Contents

Changes to Crown Prosecution Service (CPS) policy 37
Changes to sentencing guidelines 39
Changes to the Court System 42
Specialist domestic violence courts (SDVCs) 42
Summary 46
So Have These Changes Improved the Response to Partner Violence in the UK? 46
The impact on reporting incidents of partner violence 46
The impact on policing 47
The effects of CPS policy and specialist domestic violence courts 49
The Overall Impact on Attrition 51
Conclusion 51

3. Theories of Intimate Partner Violence 53
Socio-Cultural Theories 54
Gender roles and inequality 54
Power and control 55
Patriarchy 57
Criticisms of Socio-Cultural Theories 57
Social Learning Theory 58
Family Systems Theory 61
Attachment Theory 62
Personality Disorder and IPV 64
Anger and Hostility Models of IPV 66
Alcohol and Drug Models of IPV 67
Summary of single factor theories of IPV 69
Nested Ecological Theory 69
Summary and Conclusions 71

4. The Development of Group-Based Programmes for Male Domestic Violence Perpetrators 73
Changing Perspectives on the Causes of IPV and Approaches to Intervention 74
The Inception of Men’s Programmes 75
‘Nothing Works’ 76
The Expansion of Men’s Programmes 78
The Duluth model: a change of emphasis 79
Evidence that Something Works 83
British Developments in the Provision of Men’s Programmes 86
‘What Works?’ and the Move Towards Accredited Programmes 87
Accreditation criteria 91
The ‘What Works’ Movement and Domestic Violence Perpetrator Programmes 93
Conclusion 95
5. Current Practice: The Risk Assessment and Management Context 97
   The Multi-Agency Risk Management Context: MAPPAs and MARACs 97
   Multi-agency public protection arrangements (MAPPA) 97
   Multi-agency risk assessment conferences (MARACs) 99
   The intersection of MAPPA and MARAC 99
   Risk and Risk Assessment 100
   The nature of IPV risk 100
   Risk factors for non-lethal IPV 101
   Risk factors for lethal IPV 101
   Current Approaches to IPV Risk Assessment 103
   Actuarial IPV risk assessments 104
   Alternative approaches 106
   Post-treatment risk appraisal 111

6. Current Practice: Programmes for Partner-Violent Men 113
   Overview of IDAP 117
   Programme eligibility criteria 118
   Programme content 118
   Additional sessions 119
   Overview of CDVP and the Moderate Intensity Healthy Relationships Programme 119
   Programme eligibility criteria 120
   Programme content 120
   Additional sessions 122
   Overview of the High Intensity Healthy Relationship Programme 122
   Critique of the Programme Theories 123
   How Do the Programmes Differ? 125
   The Empirical Validity of Treatment Targets 125
   Cognition: Denial, minimization, victim blaming and cognitive distortions 125
   Perspective taking and empathy 128
   Parenting 132
   International Practice 134
   North America 134
   Canada 134
   European practice 135
   Global practice 135
   Summary and Conclusions 138

7. The Effectiveness of Programmes: Issues in Programme Evaluation 139
   Why Evaluate? 139
   Which Evaluation Questions should be Asked? 141
What should be Evaluated? 142
What Research Design should be Used? 143
  Experimental design 143
  Quasi-experimental designs 146
  Propensity scores 148
  Alternative designs 149
What Methods should be Used? 150
  Domestic violence reconviction 151
  Domestic violence reoffending 151
  Domestic violence recidivism 152
What is Good Practice in IPV Programme Evaluation? 154

8. The Effectiveness of IPV Programmes: International and National Evidence 157
International Evaluation Studies 158
  Review overview 158
  Meta-analytic studies of programme effectiveness 160
  Conclusions from meta-analyses 164
British Studies 165
  CHANGE and LDVPP 165
  The domestic abuse intervention project (DAIP) 167
  The Cheshire domestic violence prevention programme (CDVPP) 170
  The West Midlands Probation domestic violence perpetrator programme (WMDVPP) 171
  The integrated domestic abuse programme (IDAP) 174
Emergent Themes from the British Evaluation Evidence 177
Summary 177

9. Evaluation Issues: What Else should We be Considering? 179
The Comprehensive Evaluation Approach 180
Needs Assessment: What is Domestic Violence and Who are the Perpetrators? 180
Assessing Programme Theory 182
  Validating programme theory: Do programmes target criminogenic need? 184
  Implicit assumptions of programme theory: Do all members of the target population have the same needs? 187
  Motivation to change: selection criteria or treatment target? 189
Assessing Programme Process: Is the Intended Treatment Delivered? 191
  Programme integrity 192
  Therapeutic environment 193
  Group variables 194
  Leader variables 195
10. Conclusions and Future Directions 201
   The Future Understanding of IPV: A Move towards an Evidence-Based Definition 201
   The Future of Programme Development: What are the Alternatives? 204
   The Future of Evaluation Research 208
   Does the Future Lie in Tertiary Interventions? 210

References 213
Index 243