Contents

Illustrations .............................................. x
Boxed Texts .............................................. xii
Preface: The Magic of History ......................... xv
Acknowledgments ....................................... xix
Annotated List of Abbreviations and a Note on Citations from Secondary Literature ......................... xxi
Timeline .................................................. xxv
Map: The Late Antique World At-A-Glance ............ xxviii

Part I  The “Vanishing” of Rome

1  Who and What Is Late Antiquity? .................... 3

   1.1  An Overview of the Book .......................... 4
       History from the ground-up, all the way to the top . 4
       A top-down view of Rome in the fifth century CE . 9

   1.2  Three Lives and the “Fall of Rome” ............. 10
       Victorinus, vicarius of Britain ..................... 11
       Palladius, the law student from Gaul .............. 13
       Rufius Volusianus, the prodigy who went to Constantinople . 14

2  When Does Late Antiquity Begin? When Does it End? 19

   2.1  The Third through Fifth Centuries ce: A Narrated Timeline 20
       The third-century crisis ........................... 20
CONTENTS

The fourth-century crisis
The fifth-century crisis
2.2 A Warning about Periodization
3 How Do We Do Late Antique History?
3.1 Evaluating Sources, Asking Questions
  Comparing and contrasting
  Incorporating textual and material culture
3.2 The Past in the Past
3.3 Acquiring Cultural Competence: The Study of Religion in History
3.4 Linking, not Disconnecting, Different Periods of Early Christianity
  Paul and the context of the late Second Temple period
  Paul’s legacy, forged texts, and the rise of Christianity
3.5 Pre-Modern vs. Early Modern History: A Note on Sources

Part II Late Antiquity Appears

4 Power
4.1 Third-Century Politics
4.2 Mithras and a Roman Fascination with the Mysteries of Persia
4.3 The Material Culture of Sasanian Persia
4.4 Rome and Sasanian Persia in Conflict
  Weighing the accounts, making a decision
4.5 The Roman World of the Third Century CE
  Empire-wide citizenship is decreed
  Rome’s birthday is celebrated, a saeculum is renewed
  New walls and city borders are constructed

5 Worship
5.1 The Civic Sacrifice Policy of 250 CE
  Implementation of the policy
  The historian’s delicate task: writing about the policy
5.2 How Did Romans Worship Their Gods? Text and Material Culture, c. Third Century CE
  Traditional worship
  Mystery cults
  Emperor worship

6 Social Change
6.1 Rome’s Laws Against Christians
  Emperor Valerian, 257–258 CE
  Christian sacrifice in context on the eve of the Rule of Four

9.3 The Jewish Community: Shared Values and Social Diversity 159
   Synagogues 159
   The importance of Jewish place and time 160
9.4 The Communities of Roman Egypt, Fourth–Fifth Centuries CE 163
   Antony and the monastic communities 166
   Roman army members and military families 166
   Disaffected communities: “God’s soldiers,” c.391–392 CE 168

10 Economy 171
10.1 Egypt beyond Its Borders 172
   Porphyry and the economy of marble 172
   Egyptomania in Rome and Constantinople 175
10.2 The Arena and Racing Culture 177
10.3 Economic Realities, Third–Sixth Centuries CE 179
   The two economic corridors of the state 180
   The importance of ceramic evidence 182
   The importance of the wooden legal texts from Vandal North Africa 183
10.4 The Crypta Balbi Excavations, Rome: The Story of a Social Safety Net, Third Century–Sixth Century CE 184
   Ceramics from the Crypta Balbi excavations 185
   Two final details from the Crypta Balbi excavations 188

11 The Household and Family 191
11.1 Home as a Place 193
   Apartments 193
   Houses 194
11.2 House-Churches in the Long History of Christianity 196
   Tituli and the transformation of the Caelian Hill, Rome 198
   House-churches and church leadership 200
11.3 Family and Household Relations, c.405–551 CE 201
   Jerome and the lives of two Christian women in Gaul: c.405 CE 201
   Procopius tells of a scandalous Christian empress, c.550–551 CE 203
11.4 Slaves and Slavery 203
11.5 Households and the Emergence of the Papacy in Rome 206

12 Ideas and Literary Culture 209
12.1 The “One” and the Many: Philosophical and Anthropological Perspectives 210
12.2 Literature and Ideas after the “Vanishing” of Rome 212
12.3 The Literary Culture of Justinian’s Roman Empire 215
   Justinian’s Latin Laws 215
   Justinian’s Greek-speaking Christian state 215
12.4 Literature as a Source for the Study of Medicine and Disease 218
| 12.5 | The Rise of a Book Culture | 219 |
|      | Books and patrons         | 220 |
|      | Books and beliefs         | 222 |
| 12.6 | Latin Poetry and Christian Communities in Rome, c.366–600 CE | 222 |
| 12.7 | Looking Ahead: “People of the Book” | 224 |

Part III The Illusion of Mediterranean History

13 Geography and Society

| 13.1 | Seeing the Sixth Century Through the Eyes of an Emperor and a Traveler | 232 |
|      | Emperor Justinian, 527–565 CE | 233 |
|      | Justinian’s Christian architecture | 235 |
| 13.2 | Cosmas’ Christian World | 235 |
|      | Geography | 236 |
|      | The centrality of scripture | 237 |
|      | Apocalyptic thinking | 238 |
|      | Religious minorities | 241 |
| 13.3 | Beyond Rome’s Christian Empire in the Sixth Century CE | 242 |
| 13.4 | Sixth- and Seventh-Century South Asia | 244 |
|      | Sri Lanka and the economy of the Indian subcontinent | 244 |
|      | “Buddhism” and “Hinduism” | 245 |
| 13.5 | Sixth- and Seventh-Century China and Central Asia | 247 |
|      | The nature of trade along the Silk Roads | 248 |
|      | Coins as evidence for shared customs in Rome and Sasanian Persia | 248 |

14 A Choice of Directions

| 14.1 | Jerusalem in the Sixth and Early Seventh Centuries CE | 254 |
|      | The Temple Mount in Jerusalem at the dawn of the seventh century CE | 254 |
|      | Jesus’ end-time preaching and Jerusalem before the seventh century CE | 258 |
|      | End-time preaching and Jerusalem during the seventh century CE | 259 |
| 14.2 | The Social World of the Arabian Peninsula in the Sixth Century CE | 260 |
|      | Merchant oases and desert sanctuaries | 261 |
| 14.3 | The Believers Movement | 262 |
|      | The Constitution of Medina | 264 |
|      | An apocalyptic component | 267 |
|      | An initial focus on Jerusalem | 269 |

Glossary

Index

273

276