Contents at a Glance

Introduction .................................................................1

Part I: The Parts of Speech and Parts of the Sentence...... 7
Chapter 1: I Already Know How to Talk. Why Should I Study Grammar? ...................... 9
Chapter 2: Verbs: The Heart of the Sentence ............................................................... 17
Chapter 3: Relax! Understanding Verb Tense ................................................................. 33
Chapter 4: Who’s Doing What? Finding the Subject ........................................................... 51
Chapter 5: Having It All: The Complete Sentence ................................................................ 63
Chapter 6: Handling Complements .................................................................................... 73

Part II: Avoiding Common Errors .................................. 83
Chapter 7: Getting Hitched: Marrying Sentences ................................................................ 85
Chapter 8: Do You Feel Bad or Badly? The Lowdown on Adjectives and Adverbs .................... 99
Chapter 9: Prepositions, Interjections and Articles ............................................................ 115
Chapter 10: Everyone Brought Their Homework: Pronouns............................................ 125
Chapter 11: Just Nod Your Head: About Agreement ................................................................ 137

Part III: No Garage, but Plenty of Mechanics ............. 153
Chapter 12: Apostrophes .................................................................................................... 155
Chapter 13: Quotations: More Rules than Revenue & Customs .............................................. 171
Chapter 14: The Pause That Refreshes: Commas .................................................................. 193
Chapter 15: Adding Information: Semicolons, Dashes and Colons ........................................ 203
Chapter 16: CAPITAL LETTERS ....................................................................................... 215

Part IV: Polishing without Wax – The Finer Points of Grammar ........................................... 229
Chapter 17: Pronouns and Their Cases .............................................................................. 231
Chapter 18: Fine-Tuning Verbs .......................................................................................... 243
Chapter 19: Saying What You Want to Say: Descriptive Words and Phrases ....................... 259
Chapter 20: Good, Better, Best: Comparisons ..................................................................... 265
Chapter 21: Keeping Your Balance ...................................................................................... 279
Table of Contents

Introduction .......................................................................................... 1
  - About This Book ................................................................................. 1
  - How to Use This Book ..................................................................... 2
  - What You Are Not to Read .............................................................. 2
  - Foolish Assumptions ....................................................................... 2
  - How This Book Is Organised ............................................................ 3
    - Part I: The Parts of Speech and Parts of the Sentence ............... 3
    - Part II: Avoiding Common Errors .............................................. 3
    - Part III: No Garage, But Plenty of Mechanics ......................... 4
    - Part IV: Polishing Without Wax – the Finer Points of Grammar .... 4
    - Part V: Rules Even Your Great-Aunt’s Grammar Teacher        .4
      - Didn’t Know ............................................................................ 4
    - Part VI: The Part of Tens ............................................................. 5
  - Icons Used in This Book ................................................................. 5
  - Where to Go from Here ................................................................. 5

Part I: The Parts of Speech and Parts of the Sentence ...... 7

Chapter 1: I Already Know How to Talk.
Why Should I Study Grammar? .......................................................... 9
  - Living Better with Better Grammar ............................................. 10
  - Deciding Which Grammar to Learn ......................................... 11
  - Distinguishing between the Three Englishes ......................... 11
    - Wanna get something to eat? Friendspeak ............................. 12
    - Do you feel like getting a sandwich? Conversational English .... 13
    - Will you accompany me to the dining room? Formal English ..... 13
    - Using the Right English at the Right Time ............................ 14

Chapter 2: Verbs: The Heart of the Sentence  ................. 17
  - Linking Verbs: The Giant Equals Sign ..................................... 17
    - More linking verbs ................................................................... 19
    - Savouring sensory verbs ......................................................... 20
  - Completing Linking Verb Sentences Correctly ..................... 22
  - Placing the Proper Pronoun in the Proper Place ................... 23
  - Lights! Camera! Action Verb! ..................................................... 25
  - Getting by with a Little Help from My Verbs ........................... 26
  - Pop the Question: Locating the Verb ...................................... 27
  - To Be or Not to Be: Infinitives ................................................... 28
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>Chapter 7: Getting Hitched: Marrying Sentences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Chapter 8: Do You Feel Bad or Badly? The Lowdown on Adjectives and Adverbs</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Chapter 9: Prepositions, Interjections and Articles</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>Chapter 10: Everyone Brought Their Homework: Pronouns</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Positioning Pronoun–Antecedent Pairs ....................................................130
More Pronoun Problems .............................................................................132
Using troublesome singular pronouns properly ........................................132
Sexist language ..................................................................................134

Chapter 11: Just Nod Your Head: About Agreement ...............................137
Writing Singular and Plural Verbs ..............................................................137
The unchangeables ............................................................................138
The changeables.................................................................................138
Easier Than Marriage Counselling: Making Subjects
and Verbs Agree................................................................................141
Choosing Verbs for Two Subjects ..............................................................142
The Question of Questions ................................................................143
Present tense questions ....................................................................143
Past tense questions ..........................................................................144
Future tense questions .....................................................................145
Negative Statements and Subject–Verb Agreement.................................145
The Distractions: Prepositional Phrases and Other
Irrelevant Words ................................................................................146
Can’t We All Just Get Along? Agreement with Difficult Subjects............147
Five puzzling pronouns as subjects ..................................................148
Here and there you find problems .....................................................148
The Ones, the Things and the Bodies..............................................149
Each and every mistake is painful......................................................149
I want to be alone: either and neither without their partners......150
Politics, statistics and other irregular subjects ................................151

