INDEX

A
Accountability: Colleague Letter of Understanding for, 213–215, 219; commitment replacing, 202; defined, 4; evaluating own, 7; holding leaders to, 4–5; instilling with low control, 158–159; reverse, 234; upholding in self-management systems, 226
Adaptability: companies in decline, 103–104; contentment and entitlement effects on, 108–110; dealing with exponential change, 85–89; effect of change on institutions, 95; examining, x-xi; guarding against denial, 98–100; investing in, 88–89; missed opportunities in, 89; mitigating and confronting, 99; noticing lack of in strategies, 105–106; observing entropy in operating model, 91–98, 102; organizational corruption preventing, 107–110; physical laws applying to success, 104–105; questioning habits defeating, 101–102; rationalization and, 99
Adbusters, 30
Aesthetics in design, 57
Amazon, 50
American Religious Identification Survey, 93
Apple: accomplishments of, 74–75; decoupling from specific product lines, 129–130; design thinking at, 58, 79–80; detail-orientation of, 79, 80; distinctive strategy of, 76–77; exceeding customer expectations, 78; Google’s imitation of iOS, 105; innovation at, 50, 51, 78–79, 87; iPad introduction, 74; Job’s contributions at, 75–76; leading product development, 77–78; locking customers to their products, 76; passion for products at, 77–78; profitability of iPhone for, 139–140; retail environment of, 75, 79–80
Aravind Eye Care System, The, 101–102
Assumptions: challenging, 122–123; toxic business, 32
A.T. Cross, 73
Authority, 228–229
Autonomy: expanding employee, 230; goal of expanded scope of, 251–252. See also Self-management

B
Bank of New Zealand, 164–169
Bayliss, Chris, 164–166, 167, 169
Ben-Shahar, Tal, 43
Bernanke, Ben, 11
Blair, Tony, 92
BMW Designworks, 49
Boeing, 210
Bono, 92
Branson, Richard, 105
Breen, Mike, 156, 158
Brin, Sergey, 115
Brown, Donaldson, 171
Brown, Tim, 57–58
Budgeting for innovation, 127–128
Bureaucracy, 184, 186
Business unit teams, 213, 214–215, 221–222, 228
Business Week, 46, 47, 52
Businesses: adaptability in, 88–89; adapting lower cost operational models for, 101–102; allowing inflexibility in, 107; basing on social innovation, 33–34; being unreasonable in innovation, 78–79; born-again innovators, 51–53; challenging contentment and entitlement in, 108–110; changing policy by changing leaders, 87–88; co-locating factories, 200; corporate laureates at innovation, 48–49; costs of corporate failures, 113–116; creating engaging workplace, 142–143; creating internal markets for resources, 250; cyborgs of innovation, 50–51; dealing with exponential change, 85–89; decentralizing control to stores, 163–169; design thinking used by, 58, 79–80; developing subsidies for, 116; diagnosing decline in, 103–110; dissent within, 175, 196, 198, 252; diversity in, 123; embedding new values in, 130–131, 246–247; emotional vacuum in, 36–38; employee peer reviews in, 201–202, 204, 221–222; encouraging strategic flexibility in, 125–126; evaluating your innovative values, 80–81; exceeding customer expectations, 78; finding emerging trends, 65–67, 121–122; finding hidden competencies and assets, 67–68; fostering innovation in, 45–56, 63–64, 79; guarding against denial, 98–100; humanizing, 247, 256–257; incessant innovation required, 79; initiating self-managing, 229–231; innovative artistes, 49–50; institutional longevity for, 111–117; intellectual flexibility within, 122–124; internal debate within, 123–124; leading the product category, 78; learning from Apple’s strategy, 76–77; minimizing cost of experimentation, 125; multiplying funding for new initiatives, 127–128; need for revamped policy models, 107–108; noticing death of strategies, 105–106; operations at Morning Star plant, 211–212; passion required for innovative products, 77–78, 80; planning for structural flexibility, 128–130; public opinion about, 29–31; putting individuals first, 145–151; questioning habits defeating mission, 101–102; removing drudgery from work, 249; resilience-friendly values for, 130–133; retooling for open world model, 254; rocket innovators, 47–48; role of markets and hierarchies in, 209–210, 227–229; solving customer’s unspoken needs, 68–72; substituting resources for creativity, 108; sustaining wealth creation by, 253; toxic assumptions about, 32; value zone for, 235. See also Future-proofing businesses; and specific businesses

