

Contents

Notes on Contributors	vii
Foreword	ix
Paul Standish
1 Introduction: The Question of Method in Philosophy of Education Claudia Ruitenberg	1
2 The Strict Analysis and the Open Discussion Katariina Holma	10
3 ‘Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better’: Dialectical Argument in Philosophy of Education Daniel Vokey	24
4 Education and Selfhood: A Phenomenological Investigation Michael Bonnett	41
5 Examples as Method? My Attempts to Understand Assessment and Fairness (in the Spirit of the Later Wittgenstein) Andrew Davis	54
6 Witnessing Deconstruction in Education: Why Quasi-Transcendentalism Matters Gert Biesta	73
7 Under the Name of Method: On Jacques Rancière’s Presumptive Tautology Charles Bingham	87
8 Distance and Defamiliarisation: Translation as Philosophical Method Claudia Ruitenberg	103
9 Between the Lines: Philosophy, Text and Conversation Richard Smith	118
10 Method, Philosophy of Education and the Sphere of the Practico-Inert Marianna Papastephanou	131
Index	150