
Contents

About the Author xiii

Foreword xv

Acknowledgements xix

List of Figures xxi

List of Tables xxiii

1 Introduction 1

Background to the Study 1

Initial Experiences 1

Development 2

Current Experiences 3

Clinical Supervision in Nursing 3

Opportunity for Research 4

2 Literature Review 7

Introduction 7

Literature Review Strategy 7

Clinical Supervision: Growing Popularity in Nursing 7

Political Influence 8

Formats and Frameworks 10

Clinical Supervision Idealised 13

Benefit and Outcome Studies 15

Reducing the Stress Experienced by Nurses 15

Knowledge Development and Skills Acquisition 22

Confirmation of the Nurse's Role 26

Summary of Benefit and Outcome Studies 26

Characteristics of the Clinical Supervisor 28

Characteristics of a Good Supervisor: A Nursing Perspective 28

Counselling, Psychology and Psychotherapy 30

Interpersonal Interactions During Supervision 32

Discussion 37

Conclusion 39

3	Methodological Considerations	41
	Introduction	41
	General Aim of the Study	41
	Research Questions	41
	Objectives of the Study	41
	Choice of Research Approach	42
	Illuminative Evaluation	43
	Previous Illuminative-evaluation Research	46
	Illuminative evaluation in Nursing Research	46
	Summary of Methodological Considerations	48
	Discussion of Data-collection Techniques	49
	Interview	49
	Audio-recording of Clinical Supervision	52
	Clinical Supervision Session Record	55
	Other Documents Relating to Clinical Supervision	55
	Critical Incident Journal	56
	Summary of Data-collection Techniques	58
	Data Analysis	58
	Content Analysis	58
	Thematic Analysis	59
	Analysis of Verbal Transactions	60
	The Learning Milieu	60
	Conclusion	60
4	Analytic Framework	61
	Introduction	61
	Peplau's Theory of Interpersonal Relations	61
	Six Category Intervention Analysis	64
	Nurses' Interpersonal Skills	68
	Heron's Framework and Clinical Supervision	71
	Heron's Framework as an Analytic Tool	73
	Conclusion	73
5	Study Design and Methods	75
	Introduction	75
	Location	75
	Population and Sampling Issues	76
	Case Sites, Participants and their Role in the Team	77
	Case Site One	77
	Staff complement for Case Site One	79
	Participants and their team role	79
	Case Site Two	80

Staff complement for Case Site Two	81
Participants and their team role	81
Case Site Three	82
Staff complement for Case Site Three	83
Participants and their team role	83
Case Site Four	84
Instructional System	84
Trust Discussion Paper	84
Module Descriptor	85
Recurring Themes in the Nursing Literature	86
Clinical supervision as a supportive resource	86
Managerial agendas encroaching on clinical supervision	86
The broad scope of clinical supervision	87
Data-collection Methods	87
Interview	88
Audio-recording of Supervision Sessions	90
Audio-recording equipment	91
Clinical Supervision Session Records	91
Critical Incident Journal	91
Summary of Data-collection Methods	93
Triangulation	93
Trustworthiness	95
Data Analysis	96
Ethical Considerations	99
Ethical Approval and Access to Participants	101
Conclusion	102
6 Pilot Study	103
Introduction	103
Location, Participants and Access	103
Case Site Description	104
Staff Complement for Pilot Study Site	104
Participants and their Team Role	104
Data-collection Methods	105
Interview	105
Clinical Supervision Session Record	105
Critical Incident Journal	105
Audio-recording of Clinical Supervision	106
Data Analysis	106
Analysis of an Audio-recording of a Supervision Session	107
Stimuli for the focus of supervision	107
Structure	108
Content	108

Supervisor interventions	109
Exploring the supervisee's work	109
Taking the lead	110
Suggesting an option	110
Giving information	110
Catalytic interventions	110
Prescriptive interventions	111
Informative interventions	111
Supportive interventions	111
Degenerate interventions	112
The supervisee's contribution	113
Obstacles to supervision	113
Potential changes resulting from clinical supervision	113
Conclusion	113

7 Report of Findings and Discussion 115

Introduction	115
Objectives of the Study	115
Objective 1	115
Managerial agendas	116
Clinical supervision as a therapeutic endeavour	117
Client-related issues: absence of relating to the client	120
The broad scope of clinical supervision	122
Objective 2	124
The routine: hierarchy	124
The frequency and duration of sessions	127
The supervisor's agenda	128
The supervisee's contribution	131
Overcoming the unhelpful aspects of clinical supervision	132
Objective 3	134
The stimuli for what is discussed during clinical supervision	134
Preparation for clinical supervision	136
Previous experiences of receiving clinical supervision	136
Supervision module	137
Objective 4	138
Absence of a conceptual model	138
Seeking information	139
Information-giving	140
Agreeing with the supervisee	143
Suggesting an option	144
Giving feedback	145
Catalytic interventions	146
Empathic divining	147

Informative interventions	148
Supportive interventions	148
Prescriptive interventions	149
Confronting interventions	150
Cathartic interventions	150
Delivery of two interventions simultaneously	151
Catalytic degenerate interventions	152
Cathartic degenerate interventions	153
Prescriptive degenerate interventions	155
Comparisons with previous research using Heron's framework	156
Objective 5	156
Objective 6	157
Case Site One	157
Case Site Two	158
Case Site Three	160
Conclusion	162

8 Conclusion 163

Introduction	163
Major Insights Gained from the Study	163
The Content of Clinical Supervision	163
Interpersonal Interactions and their Influence on Content	164
Organisational Factors and their Influence on the Supervisory Process	165
The stimuli for what is discussed during clinical supervision	165
Preparation for clinical supervision	165
The routine	166
Changes Reported from the Experience of Individual Clinical Supervision	166
Illuminative Evaluation	167
Study Design	167
Thematic Analysis	168
Analytic Framework	169
Implications of these Insights	170
Practice	170
Nurse education	171
Nursing research	172
Limitations of the Study	172
Researcher	172
Participants	172
Study Design and Methods	173
Study site	173
Critical incident journal	173

Audio-recording supervision sessions	173
Six Category Intervention Analysis	173
Trustworthiness	174
Contribution to Knowledge	174
Clinical Supervision	174
Nurse Education	175
Nursing Research	175
Six Category Intervention Analysis	175
Conclusion	175
Recommendations	177
Appendices	179
References	195
Index	215