C
Caoua, Ron, 217
Capitalism: self-interest in, 20–21; shortcomings of, 21–23; Smith’s views on, 21; toxic assumptions about businesses, 32; view of big business in, 29–31
CDOs (collateralized debt obligations), 11
CDS (credit default swaps), 12
CEOs. See Executives; Leaders
Chandler, Alfred, 210
Change: anticipating, 120–122; challenges keeping up with, 86–89; changing organization, not values, 97–98; characteristic of, 85–86; confronting, 99, 120–121; denial of, 98–99; forces of corporate, 172–173; harnessing power of evolution, 249–250; initiating in institutions, 153–162; investing in diversity, 123; mitigating, 99; rationalization in response to, 99; strategic variety preparing for, 124–125; transitions in industrial revolution, 171–173. See also Future-proofing businesses

Chapin, Jeff, 49
Charity, 4, 7
China, 11
Church of England, 153–162
Cisco, 48
Citizenship, 246–247
Citterio, Antonio, 56
Coase, Ronald, 209
Collaborative decision-making: advantages of flat organizations for, 225; conflict resolution in, 220–221; depoliticizing decision making, 251; hiring with, 220, 225–226; making financial decisions in, 219–220; role of business units, 213, 214–215, 221–222, 228; timelines of judgments in, 224; used by Web collaborators, 173–174
Colleague Letter of Understanding (CLOU), 213–215, 219
Community: cooperation within, 160–161; developing mid-size MSC groups, 153–162; embedding ethos in businesses, 246–247; emphasizing over hierarchy, 151; enabling communities of passion, 248–249; finding inspiration for Mission-Shaped, 156; multiplying impact of church on, 56; work characteristics of Web, 173–175
Companies. See Businesses
Compensation: aligning to contribution, 151; Morning Star’s approach to, 222; rewarding innovation, 202
Competition: declining profits with increased, 106; institutional longevity and, 111–117; redefining basis for, 76; undermining, 150; within flat organizations, 224

Computer World, 139
Conflict: between opposing ideology, 181–183; resolving in collaborative decision-making, 220–221
Contributions: aligning compensation to, 151; credentials vs., 173
Control: basis of management ideology, 183–191; decentralizing, 163–169; instilling high Control (Continued)
accountability and low, 158–159;
reinventing means of, 247–248;
stifling creativity with, 235;
tension between freedom and, 189–191
Cooperation within communities,
160–161
Cox, Christopher, 17, 18
Creativity: inspiring, 248; spotting trends in, 121–122; substituting resources for, 108
Crosby, Sidney, 46
CrossPad, 73
Csikzentmihalyi, Mihaly, 43
Customers: Apple’s attraction to, 76; benefits of “employees first,
customers second”, 236;
exceeding expectations of, 78, 80; product value and price matched to, 80–81; providing good design for, 56–59;
responses to bad and good design, 55–57; solving unspoken needs of, 68–72; toxic business
assumptions about, 32
Cyborgs of innovation, 50–51

D
Dawkins, Richard, 92, 93
de Klerk, F.W., 24
De Tocqueville, Alexis, 92
Decentralizing: control, 163–169; management, 203. See also Collaborative decision-making
Defensive thinking, 107
Dell, 125
Denial: guarding against, 98–100;
seen in U.S. banking crisis, 16–18
Depoliticizing decision making, 251
Design: aligning with stewardship, 57; impact of bad and good, 55–56;
indicators of good, 56–57 Diagnosing decline: companies in decline, 103–104; death of business strategies, 105–106; physical laws applicable to decline, 104–105
Dialectic thinking, 123–124
Disney, 67–68
Dissent: allowing right to, 196; building foundation of trust, 198; encouraging, 252; finding like-minded individuals for, 175
Distributed leadership model, 195–197, 198–199
Diversity, 123, 248
Dodd-Frank Act, 6

