptions, 84–90; confidence of, 94–100, 101, 146; "I poems" for, 93, 96–97, 102n3, 174; reflecting on, 100–102; voice poems for, 87, 88–89

Sophie (student), on value of self-assessment, 7

Standardization: distrust of teachers evidenced by, 17; and relational learning paradigm, 152; as threat to school relationships, 166–169

Stiver, I. P., 20–21, 27, 152

Students. See Children; Relationship between teacher and student; names of specific students

Suresh (student), in classroom community meeting, 161

Surrey, J. L., 30

T

Tarule, J. M., 30

Teachers: asking for help from, 42, 44, 51, 52, 61, 148; as audience for student, 91–93; collaborative techniques for learning by, 156, 170n17; connectedness of, 30–31, 38n51; cultural distrust of, 17; expectations of, 131–132, 133–134, 138–143; genuine interest of, 31–32; importance of talking about strengths to, 48; as learners, 155–156, 157–159, 170n17; listening required of, 82, 154–159; student's communication as affected by perceptions of, 84–90; women, teaching girls, xii. See also Relationship between teacher and student

Teaching-learning relationship: I, Thou, and It model of, 29, 33, 71, 152, 163–164; trustworthy, 29–34, 48–51

Telling the truth. See Truth

Terrace School (pseudonym): culture of, 164–165; methodology for study at, 10–14; recent gathering at, validating study, 173–175, 178

Theory: of reflective thinking, 23; on relationships as based on learning, 18–19

Thinking, two kinds of, 108–114, 148–149. See also Reflective thinking

Towler, L., 34

Tronick, E. Z., 26, 133

Trust: compact of, between teachers and students, 32; confidence as linking knowledge and, 94–100, 101, 146; and knowledge, 35; lacking in current political climate for education, 17; and relationship, 34–35; in self and knowledge, 28–29, 38n48; self-assessment and, 8; in teaching-learning relationship, 29–34

Trustworthy relationship, between student and teacher, 29–34, 48–51

Truth, 123–134; and being true to self, 125–127; gradations of, 127–133; multiple, 124, 128–129, 130–131, 138, 140–141; reflecting on, 133–134; self-assessment and, 124; telling the, versus lying, 123–124, 128, 132

V

Validation: of analysis in discovery research, 181–189; of study, 173–175, 178

Vicki (teacher): student afraid to speak honestly with, 92; student's negative experience with, 65, 79

Voice poems: construction of, 46, 185–186; for Gabe (student), 105–106, 116; for Jon (student), 185–186; for José (student), 46–48, 50–51, 55–56, 58; for Maya (student), 76; for Sharon (student), 87, 88–89; "you" as distancing move in, 47–48, 62n2. See also "I poems"

Voices: helping children locate their,
153–154; learning to listen to, of children, 154–159
Vygotsky, L. S., 59

W

Weinberg, M. K., 26, 133
Williams, R., 155

Z

Zimmerman, B. J., 59
Zoe (teacher), Collaborative Assessment Conference participation by,
155–156

