ActiveBeta custom indexes, 179–182
  selection universe, 179–180
  universe coverage, 180–182
ActiveBeta custom solutions, 183–194
  signal specification, 183–184
ActiveBeta Framework, 93, 99–100
  investment styles, 113
  main tenets of, 99–100
ActiveBeta Index applications, 155–175
  investment vehicles, 175
  performance benchmarking, 169–172
  style investing framework, 155
ActiveBeta Index construction methodology, 103–122 about, 103
  achieving objectives, 114–120
ActiveBeta Index construction process example, 120–122 conflicting objectives, 108–110 construction process, 110–112 investment process indexes, 104–105
  objectives of investment process indexes, 105–108
  vs. other public style indexes, 112–114 transparency, understanding, and rationale, 110
ActiveBeta Index construction process overview, 123–126
ActiveBeta Index exposures, 149–153 country weights, 151–153 sector/industry active weights, 151
ActiveBeta Index performance detailed analysis, 127–149 active return maximum drawdown, 132 active risk, 131
  after-cost active returns, 127, 129, 130, 131 after-cost information ratios, 132 comparison with value and growth indexes, 127 consistency of active returns, 136–149 developed markets world, 144–145
  efficiency of ActiveBeta MVI, 135–136
  Europe excluding the U.K., 141–143
  index turnover, 133
  Japan, 143–144
  nondomestic composite indexes, 145–148
  performance in up and down markets, 133–135
  relative return analysis, 127
  total return analysis, 135
  United Kingdom, 141–143
  U.S. large cap, 136–140
  U.S. small cap, 140–141
  value vs. momentum active return, 148–149
ActiveBeta Index performance highlights, 126–127
ActiveBeta Momentum and Value Index (MVI), 94, 112, 113, 119, 124
ActiveBeta Momentum and Value Portfolio (MVP), 187
ActiveBeta perspective, 93–94
Active Betas, 24, 93, 165 allocating to, 165–169
Active Betas, alternative solutions for capturing, 179–197 traditional active management, 194–197
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Active Betas, introduction to, 21–28</th>
<th>Behavioral finance, 13</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>behavior of return drivers, 28</td>
<td>Benchmark misfit, 109, 180, 182</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>defining, 21–24</td>
<td>Beta coefficient, 52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>equity returns, identifying the drivers of, 24–26</td>
<td>Bogle, John, 8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>verification, 26–28</td>
<td>Boston Personal Property Trust, 5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ActiveBeta style quadrants, 166</td>
<td>Buffers, 117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ActiveBeta World Indexes, 144</td>
<td>“Can Stock Market Forecasters Forecast?” (Cowles), 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active management, 164</td>
<td>Capital asset pricing model (CAPM), 7, 11–12</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>vs. passive management, 9</td>
<td>one-factor, 12, 18</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>styles, 159</td>
<td>Cash flow discount models, 24–25</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>traditional, 194–197</td>
<td>“Challenge to Judgment” (Samuelson), 7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active managers</td>
<td>Chan, Louis K.C., 92, 93, 94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>investment interests of, 195</td>
<td>Change in price and change in valuation, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>performance analysis, 160–164</td>
<td>Clarke, Roger, 184</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active returns, 126</td>
<td>Cognitive biases, 91</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>distribution chart, 174</td>
<td>Comparison with value and growth indexes, 127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>maximum drawdown, 132</td>
<td>Concentrated markets, 194</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>systematic sources of, 23</td>
<td>Concentration in individual securities, 189</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active return source, momentum vs. value, 148</td>
<td>Conflicting objectives, 108–110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active risk, 131, 181</td>
<td>reflective vs. coverage, 109–110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Active risk and return, 135</td>
<td>reflective vs. investability, 108–109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adjusting for implementation costs, 125–126</td>
<td>reflective vs. low-cost, 109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After-cost active returns, 127, 129, 130, 131, 189</td>
<td>reflective vs. replicability, 108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>stability of, 136</td>
<td>Conservatism, 94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>After-cost information ratios, 132, 189</td>
<td>Consistency of active returns, 136–149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alpha, pure, 24, 164, 165</td>
<td>Construction methodology</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alpha-beta return separation, 164–169</td>
<td>characteristics derived from, 181</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>American National Bank, 8</td>
<td>objectives, 114–120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analysis methodology, 29–31</td>
<td>requirements, 107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyst earnings expectations, 82–84</td>
<td>Construction methodology vs. other public style indexes, 112–114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyst expectation changes trend, 39–43</td>
<td>index design, 113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyst growth expectation and future change in growth expectation, 63</td>
<td>rebalancing frequency, 114</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Analyst long-term growth expectation mean reversion, 62–66</td>
<td>specification of styles, 113</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anchoring and adjustment behavior, 92</td>
<td>Construction process, 110–112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Anomalies, theoretical explanations of, 13–14</td>
<td>Core index, 17, 175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Arbitrage, 13</td>
<td>Core investment process, 106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Asset allocation, 165–169</td>
<td>Core managers, 105, 106, 113, 115, 162, 164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bachelier, Louis, 7</td>
<td>Correlation coefficients, 32, 71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Banz, Rolf, 12</td>
<td>and regression analysis, 51–52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Barra, 16</td>
<td>Counter-cyclical nature of momentum and value excess returns, 96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Basu, Sanjoy, 12, 23, 89</td>
<td>Country weights, 151–153</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Batterymarch Financial Management, 8</td>
<td>Cowles, Alfred, 6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Behavioral biases, 91, 92–93, 94</td>
<td>Cowles Commission, 6</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Index