E Economic downturn: complexity of mortgages in, 12; costs of corporate failures in, 113–116; decreasing customer service in,
80–81; HCLT’s growth in,
234–235; lack of values
culminating in, 13–15; U.S.
banking crisis and, 9–11, 255–256. See also U.S. banking crisis
Edelman Trust Barometer, 146
Eden, Sue, 164–165
Education models, 101–102
EMI, 103
Employees: advantages of self-management, 222–225;
allowing right to dissent, 175, 196, 198, 252; Colleague Letter of Understanding for, 213–215, 219; creating value to customers, 235–236; cultivating passion for customers, 168; encouraging team initiative, 223; engagement of, 36, 138–139; expanding autonomy of, 163–169, 216–217, 230; financial transparency with, 236; growth in self-management organizations, 226; hierarchy of human capabilities in, 150–151; innovation processes lacking for,
52; investing in innovation skills for, 63–64; loyalty of Morning Star, 225; making mission boss,
212–213; open evaluations of, 238; owning company, 194; peer reviews for, 201–202, 204, 221–222; personal mission statements for, 212–213, 230; resilience in, 130; roles for Gore, 199–200; selecting leaders on qualifications, 194–196; testing ideas in banking innovation, 167; trade-offs in decentralizing management, 203. See also Empowering employees

“Employees first, customers second” (EFCS), 236, 239–241

Empowering employees: CLOUs and, 213–215, 219; as sign of trust, 169; supporting frontline HCLT employees, 237–238

Entropy: businesses allowing, 100; finding in church operating models, 91–98, 102; noticing increases in, 96

Equity, 4, 7

Eviscerated strategies, 106

Executives: aligning decisions, 196–197; aligning incentives with sustained wealth creation, 253; budgeting for innovation, 127; corporate patience with, 112; dealing with freedom and control ideologies, 190–191; Nayar’s passion to change, 234, 240–241; protecting own interests, 112–113; toxic business assumptions about, 32. See also Leaders

Experience chain, 69–70

Expertise: accumulating authority with demonstrated, 228–229; encouraging with self-management, 223

F

Failures of businesses: 113–114

Fast Company, 45–46, 47, 49, 52, 193

Fealty, 3, 7

Fearless moral inventory, 24

Finances: commitment to financial transparency, 236; developing team-level P&Ls, 230–231; making collaborative financial decisions, 219–220

Financial Times, 20, 30

Findley, Ferne and Eldon, 25–26

Fiorina, Carly, 92

Flat hierarchies. See Self-management

Flexibility: allowing at Bank of New Zealand, 164–169; building natural hierarchies with, 251; intellectual, 122–124; self-management encouraging, 223–224; strategic, 125–128; structural, 128–130

Ford, 51, 75, 172, 209

Four Seasons hotel chain, 129

Frank, Barney, 17

Frankl, Viktor, 38

Freedom: basing management on self-determination, 190; found in Morning Star’s self-management model, 218–222; institutional support of employee, 164–169; tension between control and, 189–191

Fuld, Dick, 10

Future: role of innovation in our, 43–44

Future of Management, The (Hamel), 52, 140, 193

Future-proofing businesses: about, 119–120; anticipating change, 120–122; creating competition for resources, 126–127; creating structural flexibility, 128–130; encouraging internal debate, 123–124; facing need to change, 120–121; intellectual flexibility supporting, 122–124; investing in diversity, 123; minimizing cost of experimentation, 125; multiplying funding for new initiatives, 127–128; rehearsing alternate futures, 122; resilience-friendly values, 130–133; spotting future trends at fringe, 65–67, 121–122; strategic flexibility and, 125–128;
Future-proofing businesses (Continued)
strategic variety for, 124–125. See also Moonshots

G
Gates, Bill, 188
General Electric, 75, 104
General Electronics: 48
General Motors, 33, 103, 116, 120–121
Generation Facebook, 172–173
Gibson, William, 121
Global consciousness, 4–7
Global Workforce Survey, 138, 149
Golf, 61–62
Google: business plan backing, 115–116; innovation at, 50–51; minimizing experimentation costs, 125; replicating Apple strategies, 105; team size at, 126
Google Ideas, 33–34, 43
Gorbachev, Mikhail, 24
Gore, Bill, 194, 195, 200
Government institutions, 112
Greed, 16
Green, Paul, Jr., 216, 217, 219, 223–224, 226
Green, Paul, Sr., 219
Greenspan, Alan, 11
Grey New York, 49
Groups: developing mid-size, 153–162; self-defining and self-organizing, 174

