Eight Secrets for Managing People

1. Start “at home” - with your own leadership
2. Make communication with employees central to your job
3. Know your personal managerial values and philosophy
4. Foster an environment that brings out the best in others
5. Be willing to engage in difficult conversations about difference
6. Create a culture of performance through teamwork and collaboration
7. Be a change leader, not just an effective manager
8. Take time to learn and reflect