Current level of valuation, 66 and forward change in valuation, 66–67 and forward price change, 70
Current P/E ratios and past realized earnings growth, 92
Current valuation (P/E ratios) and long-term growth expectation, 74
Cyclicality of momentum and value returns, 95
De Bondt, Werner, 92
Defining market segments and composites, 123–124
De Silva, Harinda, 184
Developed markets world, 144–145
Discount rate, 60
Distribution tails, 140
Diversification, 139 benefits of, 99, 143 across momentum and value, 131 within momentum and value, 98, 131
Dot-com bubble, 133
Dow, Charles, 3
Dow Jones, 16
Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA), 4, 103
Downside risk, 175
Earnings growth:
  reversion to the mean of, 149
  systematic behavior of, 93
Earnings predictability risk, 96
  “Economic Role of the Investment Company, The” (Bogle), 8
Efficiency of ActiveBeta MVI, 135–136
Efficient market hypothesis (EMH), 7, 12 Efficient markets, 90 rational compensation for risk argument, 90
Empirical experience vs. financial theories, 11–18
Equity portfolio components, 165
Equity returns, identifying the drivers change in expectation, 25 change in valuation, 25–26
Equity style indexes:
  empirical experience vs. financial theories, 11–18
  equity styles establishment, 14–16 methodology, 16 pitfalls, 17
  theoretical explanations of anomalies, 13–14
Estimation risk, 82
Europe, 133
Europe excluding U.K. market universe, 31, 72, 141–143, 167, 188
Europe market universe, 31, 45, 124, 125, 146, 149
Ex-ante hypothesis, 12
Ex-ante risk investments, 96, 98
Explaining momentum and value active returns
  ActiveBeta perspective, 93–94
  behavioral explanations, 91–93
  rational compensation for risk, 90–91
Fama, Eugene, 7, 15, 30, 89, 90, 91, 155
Fama-French Factor performance, 149
Fama-French momentum and value factors, 95
Fama-French three-factor model, 15
Financial theories vs. empirical experience, 11–18
First Index Investment Trust, 8
Forecasting change in valuation, 54–60
Forward change in valuation and current level of valuation, 66–67
Fouse, William, 8
Fractile analysis, 30
Frank Russell Company, 16
French, Kenneth, 15, 89–90, 91, 155
Fundamental law of active management, 184–185
Future change in growth expectation and analyst growth expectation, 63
Great Depression, 6
Grinold, Richard, 185 Growth forms of, 16
  vs. momentum, 104
  as nonvalue, 156
  use of, 17
Growth-adjusted stock risk premium, 94
Growth and value, exposures to, 162
Growth as investment style, 156–157
Growth indexes, 16, 175
Growth managers, 105, 113, 162, 164
INDEX

Growth prospects and valuation ratios, 62
Growth style redefined as momentum, 157–159

Heuristics in investment decision making, 91

Implementation costs, 22
Inappropriate risks, 195
Index construction, 113, 180
Indices and mutual funds, for the public, 8–9 and passive mutual funds, 7–8
Indexing, early days of, 3–5
Index objectives, 103
Index replication, 107
Index tracking, 8
Index turnover, 133
Index weighting, 107
Individual securities, concentration in, 189
Inefficient markets, 90
Informationally efficient capture of Active Betas, 184–194
Information coefficient, 185
Information ratio (IR), 126, 185
Institutional Brokers’ Estimate System (IBES), 26
Global Aggregates database, 32
Investable indexes, 107
Investment decision making heuristics, 91
Investment horizon, 70–74, 87
Investment process indexes, 104–105
Investment styles, 104
Investment vehicles, 175