H
Half Moon Bay “Renegade Brigade”, 245–246, 259–260
Hamel, Gary, 52, 140, 193
Happiness, 43
Harris, Sam, 92
Harvard Business Review, 119
Hate2Hope, 33
HCL Technologies (HCLT), 233–241
Hewitt Associates, 234
Hierarchies: disadvantages of corporate, 223; emphasizing community over, 151; of human capabilities, 140–142; markets and, 209–210, 227–229; Morning Star’s flat, 210–222; natural, 173–174, 251. See also Inverting management hierarchy Hiring practices, 220, 225–226
Hitchens, Christopher, 92
Human Side of Enterprise, The (McGregor), 186, 195
Humanizing business language and practice, 247, 256–257
Hurd, Mark, 5

I
IBM: CrossPad, 73; innovation at, 48, 51–52, 124–125; role in Microsoft’s success, 113
Ideas: durability of good, 176; equality of Web, 173; testing innovative, 167
IDEO, 49–50, 57–58
Ideology: accommodating competing, 182–183; conflicts between opposing, 181–183; considering shortcomings of capitalism, 21–23; discovering management’s, 183–191; effect of limited management, 181; indifference to cost of ideological zeal, 18; need to examine, xi; Weber’s view on management, 184–185, 186
IKEA, 47
Immelt, Jeff, 104
Individuals: collaborative Web hierarchies among, 173–174; finding work best suited for, 162; opinions on religion, 93–94; ownership of Web by users, 175; participating in MSCs, 157–162; public opinion on big businesses, 29–31; putting ahead of institutions, 145–151
Inflexibility in business systems, 107
Information: aspiring to democracy of, 252; required in self-managing systems, 218–219 Innovation: Apple’s, 74–75, 79–80, 140; artists in, 49–50; born-again innovators, 51–53; challenging mental models, 64–65; compensation rewarding, 202; control vs., 187–188; corporate laurates at, 48–49; cyborgs of, 50–51; equality of ideas on Web, 173; evaluating your values for, 80–81; finding new competencies and assets, 67–68; fostered by self-management, 217; imagination inspired by, 248; incessant and pervasive, 79; industrial revolution’s effect on, 171–172; inspiring great design, 55–59; inverting pyramid to encourage, 235–236; investing in employee training for, 63–64; leaders in corporate, 45–56; need to examine, x; our debt to, 42–44; passion required for, 77–78; putting “employees first, customers second”, 236, 239–241; resources substituted for creativity, 108; responding to emerging trends, 65–67; rocket innovators, 47–48; solving customer’s unspoken needs, 68–72; testing ideas for banking, 167; thinking like engineer, feeling like artist, 79–80; unreasonableness in, 78–79, 80. See also Apple; Moonshots

Innovators: characteristics of, 65; finding hidden competencies and assets, 67–68; noticing emerging trends, 65–67; solving customer’s unspoken needs, 68–72; training employees to be, 63–64

Institutions: effect of change on, 95; encouraging strategic flexibility in, 125–126; factors encouraging competence in, 112; flexibility at Bank of New Zealand, 164–169; individuals’ lack of trust in, 5–6, 145–148; longevity and failure of, 111–117; organizations as, 150; putting individual first, 150–151; supporting employee freedom among, 164–169; taking precedence over individual, 149–150. See also Businesses; Religion

Intel, 48

Internet: change introduced by, 106; exposing distrust of executives, 5–6, 145–149; resilience-friendly values of, 131–133. See also Web

Inverting management hierarchy:
- adapting managers to self-management, 231;
- “employees first, customers second”, 236, 239–241;
- empowering frontline employees, 237–238; freedoms in self-management, 218–222;
- HCLT’s commitment to transparency, 236; open evaluations of managers and employees, 238; posting online business plans, 238–239

