

[ C O N T E N T S ]

Foreword by Jay Mathews	ix
Preface	xi

PART ONE: THE ART OF TEACHING

Epitaph for an English Teacher Howard Good (2000)	3
“Too Smart to Be a Teacher” James R. Delisle (1995)	6
No More Silver Bullets: Let’s Fix Teacher Education Vartan Gregorian (2004)	10
Increase Class Size—and Pay Teachers More Saul Cooperman (2005)	17

PART TWO: EQUITY AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

“The National Responsibility” for Equality of Educational Opportunity John Hope Franklin (1984)	23
Census 2000 Is Coming! Harold Hodgkinson (1999)	30
The Legacy of “All Deliberate Speed” Pedro A. Noguera &amp; Robert Cohen (2004)	35
Racism Explained to My White Daughter Patricia M. Cooper (2005)	40

PART THREE: TESTING WELL, TESTING FAIRLY

By All Measures: Coming to Terms on World-Class Standards Albert Shanker (1992)	47
By All Measures: “Just Another False Chase” Deborah Meier (1992)	51
Is There a Standard for Meeting Standards? Lewis A. Rhodes (1993)	54
The Need for Anti-Babel Standards Howard Gardner (1994)	60
Confusing Harder with Better Alfie Kohn (1999)	65
The Tests We Need E. D. Hirsch Jr. (2000)	70
Multiple Measures Ronald A. Wolk (2004)	79

PART FOUR: CURRICULUM IN THE CLASSROOM

Curriculum Mood Swings Anne Wescott Dodd (1993)	85
Why Ignore the Forms of Art? Maxine Greene (1997)	90
Rescue the Wonder of the Printed Page Joy Hakim (2001)	93
In Defense of Whimsy Jane Dimyan-Ehrenfeld (2002)	97

PART FIVE: TECHNOLOGY AND LEARNING

Black to the Future Henry Louis Gates Jr. (2000)	105
The Technology Puzzle Larry Cuban (1999)	110
Seeking Edutopia Milton Chen (2001)	115

Preparing Students for Work in a Computer-Filled Economy Frank Levy &amp; Richard J. Murnane (2004)	123
---	-----

PART SIX: DEMOCRACY AND VIRTUE

Teaching Integrity: The Boundaries of Moral Education Edwin J. Delattre (1990)	131
Helping Children with Scary News—Written in 1991 in Response to the Persian Gulf War Fred Rogers with Hedda Bluestone Sharapan (1991)	137
Teaching the “Other Half” of Democracy’s Story Ralph Nader (1993)	142
Now Is the Time to Teach Democracy Diane Ravitch (2001)	147
Teaching for Wisdom in Our Schools Robert J. Sternberg (2002)	152

PART SEVEN: CHANGE AND REFORM

A Nation in Wait John I. Goodlad (2003)	159
Questioning Cliches of Education Reform Chester E. Finn Jr. (1989)	166
On Lame Horses and Tortoises Theodore R.Sizer (1997)	173
Is the Comprehensive High School Doomed? W. Norton Grubb &amp; Marvin Lazerson (2004)	179
Seek Simplicity . . . and Distrust It Lee S. Shulman (2005)	185

PART EIGHT: CHARTERS AND CHOICE

Creating an Entrepreneurial School System Marc S. Tucker (1989)	195
Make Public Schools More Like Private Adam Urbanski (1996)	201

Charter Schools: Escape or Reform? Marc Dean Millot, Paul T. Hill, &amp; Robin Lake (1996)	206
For-Profit Schooling: Where's the Public Good? Linda Darling-Hammond (1992)	211
Competing for Our Clients Dorothy Rich (1999)	215

PART NINE: INSPIRING LEADERSHIP

Schools Must Reconnect Pupils, Cultivate Leadership for Change Bill Clinton (1986)	221
Old Questions Will Produce Old Answers to the Problem of Educational Leadership Allen Berger (1982)	226
Pooling Our Resources Suzanne Tingley (1996)	230
The Principalship: Looking for Leaders in a Time of Change Mildred Collins Pierce &amp; Leslie T. Fenwick (2000)	235
Index	239