Index

A
Apache Orchestration Director Engine (ODE), 252
Apache Software Foundation, 252
Apache Tomcat, 252
application service providers (ASP), 16, 240 application support sublayer (APS), 31
AR. See augmented reality (AR)
AR animation, technical approaches for, 58–60 construction operations, 82 created in ARVISCOPE language, 60, 78, 80, 81 relationships between DES, CAD and GPS data, and, 59 simulated operation, assumptions, 78 structural steel erection process, 81 trace file from a DES model, creation, 63–6 main processing loop, 65 portion of sample, 66
ArchiCAD, 176
ARVISCOPE animation language, 60 control statements, 62 dynamic statements, 61–2 scene construction statements, 60–1 STROBOSCOPE format, 63
ACD, for earthmoving operation, 63
DES Tool (stroboscope), 64
Hauler1, 66
ReturnRoad, 64, 66
SIMTIME statement, 64
ARVISCOPE design issues, 66–7
challenges, 66–7
on-site positional measurement problems, 67–72 defining route using relative coordinate values, 72 global point coordinates in ARVISCOPE, calculations, 70 POSITION and ROUTE statements, 72 reference, dummy, and target points in planar view, 71 virtual construction meta-object, disassembling, 73–6 calculating position of newly disassembled child node, 75 child node, movement inside, 73 designed transformation chain algorithm, 76 relationship between coordinate frames of different CAD objects, 74 level of hierarchy, 73 transformation chain, 75
ASP.NET 2.0, 121
asynchronous methods of communication, 13
augmented reality (AR), 8, 9, 37, 38, 152, 173, 258 visualization, 54–5
vs. virtual reality, 55–6 Augmented Reality Mobile OperAtion platform (ARMOR), 59 automated construction activity monitoring system, 145 components, 145
goal of, 145
Index

B
BACnet, 34
bandwidth, 2, 6, 23, 101, 173, 215, 228, 229, 250 battery-powered wireless sensor nodes, 219
BIM. See Building Information
Modeling (BIM)
Bluetooth, 30, 31, 177
positioning technology, 30
Building Information Modeling
(BIM), 5–6, 145, 149, 151, 176, 251
formats, 180
servers, 181
building information on site
challenges, 149
2D drawings, 150
drawbacks of, 150
information display, 152
augmented reality (AR), 152
virtual reality (VR), 152 information integration, 150
Building Information Modeling
(BIM) (See Building
Information Modeling
(BIM))
4D modeling and nD
modeling, 150–1
wearable and mobile devices, 152–3 objectives, 153
Business Process Execution Language
(BPEL), 252

C
CAD software, 173, 176, 243
CAD visualization, 4D, 57
case studies, 21
construction education setting, 22–3 construction site environment, 21–2 context-aware access to project data/information, 22
for DyCE
evaluation, 143–4
new hotel complex, 141–2 sewage system, 142–3 inventory logistics support, 21 profile-based task allocation, 21 train station, 23–4
Cave Automated Virtual Environment (CAVE), 174
cell phone/smart phone, 26 functions, 27
clear channel assessment (CCA), 31 client–server (CS) model, 3 cloud computing, 239–42 categories of interoperability in, 249
challenges, 247
data security and governance, 247 interoperability issues, 247–9 searching for right services, 249–50
service reliability, performance and availability, 250
trust issues, 250
as construction collaboration enabling technology, 243–4 benefits of SaaS perceived by, 244–5 perceived benefits, according to IT Cloud Services Survey, 245
reduction of cost of IT system, 246 system flexibility, and elasticity, 246–7
system maintenance and software updating, 247
thin client support, for system mobility, 246
CoAP – Constrained Application
Protocol, 33
collaboration framework, 250 cloud-based framework, 251 standards, for implementation, 251–2
collaborative technologies in design, analytical frameworks, 170–2
eyear design technologies, characterization, 172–7 categories, 173–7
communication protocols, 31–3 open protocols, 33
compatibility, 180
for laptop computer, to collect bridge response data, 180 computer-supported collaborative work (CSCW) framework, 170–2 for communication category, 171–2 content, 171
type, 171
conditional texture anisotropy (CTA), 199 construction equipment, 193–6
in construction sites, 194 3D models for vehicle recognition, 194–5 genetic algorithms, for selecting optimal components, 195 principal component analysis (PCA), 195 Semantic Texton Forests (STFs) method, 195 wheel loader recognition, 196 context-aware access to online resources, 22 classroom response, 22–3 information delivery, 86 learning content, delivery of, 22
CORBA technologies, 239
CTA. See conditional texture anisotropy (CTA)