iPad, 74, 77–78

Isdell, Neville, 22

Ives, Jonathan, 78

JetBlue, 105

Jobs, Steve, 75–76, 77

Johnson and Johnson, 103

Jurvetson, Steve, 127

Kahn Academy, 176

Kastle, Nick, 215

Kawasaki, Guy, 123

Kelly, Terri, 194–205

Kirkpatrick, David, 234

Kirkpatrick, Doug, 216

Kodak, 103

Kraft, 147

Lafley, A.G., 51

Law of averages, 104

Law of diminishing returns, 104

Law of large numbers, 104

Leaders: allowing inflexible business systems, 107; assessing corporate values, 36–38; budgeting for innovation, 127; capability Leaders (Continued)
determining, 194–199, 228–229; challenging contentment and entitlement in, 108–110;
changing policy by changing,
87–88; creating engaging workplace, 142–143; defensive thinking by, 107; developing intellectual flexibility, 122–124; effect of top-heavy management on, 207–209; encouraging internal debate and dialog, 123–124; evaluating own innovative values, 80–81;
exercising moral courage, 23–24;
facing need to change, 120–121;
finding new trends, 66–67;
holding accountable for values, 4–5; ineffectiveness of banking regulations, 18, 19; nurturing personal stewardship, 7–8;
refocusing corporate innovation, 51–53; refocusing work of, 252;
rehearsing alternate futures, 122;
releasing organization’s latent talents, 162; revamping policy models for, 107–108; solving customer’s unspoken needs, 68–72; substituting resources for creativity, 108; tips for cultivating innovation, 50; toxic business
assumptions about, 32;
uncovering hidden competencies
and assets, 67–68; Web servant,
174; within institutionalized religion, 96–97; working with strategic variety, 124–125
Leadership Summit, 92, 95
Les Amants, 55
Leyden, T.J., 33
LG Electronics, 48
Loyalty, 225

M
Mackey, John, 37, 153 Management: adopting resilience-friendly values, 130–133; attention to good design, 57–58; avoiding corporate decline, 105; basing on self-determination, 190;
converting to self-management, 229–231; costs of top-heavy,
207–209; creating engaging workplace, 142–143;
decentralizing control in,
163–169; defined, 184, 245;
democracy of information within, 252; disadvantages of top-down, 235; distributed leadership model for, 196–197; dramatic changes initiated via Web, 172–177; embedding new values in, 130–131, 246–247; enabling communities of passion, 248–249; expanding and exploiting diversity, 248;
finding ideology of, 183–191;
fostering innovation with, 52;
Gore’s system of, 194–195;
harnessing power of evolution, 249–250; initiating in institutions, 153–162; Morning
Star’s use of self-management, 212–218; posting online
business plans, 238–239;
promoting “employees first,
customers second”, 236;
protecting customers from incompetent, 111–112;
reconstructing philosophy of,
254; reinventing around zero-trauma change, 120; removing drudgery from work, 249; retooling for open world model, 254; serving higher purpose, 246; sharing responsibility of future direction, 249; strengthening right-brain thinking for, 254; Weber’s view on, 184–185, 186.
See also Collaborative decision-making; Moonshots;
Self-management
Management Lab, 246
Managers: adapting to self-management, 225–226, 231; coordination provided by, 209–210; encouraging all to be, 227; encouraging debate and dialog, 123–124, 175, 196, 198, 252; inspiring leaps of imagination, 248; open evaluations of, 238; reinventing means of control, 247–248; strengthening right-brain thinking for, 254; working with strategic variety, 124–125

Markets: creating for resources, 250; hierarchies vs., 209–210; including natural dynamic hierarchy within, 227–229

Marnoch, Scott, 223

Maslow, Abraham, 140, 195

McGregor, Douglas, 186, 189, 195

McKinsey & Company, 29, 123, 246

Media: emerging trends in streaming video, 66; profitability of iTunes, 74

Medicine, 101–102

Mediocrity, 174–175

Mentors, 252

Microsoft, 48, 113, 188

Mission: inspiration of Negroponte’s, 244–245; keeping paramount, 100; linking to adaptability, 102; questioning habits defeating, 101–102

Mission-Shaped Communities (MSCs), 153–162

Mitigating change, 99

Money: mercenary creed of bankers, 26–27; Roosevelt’s view on bankers and, 27; valuing prudence and thrift, 25–26