Part III: No Garage, but Plenty of Mechanics .................................153

Chapter 12: Apostrophes ......................................................................155
The Pen of My Aunt or My Aunt’s Pen? Using Apostrophes to Show Possession..............................................................................155
Ownership for singles........................................................................156
Because Bill Gates doesn’t own everything:
   plural possessives .............................................................................157
Possession with Company Names .............................................................160
Ownership with Hyphenated Words.........................................................162
Possessives of Nouns that End in s ...........................................................162
Common Apostrophe Errors with Pronouns ............................................164
Shortened Words for Busy People: Contractions ..................................165
   Common contraction mistakes..........................................................167
   Contractions you ne’er use except in poetry and novels .................169
Using Apostrophes with Symbols, Abbreviations and Numbers ..........169
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter 13: Quotations: More Rules than Revenue &amp; Customs</th>
<th>171</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Scare Quotes ..................................................................</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brackets .........................................................................</td>
<td>172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quotations ......................................................................</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Quotations great and small ........................................</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Punctuating quotations ...............................................</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Speech ............................................................................</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Indirect speech ..........................................................</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Direct speech ..................................................................</td>
<td>179</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Who said that? Identifying speaker changes ...................</td>
<td>188</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Punctuating Titles: When to Use Quotation Marks ..........</td>
<td>190</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter 14: The Pause That Refreshes: Commas</th>
<th>193</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Distinguishing Items: Commas in Lists ........</td>
<td>193</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Separating Adjectives ..................................</td>
<td>195</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>You ‘Talkin’ to Me? Direct Address ...............</td>
<td>198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Using Commas in Addresses and Dates .............</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Addressing addresses ......................................</td>
<td>199</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Punctuating dates ..........................................</td>
<td>200</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Flying Solo: Introductory Words .....................</td>
<td>201</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter 15: Adding Information: Semicolons, Dashes and Colons</th>
<th>203</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Gluing Complete Thoughts Together: Semicolons ...................</td>
<td>203</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Using semicolons with false joiners ...................................</td>
<td>204</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Separating items in a list with semicolons ..........................</td>
<td>206</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Creating a Stopping Point: Colons .....................................</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introducing lists ..................................................................</td>
<td>208</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Joining explanations .......................................................</td>
<td>210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giving Additional Information – Dashes ..............................</td>
<td>211</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chapter 16: CAPITAL LETTERS</th>
<th>215</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Capitalising (or Not) References to People .....................</td>
<td>216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Addressing the chief dogcatcher and other officials ............</td>
<td>216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing about family relationships ..................................</td>
<td>217</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Capitalising the deity .....................................................</td>
<td>218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Capitalising Geography: Directions, Places and Languages ....</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Directions and areas of a country ....................................</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Capitalising geographic features .....................................</td>
<td>219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tackling race and ethnicity .............................................</td>
<td>220</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marking Seasons and Other Times .......................................</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schooling: Courses, Years and Subjects ..............................</td>
<td>221</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Writing Capitals in Book and Other Titles ..........................</td>
<td>222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Concerning Historical Capitals: Events and Eras ..................</td>
<td>224</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>If U Cn Rd Ths, U Cn Abbreviate ......................................</td>
<td>225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Giving the Last Word to the Poet ......................................</td>
<td>227</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Part IV: Polishing without Wax –
The Finer Points of Grammar

Chapter 17: Pronouns and Their Cases .................................................. 231
  Me Like Tarzan: Choosing Subject Pronouns ........................................... 231
  Compounding interest: pairs of subjects ............................................ 232
  Attracting appositives ....................................................................... 233
  Picking pronouns for comparisons .................................................... 235
  Connecting pronouns to linking verbs .............................................. 236
  Using Pronouns as Direct and Indirect Objects .................................. 237
  Choosing objects for prepositions ...................................................... 238
  Seeing double causes problems ......................................................... 239
  Pronouns of Possession: No Exorcist Needed .................................... 240
  Dealing with Pronouns and –ing Nouns .......................................... 241

Chapter 18: Fine-Tuning Verbs ................................................................. 243
  Giving Voice to Verbs ........................................................................ 243
  Making the Better Choice? Active or Passive Voice ......................... 244
  Putting It in Order: Sequence of Tenses ............................................ 247
    Case 1 – Simultaneous events: main verbs .................................... 247
    Case 2 – Simultaneous events: –ing participles ............................... 247
    Case 3 – Events at two different times in the past ........................... 248
    Case 4 – More than two past events, all at different times .......... 250
    Case 5 – Two events in the future .................................................. 251
    Case 6 – Different times, different verb forms ................................ 252
  Mix and Match: Combining the Past and Present ............................. 254
    Habits: Using the present tense ..................................................... 255
    Eternal truths: Statements that are always in the present tense ........................................................................ 255
    News from the front ..................................................................... 256