D
damage and defects recognition, 196 air pockets, 197
concrete surface cracks, 196–7 concrete surface discoloration, 198 global building damage, 199 pavement surface, 199
Rebar exposure, 198
steel surface, 198
design-for-safety-process (DFSP) tool, 152
designing
AR application, algorithm used in, 64 from collaborative design to collective design, 184 in construction and civil engineering, 55, 56 of construction operations, 58 in immersive environments, 183–4 DesignWorld, 175
benefits, 176
Device Profile Web Services (DPWS) protocol, 33
components, 33–4
Dexia Tower, 180
digital measurement tools, and synchronization, 130
Digital Project, 176
Discrete Event Simulation (DES) model, 54, 57–60, 63, 76, 77, 82 4D model of building, 145 document sharing systems, 14 DOF input, 88
dynamic communication environment (DyCE), 134–6 based on E-site project, 134–5 database management system, accessible through, 138 deployment architecture, 137–9 features describing, 135 functional schema, 138 infrastructure, 139
on-site evaluation, 139
case studies, 141–3
collecting data, 139–41
overall architecture, 136–7

E
EDM-2 project, 176
Ekahau tracking system, 95
components, 96
Ekahau ApplicationSuite (EAS), 96
Ekahau Client, 96, 97
Ekahau Manager, 96–9
Ekahau Positioning Engine (EPE), 96, 97 deployment and calibration, 97 operation, 97–8
C++ application, 99
Ekahau Java SDK using TCP sockets, 98 pseudo code, of client application, 99 embedded devices, 26 partially autonomous systems of, 27 energy detection (ED), 31 engineering communication in construction process (es), 128–9 enterprise resource planning (ERP) systems, 139 E-site project, 132–3 informal communication to, 132

F
fingerprinting technique. See Ekahau tracking system Fisher information matrix (FIM), 230

G
3G/4G technologies, 13
Global Positioning System (GPS), 13, 87 based tracking mechanism, 58 georeferencing-based algorithm, 93 indoor, 87, 89, 91, 92, 104, 105 for indoor applications, 94 integration, and inertial navigation, 116 measure user’s position, 94 navigation signal, 91
Google App Engine, 252
Google Earth API, 121
Google Earth Plug-In, 121
GPS. See Global Positioning System (GPS) graphical user interfaces (GUI), 172

H
Haar transform, 197
HCl. See human–computer interaction (HCI)
Head Mounted Display (HMD), 59 human-computer interaction (HCI), 13, 169, 170, 173, 178, 182 developing VDS, 172
technology, in collaborative design, 171 human–computer interfaces, 8, 88 hybrid computing environment, 174

I
ICTs. See information and communication technologies (ICTs)
IEEE 802.14.1 (WPAN), 30
IEEE 802.15.4 (Low Rate WPAN), 30–1
IEEE LAN/MAN Standards Committee, 31 iHelmet, 149, 153
design and implementation of, 153 development environment, 154 implementation method, 155–6 system architecture, 153–4 limitations, 164
  overcome, 164
  major advantages, 163–4 programming languages, for improvement of environment, 154 i-LAND project, 174
iModule implementations, 157 display module, 162–3 distance value, 159–60
information integration module, 157 positioning module, 157–8 projection range, 160
manipulation module, 160–2 Industry Foundation Classes, 176, 248 schema, 177
Inertial Measurement Unit (IMU) sensor, 117 information and communication technologies (ICTs), 11, 12, 128–9, 174, 237, 239 information searching, 13 infrared (IR) transmission technologies, 90 inspection-oriented applications, 130 integrated service delivery architecture, 15–17 access tier, 16
  client tier, 16
  contents, and applications tier, 16 semantic tier, 16
service discovery, and resource integration tier, 16 integrated tracking system (ITS), 88, 118 algorithm, flowchart for, 120 arrangement, 119
average jumps in ITS coordinates for different walks, 123 validation of, 121–3 longer walks, 122
short and complex walks, 122 short and simple walks, 121–2 sustainability walk, 122–3 International Alliance for Interoperability (IAI), 176 internet gaming environments, 181 internet technologies, 239 interstory drift ratio, 199 intranet/internet-based store of information, 14–15 intranet portals, and management systems, 176 iPADs, 27, 179
iPhone OS, 154
iPhone SDK3.0, 154
iPod Touch, 149, 154
ITS. See integrated tracking system (ITS)
ITS mobile user, 118
K
Keyhole Markup Language (KML), 121
L
LAN (Local Area Network), 17, 31, 95, 135, 174, 179 laptop, 1, 26, 27, 59, 105, 118, 216 link quality indication (LQI), 31
Linux operating system, 117
LiveBoard, 174
location-aware techniques, 88
LonWorks, 34
M
Mac OS X, 154
metaDESK, 174
Meter-Bus, 34
M2M applications, 30
mobile computing
characteristics of, 1, 3
adaptability, 3, 5
information dissemination and management, 5–6 mobility management, 5
security, 6–7
sensor networks, 6
in construction process(es) considerations in effective deployment of, 257 potentials of, 129–32
to construction sector organizations benefits of, 256–7
extended system, 135
facts, 130
purposes, in context of design collaboration, 178 rationale of applying mobile devices, 179–80 reliable data collection, in construction project, 144 technological infrastructures, for connectivity, 177 mobile computing technology. See mobile computing; pervasive computing mobile devices, limitations of, 12–14 mobile document management system, 132 mobile sensing, 130
mobile workers’ effectiveness to perform task, 13 N
network databases, 181
network layer (NWK), 31
O
Objective-C, language, 154
OntoWise, 18–20
automated notification, 20
Drawing_1, 19
ontological structure, 20
personalized information, 20
RDF(S) database, 19
OntoWise (Continued)
searching and accessing information, 20
Uniform Resource Identifier (URI), 19
OPC-UA – OPC-Unified Architecture, 33
Optoma LED projector, 149
Optoma PK101 projector, 154
Organization for the Advancement of Structured Information Standards (OASIS), 252
OSI (open systems interconnection), 27 communication stack, 28, 32
Ovjet, 182