Mooney, James, 171

Moonshots: about, 245–246; creating markets for resources, 250; dedicating management to higher purpose, 246; democracy of managerial information, 252; depoliticizing decision making, 251; destructuring and disaggregating organizations, 250; embedding new ethos in organizations, 246–247; enabling communities of passion, 248–249; encouraging dissent, 252; expanding and exploiting diversity, 248; expanding autonomy, 251–252; harnessing power of evolution, 249–250; humanizing business, 247; importance of goals in, 255–257; incentives for creating sustained wealth, 253; increasing trust, 247; inspiring imagination, 248; leaders as mentors and mobilizers, 252; reconstructing management philosophy, 254; reinventing means of control, 247–248; removing drudgery from work, 249; sharing responsibility of future direction, 249; strengthening right-brain thinking, 254; using open world model, 254

Morning Star, 190, 210–232

Mortgages, 12

Motorola, 86

Mubarak, Hosni, 23

Mulally, Alan, 51

Multiplying: church’s impact on community, 56; funding for new initiatives, 127–128; passion with Web, 176–177

MyBlueprint, 238–239

N

National Academy of Engineering, 245

National Bureau of Economic Research, 41

Nayar, Vineet, 233–240

Negroponte, Nick, 244–245

New York Times, The, 103

New Yorker, 35–36

Nokia: competition with Apple, 74, 103, 139–140; expansion of, 86–87; facing need to change, 121

Novartis, 48
Index

O
One Laptop per Child, 244
O’Neal, Stan, 10
Oracle, 112
Organizations: building around communities of passion, 153–162; bureaucratic, 184, 186; competition in flat, 224; defined, 150; destructuring and disaggregating, 250; developing human-centered, 150–151; embedding new values in, 130–131, 246–247; function of policy within, 163–164, 169; overcontrolled and wrongly controlled, 188–189; policies and rules within, 163–164; releasing latent talents in, 162; sharing responsibility of future direction, 249
Ortberg, John, 24
Osborne, “Ozzie”, 73

P
Page, Larry, 115, 245
Passion: building organizations with, 153–162; control vs., 187–188; cultivating for customers, 168; enabling communities of, 248–249; hierarchy of human capabilities and, 140–142; multiplying with Web, 176–177; required for innovation, 77–78, 80. See also Mission Pay-as-you-go approach to life, 25–26
Performance measurement: developing holistic, 253; employee peer reviews and, 201–202, 204, 221–222; HCLT’s open evaluations, 238–239; using employee, 151, 201–202, 204, 221–222
Perry, William, 245
Personal mission statement, 212–213, 230
Policy: changing leaders to change, 87–88; function of organizational, 163–164, 169; revamping models of, 107–108; vetoing by Web users, 175
Power: distributing, 251–252; harnessing evolution’s, 249–250; sharing vs. hoarding, 174
Price, Chuck, 20
Procter & Gamble, 51, 68
Productivity, 48–49
Products: Apple’s innovative, 76–77; being unreasonable in innovation, 78–79, 80; decoupling company from specific, 129–130; developing detail-oriented, 79, 80; exceeding customer expectations, 78, 80; leading category for, 78, 80; passion required for innovative, 77–78, 80; providing innovative retail environment for, 79–80; superseded strategies in, 105–106
Prosperity, 42
Prudence, 4, 7

