

CONTENTS

---

List of Tables and Figures	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction: Getting the Most from This Resource	1
CHAPTER 1
The Basics	11
What Is Social Media?	11
Why Social Media in Training?	13
Which One?	15
Choosing What to Use When	16
Getting Started	18
Summary	22
CHAPTER 2
Twitter	23
In a Nutshell	23
In a Larger Container	23
How to View Twitter	23
Advantages/Disadvantages of Twitter in Training	23
Why Twitter Instead of Something Else?	25
Why Twitter in Addition to Something Else?	25
Getting Started	26
Before the Training Event	33
Pre-Work	35
In Class	36
Intersession Work	37
Formative Evaluation	44
Summative Evaluation	44
Post-Class: Extending the Life of the Training	45

Twitter Tools	47
Inside the Enterprise	50
Case: Microblogging at Qualcomm	50
Summary	52

CHAPTER 3

---

Facebook and Other Communities 53

---

In a Nutshell	53
In a Larger Container	53
How to View Facebook	54
Advantages/Disadvantages of Facebook in Training	55
Why Facebook Instead of Something Else?	56
Why Facebook in Addition to Something Else?	56
Getting Started	57
Once Your Personal Page, Group, or Fan Page Is Set Up	63
Prior to Course Start	69
Intersession Work	71
Building a Learning Community with Facebook	74
Case: Facebook as a Community for InSync Training, LLC, Course Graduates	75
And Now, a Few Words about LinkedIn	77
Summary	82

CHAPTER 4

---

Blogs 83

---

In a Nutshell	83
In a Larger Container	83
How to View Blogs	83
Advantages/Disadvantages of Blogs in Training	84
Why Blogs Instead of Something Else?	87
Why Blogs in Addition to Something Else?	87
Getting Started	88
To Provide a Course Site or Host an Online Course	90
Case: Public Library Uses a Blog to Host a Course	91

---

To Support a Traditional Course	91
Pre-Work	92
Intersession Work	94
Formative and Summative Evaluation	103
Final Projects	105
Post-Course	105
Building a Learning Community	105
Summary	108

CHAPTER 5

---

Wikis 109

---

In a Nutshell	109
In a Larger Container	109
How to View Wikis	109
Advantages/Disadvantages of Wikis in Training	109
Why Wikis Instead of Something Else?	110
Why Wikis in Addition to Something Else?	110
Getting Started	111
Hosting an Online Course	111
Case: Jive Software Uses Wiki to Host a Course	112
In Addition to an Online Course	116
To Support a Traditional Course	117
Pre-Work	118
Intersession Work	118
Post-Course	124
Formative and Summative Evaluation	125
Building a Learning Community	125
Summary	126

CHAPTER 6

---

Other Tools 127

---

Google Wave	127
Google Docs	128
YouTube	130
Case: Interactivity via YouTube	131

TeacherTube	135
Social Bookmarking	137
SlideShare	138
Free Virtual Classroom Tools	139
Skype	139
VoiceThread	140
Mashups: Game Changers	140
UStream	141
Summary	141

CHAPTER 7

---

The Bigger Picture 143

---

Well First, What Is “Learning”?	144
What Is Social Learning?	145
What Does Social Learning Look Like?	146
Case: Online Community Managed by Employees of Government Agency	154
And Now, 268 Words About Knowledge Management	155
Social Learning: How to Do Things Versus How to Get Things Done	156
What’s the Future?	158
Getting Started with Social Learning	160
Summary	162

---

Afterword: Be the Change 163

---

Selling the Change	163
Being the Change	165
Appendix	167
References and Suggested Reading	171
About the Author	175

