

CONTENTS

1. Young Europeans in a Changing World 1
Manuela du Bois-Reymond, Lynne Chisholm
The volume's editors set this collection into the framework of a rapidly changing Europe and introduce the individual chapters.
2. European Youth Research: Development, Debates, Demands 11
Lynne Chisholm
This opening contribution analyzes the emergence and character of youth research within the sociopolitical context of European integration processes.
3. Learning in Times of Modernization 23
Sven Mørch, Manuela du Bois-Reymond
The writers take a close look at changing relationships between education and learners in light of the demands and consequences of modernization.
4. Redefining the Future: Youthful Biographical Constructions in the 21st Century 37
Carmen Leccardi
Young people's life planning and life rhythms take on a more contingent and open-ended quality as the concepts of time and space change.
5. Social Change, Family Support, and Young Adults in Europe 49
Andrew Biggart, Siyka Kovacheva
When the welfare state cuts back support for young people in the transition to adulthood, their families must shoulder heavier responsibilities.
6. Biography and Gender in Youth Transitions 63
Barbara Stauber
Young people's transitions to adulthood remain inescapably gendered so that constructing a life demands active biographical reflection within contradictions.
7. Transitions from School to Work in Europe: Destandardization and Policy Trends 77
Andreas Walther, Wim Plug
This final chapter depicts risks and breaches among education, training, and the labor market in the context of the policy measures developed to try to deal with these.