R
Radicalism of the American Revolution, The (Wood), 10
Rainer, Tom and Sam, 94
Rationalizing change, 99
Recognition, 175
Regert, Rodney, 213
Regulation: ineffectiveness of banking industry, 18, 19
Religion: changing organization, not beliefs, 97–98; conflicting ideologies in Christian, 182; delivery model for services, 97; entropy in operating models, 91–98, 102; initiating change in institutions, 153–162; institutionalized leadership of, 96–97; maintaining mission in, 100–101; marginal status of, 93–94; secular trends challenging, 94
Replicated strategies, 105
Research in Motion, 87
Revamping policy models, 107–108
Reverse accountability, 234
Rewards: aligning to contribution, 151; basing on peer reviews, 201–202, 204, 221–222; found in self-management model, 217–218; intrinsic, 175; sustaining wealth creation with, 253
Rocket innovators, 47–48
Roosevelt, Franklin, 27
Rosenfeld, Irene, 147
Salesforce.com, 65, 128
Samsung, 48
Sarbanes-Oxley Act, 6
Schmidt, Eric, 33, 125
Sears, Roebuck & Company, 172
Sebrle, Roman, 46
Securitization, 11
Sharing power: hoarding vs., 174; sharing information with employees, 252
Shirkey, Clay, 176
Simeon, Charles, 182
Sisodia, Raj, 139
Size: Google’s team, 126; of MSC groups, 153–162
Sloan, Alfred, 171
Smart Service Desk, 237–238
Smith, Adam, 20–21
Social innovation: basing business on core values, 33–34; changes with social networking, 87, 172–173
Social Investment Forum Foundation, 6
Socrates, 38
Sony, 74
Southwest Airlines, 47, 105
Sponsors, 199
Starbucks, 47, 48
Stewardship: components of, 3–4; design aligned with, 57; evaluating and nurturing personal, 7–8
Stewart, Justice Potter, 55
Stibbe, Mark, 155, 159, 161
Strategy Analytics, 138, 139
Stumpf, Bill, 56
Subsidies, 116
Sugarman, Andrew, 68
Summit Against Violent Extremism (SAVE), 33
Sun Microsystems, 112
Superseded strategies, 105–106
Surprise and innovation, 78, 80
Tearfund, 154
Technogym, 56
Technology: building third-party developers for, 77; change in mobile phone business and, 86–87; innovations fusing of hardware and software, 76; mastering array of, 76
Tennant Snyder, Nancy, 53
Terpeluk, Paul, 224
Theory of Moral Sentiments, The (Smith), 21
Theory X, 186–187
Theory Y, 186–187, 189
Thinking: defensive, 107; design, 58; encouraging dialectic, 123–124; like engineer, feeling like artist, 79–80; strengthening right-brain, 254
Three-legged stool, 200
Toshiba, 48
Towers Perrin (Towers Watson), 138, 139, 149
Toyota, 129
Trade-offs, 203, 253
Transparency: decision making, 151; HCLT’s commitment to, 236; in self-managing companies, 219
Travel and Leisure magazine, 59
Trends: challenges to religion by secular, 94; finding emerging, 65–67, 121–122; responding to emerging, 66–67
Trust: building foundation of, 198; empowering others as sign of, 169; between individuals and institutions, 5–6, 145–148; in overcontrolled and wrongly controlled organizations, 188–189; reducing fear, increasing, 247
U
United Airlines, 55, 58, 80–81
Unleashing Innovation (Snyder), 53
U.S. banking crisis: complexity of mortgages in, 12; corporate characteristics seen in, 15–18; credit default swaps, 12; factors in, 9–11; finding roots of moral decay, 19–20; lack of values culminating in, 13–15; leveraging from mortgage-backed securities, 12–13; mercenary creed of bankers, 26–27; role of low borrowing costs in, 11; securitization and subprime lending risks, 11
U.S. National Science Foundation, 245
U.S. Steel, 172
U.S. Supreme Court, 55
V
Value zone for HCLT, 235
Values: adopting resilience-friendly, 130–133; banking crisis and lack of, 13–15; basing business on social innovation, 33–34; considering shortcomings of capitalism, 21–23; embracing good, just, and beautiful, 38; exercising moral courage, 23–24; fearless moral inventory of, 24; finding roots of moral decay, 19–20; holding leaders accountable for, 4–5; lapses during U.S. banking crisis, 18–19; mercenary creed of bankers, 26–27; need to examine, x; pay-as-you-go approach to life, 25–26; revolution in, 6; rewarded and reinforced, 203–204; toxic assumptions about business’, 32
Venkataswamy, Dr. Govindappa, 101
Venter, J. Craig, 245
Vernon, Blair, 165–169
Video media, 66
Virgin America, 58–59
Vizio, 48–49
W
Wall Street Journal, 46
Wealth of Nations, The (Smith), 20
Web: dramatic changes initiated via, 172–177; HCLT’s U&I site, 236–237; multiplying passion with, 176–177; ownership by users, 175; resilience-friendly values of, 131–133; servant leaders on, 174
Welch, Jack, 104
Whirlpool, 52–53
Whole Foods Market, 37, 153
Williams, Drew, 154–162
Williamson, Oliver, 209
Willow Creek Community Church, 91–92, 93, 100–101
Wilson, Charles, 33

W.L. Gore & Associates, 126, 190, 193–205
Wood, Gordon, 10
Work: characteristics on online, 72–175

Yang, Jerry, 112