

CONTENTS

The Authors ix

PART ONE Introduction

1. Preparing Stewards of the Discipline 3
Chris M. Golde

PART TWO Commentaries

2. Who Should Do What: Implications for Institutional
and National Leaders 23
Kenneth Prewitt
3. Vectors of Change 34
David Damrosch
4. Heeding the Voices of Graduate Students and Postdocs 46
Crispin Taylor

PART THREE The Essays

5. Unmasking Uncertainties and Embracing Contradictions:
Graduate Education in the Sciences 65
Yehuda Elkana
- Doctoral Education in Mathematics 97
6. Developing Scholars and Professionals:
The Case of Mathematics 101
Hyman Bass

7. A Time for Change? The Mathematics Doctorate Tony F. Chan	120
Doctoral Education in Chemistry	135
8. Time for Reform? Alvin L. Kwiram	141
9. Developing Breadth and Depth of Knowledge: The Doctorate in Chemistry Ronald Breslow	167
10. Training Future Leaders Angelica M. Stacy	187
Doctoral Education in Neuroscience	207
11. Maintaining Vitality Through Change: Graduate Education in Neuroscience Zach W. Hall	211
12. The Challenges of Multidisciplinarity: Neuroscience and the Doctorate Steven E. Hyman	226
Doctoral Education in Education	245
13. Stewards of a Field, Stewards of an Enterprise: The Doctorate in Education Virginia Richardson	251
14. Toward a Future as Rich as Our Past David C. Berliner	268
Doctoral Education in History	291
15. Expanding the Domain of History Thomas Bender	295
16. Historians, the Historical Forces They Have Fostered, and the Doctorate in History Joyce Appleby	311
17. Getting Ready to Do History William Cronon	327
Doctoral Education in English	351
18. Rethinking the Ph.D. in English Andrea Abernethy Lunsford	357
19. Toward a New Consensus: The Ph.D. in English Gerald Graff	370

20. Words and Responsibilities: Graduate Education and the Humanities 390
Catharine R. Stimpson

PART FOUR
Conclusion

21. The Questions in the Back of the Book 419
George E. Walker
- Name Index 429
Subject Index 435