---

LIST OF TABLES AND FIGURES

Tables

1.1	Comparison of Web 1.0 to Web 2.0	12
A.1	Product Comparison Chart	168

Figures

I.1	RSS Feed Icon	7
I.2	RSS Reader Buttons	7
1.1	Typical Formal Training Events Throughout a Career	14
1.2	Most Learning Occurs in the Spaces Between Formal Training Events	15
1.3	Too Many Rules Discourage Participation	20
1.4	The Networked Trainer	21
2.1	Use of the @, RT, and # Symbols in a Twitter Stream	29
2.2	Tweetie2 Is a Free iPhone Application	31
2.3	Twitter Settings Allow You to Receive Information via Email	32
2.4	Conversation in Twitter	34
2.5	Pre-Work in Twitter	35
2.6	Webinar Backchannel Notes Created by Cammy Bean	37
2.7	Role Play in Twitter	40
2.8	Reflection on a Reading Assignment	42
2.9	A to Z Class Review	44
2.10	Tweetdeck Showing Main Account Feed and Results for Two Search Terms	47
2.11	Tweetdeck Can Also Pull Feeds from LinkedIn and Facebook	48
2.12	Example of Tweet Sent from Tweetie	48

2.13	You Can Easily Auto-Schedule Tweets	49
2.14	Twtpoll Questions	49
2.15	Twtpoll Results	50
3.1	Facebook Limited Profile Settings	58
3.2	Facebook Settings: Choose Who Sees What	59
3.3	Facebook Groups Allow for Customization	61
3.4	Invite “Friends” (and Others) to Your Facebook Group	61
3.5	Facebook Pages Provide User Metrics	62
3.6	More Facebook User Metrics	63
3.7	Wall Posts Allow for Text and Other Material	64
3.8	Creating an Event in Facebook	64
3.9	Choose Specifics About the Event	64
3.10	Leadership Course Hosted in Facebook	67
3.11	Learner-Provided Photos Reveal a Good Deal About Company Culture	69
3.12	Facebook Can Support Learner “Icebreaker” Activities	70
3.13	Visual Prompt for Learner Activity	73
3.14	Ethics Discussion Hosted on Facebook	74
3.15	Facebook Class Page Accessed via Mobile Application	77
3.16	You Can Choose People and Discussions to Follow	78
3.17	One-Page Setup for Creating a LinkedIn Group	79
3.18	Invite People to Your Group by Choosing Among Your Connections or Sending to an Email List	79
3.19	LinkedIn Groups and Subgroups Are Places to Host Discussions	80
3.20	Discussion Topics Appear on the LinkedIn Group Site	80
3.21	Ning Community Member Home Page	81
4.1	“23 Things” Assignments on One Blog Page	85
4.2	Assignments Are Linked to Additional Details	86
4.3	Google Calendar Is a Widget, Easily Added to a Blog	90
4.4	Example of Blog-Based “Four Pics” Activity	93

4.5	Pindax Virtual Sticky Note Tool	94
4.6	A Blog Can Provide a Good Space for Intersession Work	96
4.7	“Round Robin” Blog-Based Activity	98
4.8	Blog Assignment Asking for Response to Class Reading	103
5.1	Choosing “6. Widgets” Takes the Learner to the Home Page for That Module	112
5.2	Home Page for “6. Widgets”	113
5.3	Screen from PowerPoint Overview of Module	114
5.4	“Read the Tutorials” Section	115
5.5	“Try It Yourself” Lab Exercise	115
5.6	Participant Comments and Discussions	116
5.7	Wiki-Supported Course for Administrative Support Specialist Program	117
5.8	To Edit Most Wikis, Click “Edit” and “Save”	118
5.9	Wiki Page Showing Partial Learner Recap of “Customer Service” Session	120
6.1	A “Wave” in Google Wave	128
6.2	Video Incorporated into a Wave	129
6.3	Google Docs User Home Page	130
6.4	Google Docs Form Creator	130
6.5	YouTube as a Conversation Tool	132
6.6	YouTube iPhone Search Results for “Safety Training”	134
6.7	YouTube Video Running on iPhone	135
6.8	Partial TeacherTube Home Page Shows Featured Videos and Documents	136
6.9	TeacherTube Provides an Area for Comments	136
6.10	TeacherTube Interfaces with Facebook	137
6.11	Example of Social Bookmarking in Delicious	138
7.1	Traditional Model of Workplace Training	159
7.2	Where Real Learning Occurs	159
7.3	New Model of Workplace Training	160