P
PDAs. See personal digital assistants (PDAs)
Personal Dead Reckoning (PDR) system, 87–8, 116–18 based PDR system, 118
drawback, 119
features, 117–18
linear displacement, 117 position estimation, 117–18 small nIMU strapped onto mobile user’s shoe, 117 personal digital assistants (PDAs), 1, 3, 22, 132, 153, 169, 177, 179, 180 Personal Odometry System (POS), 117 personnel recognition, 193–6. See also construction equipment component-based human recognition system, 194
in construction sites, 195
histogram of oriented gradient (HOG), 193, 194 probabilistic framework, of assembling human body components, 194 RANSAC model, 194
pervasive computing, 7–8 context awareness in, 8–9 environment involving people with different work roles, 28 privacy and security issues in, 8 technologies suitable for, 29 pervasive devices, 26, 33, 34 pervasive outdoor AR visualization, 76–7 earthmoving operation, 79–81
aerial view, 79
assumptions, 79
with change in user’s head orientation, 81 with continuous change in user’s global position, 80 timeline, 80
offshore concrete delivery operation, 77–8 structural steel erection operation, 81, 82
in ARVISCOPE, 82
P3 project, 176
principal component analysis (PCA) based algorithm, 196 profile factor descriptions, 4 project database/repository, 18. See also OntoWise project, organizational structures, 133 multilevel, transformation of, 134 proprietary buses, and protocols, 34–5 prototype system implementation, 17–18 push-based services, 14

R
radio-based technology, 89
Radio Frequency Identification (RFID), 7, 89, 90, 100 active RFID tags, 90
passive RFID system, 90
radio frequency (RF) transmission technologies, 90 based WLAN, 90
radio standards, 27
characteristics, 29
raw transceivers, for serial point-to-point communication, 30 real time kinematic corrections, 118 real-time train information, 23
Revit, 176
RTK-GPS system, 118, 120
security alerts, 23
semantics-based mapping, 17
SEPIA, 176
service-oriented architecture (SOA) protocols, 33
CoAP – Constrained Application Protocol, 33 Device Profile Web Services, 33
OPC-UA – OPC-Unified Architecture, 33
in real-time applications, 34
use of XML, 34
Simple Object Access Protocol (SOAP), 33, 251, 252
Skype, 181
social network analysis, 139 3D spatial user tracking, validation of accuracy, 106 indoor GPS-based indoor experiments, 113–15 indoor positioning technologies, comparative summary, 115–16 objective, 106–7
UWB-based indoor experiments, 111–13 deployment of UWB receivers, 114 plan view of UWB receiver setup, 112 reference tag setup at, 114 response robot evaluation exercise, 113 steel structure, 113
UWB tracked user inside maze, 112
WLAN-based indoor experiments, 107–11
Ekahau calibration reference points, 111 Ekahau test bed within, 110 experiment performed at NIST, 109 floor plan, 110
simulated structural engineering laboratory inspection, 111 virtual representation, 108–9 STEP model, 177
structural element recognition, 189–93 color/texture-based methods, 189 concrete column detection, 192 geometry-based methods, 190 maximum cluster dimension, 190 morphology-based 3D CAD model filtering techniques, 190 scale/affine-invariant feature-based methods, 192 structural health monitoring (SHM) system, 210 algorithms, 210, 214, 215 collaborative, 226–8 node-level, 224–6
properties, 215
appropriate sampling frequency and time strategy, 210 common services required by SHM applications, 231
designing, 210
drawbacks of, 212
generation of data, to realize delivery, 228–9 locations of sensors, 210 structural phenomena, 210
wire-based SHM systems (See wire-based SHM systems) Structure Query Language (SQL), 138 support vector machine (SVM), 193, 194, 196