Chapter 19: Saying What You Want to Say:
  Descriptive Words and Phrases ............................................................. 259
  Ruining a Perfectly Good Sentence: Misplaced Descriptions .......... 259
  Keeping Your Audience Hanging: Danglers .................................... 261
  Avoiding Confusing Descriptions ..................................................... 263

Chapter 20: Good, Better, Best: Comparisons ........................................... 265
  Ending It with –er or Giving It More .................................................. 265
  Breaking the Rules: Irregular Comparisons ...................................... 270
  Never More Perfect: Using Words That You Can’t Compare ........... 271
  Leaving Your Audience in Suspense: Incomplete Comparisons ....... 273
  Spock was Better than any First Officer in Star Fleet:
    Illogical Comparisons .................................................................. 275
  Two for the Price of One: Double Comparisons ............................... 277
Chapter 21: Keeping Your Balance .................................................................279
  Constructing Balanced Sentences .............................................................279
  Shifting Grammar into Gear: Avoiding Stalled Sentences .......................282
    Steering clear of a tense situation .......................................................282
    Knowing the right person ..................................................................283
  Seeing Double: Conjunction Pairs .............................................................285

Part V: Rules Even Your Great-Aunt’s Grammar Teacher Didn’t Know ..........289

Chapter 22: The Last Word on Verbs ..........................................................291
  Getting a Feel for Everyday Verbs: The Indicative Mood .......................291
  Commanding Your Verbs: The Imperative Mood ......................................292
  Discovering the Possibilities: The Subjunctive Mood .........................293
    Using subjunctives with ‘were’ .............................................................293
    Using subjunctives with ‘had’ .............................................................294
    Using subjunctives with commands, wishes and requests .................296
  I Can’t Help But Think This Rule Is Crazy: Deleting Double Negatives ....298
  Can’t Hardly Understand This Rule: Yet Another Double Negative ........299

Chapter 23: The Last Word on Pronouns ......................................................301
  Knowing the Difference Between Who/Whoever and Whom/Whomever ....301
    Trick 1: Horse and carriage ...............................................................302
    Trick 2: Getting rhythm ....................................................................303
  Studying Improper Antecedents .............................................................304
  Matching Verbs to Pronouns in Complicated Sentences .......................305
  This, That and the Other: Clarifying Vague Pronoun References ..........307
  Its or Their? Selecting Pronouns for Collective Nouns .........................309
  Pronouns, Inc.: Using Pronouns with Company Names .........................311

Chapter 24: The Last Word on Sentence Structure ..........................................313
  Understanding the Basics of Clause and Effect .......................................313
    Getting the goods on main and subordinate clauses .........................315
    Knowing the three legal jobs for subordinate clauses .......................317
    Untangling main clauses and subordinate clauses .............................318
    Deciding when to untangle clauses ....................................................320
    Putting your subordinate clauses in the right place ............................321
    Choosing the content for your subordinate clauses ............................321
  Playing Truant ..........................................................................................322
    Appreciating gerunds ........................................................................322
    Working with infinitives .....................................................................323
    Participating with a participle ............................................................324
  Spicing Up Boring Sentences ..................................................................325
Chapter 25: The Last Word on Punctuation .........................327
Making Your Point Clear with Commas ..............................327
Essential or extra? Your commas tell the tale ....................328
Do your commas have appositive influence? .....................330
Punctuating independently ..............................................332
Saving Time with Ellipsis .................................................333
Indicating missing words in quotations ............................334
Showing hesitation .........................................................335
H-y-p-h-e-n-a-t-i-n-g Made Easy .......................................335
Understanding the great divide .......................................336
Using hyphens for compound words ...............................337
Placing hyphens in numbers .........................................337
The well-placed hyphen ..................................................338
Slashing Your Sentences .................................................339

Part VI: The Part of Tens ................................................341

Chapter 26: Ten Ways Two to Improve Your Proofreading ....343
Read Like a Professional Proofreader .............................343
Read Backwards ............................................................344
Wait a While .................................................................344
Read It Aloud ...............................................................344
Delete Half the Commas ................................................345
Swap with a Friend ........................................................345
Let the Computer Help ..................................................345
Check the Sentence Length ............................................346
The Usual Suspects .......................................................346
Draw up a Checklist ......................................................346

Chapter 27: Ten Ways to Learn Better Grammar ...............347
Read Good Books ..........................................................347
Watch Good Television ..................................................348
Read the Newspaper ......................................................348
Flip through Magazines ................................................348
Visit Nerd Hangouts .....................................................349
Check Out Strunk and White .........................................349
Listen to Authorities ......................................................349
Review Manuals of Style ..............................................350
Surf the Internet ..........................................................350
Build Your Own Reference Library .................................350

Index ........................................................................351