tabletop system, 179, 180 tangible user interfaces (TUIs), 173 task profile factors, 4 task–technology mapping, 1 TCM5 magnetic orientation tracker, 92, 93 telematic digital workbench, 181 “Touch” project, 180
training skills. See also virtual training system (VTS) relating virtual technologies to, 47–9 complex sensorimotor skills, 50
hybrid approach, 51
training skills (Continued) memory and procedure learning, 50 reasoning and planning, 49 simple sensorimotor skills, 50–1 spatial skills, 49–50

U
Ultra-Wide Band (UWB) network, 87, 92, 99–102 user tracking, in construction environments, 92–5 define orientation of aircraft in flight, 93 indoor GPS-based, 102–6 pseudo code, 106
retrieving positioning and orientation, 106 tracking system, 105
triangulation approach, 105 to track a user’s dynamic viewpoint, 94
UWB-based, 99–102
Data Header, 101, 102
identification (RFID) tags and operation, 100–101 multilateration approach, 102 output results from Sapphire HUB, 103 pseudo code to extract UWB position coordinates, 103
retrieving positioning and orientation, 104
Sapphire UWB tracking system, 101, 102
Timestamp, 101
WLAN-based, 95–9
fingerprinting approach, 96
user localization with WLAN technology, 95

V
videogrammetric surveying, 199–203 arrangement of cameras, 202
benefits, 201
for construction site surveying, 202 calculation of 3D spatial data, 202
limitations, 202
video sequence, captured from monumental fountain, 202, 203 visual triangulation, 200 VideoWindow, 175
virtual environments (VEs), 37
Virtual Organizations (VOs), 238
Virtual Reality Markup Language (VRML), 153 virtual technologies, 37 assessment, 38
categories of technologies, 37, 38 effectiveness of, 38
virtual training system (VTS), 38, 50 advantages, over real training, 38 computer-supported, 45
controllable components for equipment, 42 degree of realism of feedback, 43 degree of realism of input device, 43 equipment, 43
stimulus, 42
tools, 43
distinguishing properties, of training environments, 46 extent of training scenarios, 44–5 Hybrid VTS, 51
properties of training task scenario, 45–7 reality-virtuality continuum, 39 taxonomy for defining, 39–42 virtual training technologies, 39. See also virtual training system (VTS) advantages and disadvantages, 40–1 components, 44
model of continuum for suitability of, 49 taxonomy, for modeling training scenario knowledge, 44
VR-based collaborative environment, 177
VTS. See virtual training system (VTS)
W
Web browser technology, 12
Web Service Description Language (WSDL), 251
Wellner’s DigitalDesk, 174
Widely Integrated Simulation Environment (WISE), 121
Wi-Fi, 7, 13, 154
WIMAX, 30
Windows Azure, 252
wire-based SHM systems, 211
Bill Emerson Memorial Bridge, 211 challenges for, 218
Geumdang Bridge, 216
Golden Gate Bridge, 216, 217
Humber Bridge, 211
Jindo Bridge, 217
National Aquatic Center, 211
Torre Aquila Tower, 217, 218
Tsing Ma Bridge, 212
wireless communication, 181 Wireless LAN (WLAN), 31, 87, 90–2 based position system (See Ekahau tracking system) wireless networks, 6, 13, 90, 132, 173, 213. See also wireless sensor networks; Zigbee wireless sensor networks, 213–15 advantages, 213
battery-powered wireless sensor nodes for monitoring, 219 energy harvesting, 223–4 event-based wakeup, 220–1 in-network processing, 222–3 schedule-based wakeup, 220 sleep and wakeup, 219–20
hybrid approach, 221–2
challenges, 215
to deploy sensor nodes, 229–30 to maximize FIM, 230
use of p-SPEM, 230
to develop middleware framework for, 230–2 to realize automatic SHM, 232 services required by, 231–2 environmental monitoring, sensing, 214 monitoring civil structure, 214 off-the-shelf smart sensor nodes, 213 to realize long-term monitoring with, 219 synchronization error, 214 TinyOS, significance of, 215
vs. SHM applications, 214
vs. wire-based, 216
WiSeCon, 11
WLAN network, 22
WLAN tags, 21
workflow management system (WFMS), 137
World Wide Web (WWW), 173, 238, 239, 251
X
XeroxPARC, 174
XML schema, 21
XML/XSLT technologies, 139
Z Zigbee
characteristics of, 29
ZigBee device objects (ZDO), 31
ZigBee device profile (ZDP), 31
Zigbee protocol, 90
ZigBee security services, 31