Japan, 73, 133, 135, 143–144
positive serial correlations, 51
Japan market universe, 31, 39–42, 47, 54, 86, 124, 167, 188, 189
Jegadeesh, Narasimhan, 23, 90
Johnson, Edward C., III, 9
Journal of Portfolio Management, 7

Kahneman, Daniel, 91
Karceski, Jason, 92
Lakonishok, Josef, 89, 91, 92, 94
Linear regression, 52
Long horizon strategies, 74, 149, 173
vs. short horizon strategies, 96

Long-only constraint, 188
Long-term earnings expectation and value, 53–80 decomposing value returns, 76–79 investment horizon of value strategies, 70–74 relationships studied, 53–70
stock risk premium implications, 74–76
Long-term growth, 62, 74
Low-cost indexes, 107

MacBeth, James D., 30
Maintenance rules, 180
Malkiel, Burton, 7
Management fees, 171
Manager classification, 15–16
Market benchmarking. See Performance benchmarking Market beta, 136, 165, 168
Market capitalization weighting, 167
Market declines, 133, 135
Market indexes and index funds, history of, 3–10 early days of indexing, 3–5 indexes and passive mutual funds, 7–8 mutual fund industry, 5–6
public indexes and mutual funds, 8–9
Markowitz, Harry, 7
Massachusetts Investors (MFS), 5
McQuown, John, 8
Mean reversion. See Reversion to the mean
Momentum
active returns, 90, 93
vs. growth, 104 growth investment style as, 114 relative returns, 21 and systematic trending behavior, 84 and value factor portfolios, 96
vs. value as source of active return, 148
Momentum, value, and risk aversion, 93–99
ActiveBeta Framework, 99–100
realizing the payoff to risk, 96–98 Momentum and value: combined, 132 diversification across, 131 Momentum returns:
components of, 49
decomposing, 48–51
Momentum signal, 183
Index

Momentum strategies passive implementation, 110
Monthly active returns, 139
Monthly rebalancing, 114, 115
Multiple regression, 51
Mutual fund industry, 5–6
Myopic extrapolation, 93

Negative payoffs, 157
No-load funds, 9
Nondomestic composite indexes, 145–148
Number of independent securities, 185

Objectives of investment process indexes, 105–108
reflective of an investment process, 106–107 representative of the opportunity set of a style, 105–106 wide-scale usability, 107–108
Open-end mutual funds origins, 6
Ordinal ranking, 52

Passive investments, 107
Passive management vs. active management, 9
Past realized earnings growth and current P/E ratios, 92
Payoff to risk, 96–98
Performance attribution, 160–164
Performance benchmarking, 169–172, 195
Performance comparison, 124–125
Performance drag, 167
Performance in up and down markets, 133–135
Persistence of the systematic sources of active equity returns, 89–94
Portfolio return decomposition, 171, 172
Portfolio structuring, 164–169 asset allocation, 165–169
Price changes drivers, 77
Price-earnings (P/E) ratios, 12, 25–26, 54
Price momentum and short-term earnings expectation. See Short-term earnings expectation and price momentum
Price momentum change and analyst expectation, 32–39
Price momentum trends, 43–48
Price returns systematic predictor, 76

Pricing and persistence of systematic sources of active equity returns, 81–100 momentum, value, and risk aversion, 93–99
persistence of the systematic sources of active equity returns, 89–94 pricing of the systematic sources of active equity returns, 81–89
Pricing of the systematic behavior of analyst earnings expectations, 84–89
Public style indexes construction comparison, 112–114
Pure alpha, 24, 164, 165
Putnam Investors A, 6
Quintile analysis, 64, 65, 72

Random Walk Down Wall Street, A (Malkiel), 7
Rank correlation coefficient, 30
Rational compensation for risk, 90–91
Rebalancing frequency, 114
Reflective of an investment process, 106–107, 115
vs. coverage, 109–110, 119
vs. investability, 108–109
vs. low-cost, 109, 116–118
vs. replicability, 108
Regression analysis and correlation coefficient, 51–52
Relationships studied, 31–48, 53–70
analyst long-term growth expectation mean reverts, 62–66 change in analyst expectation trends, 39–43 change in price momentum and analyst expectation, 32–39
forecasting change in valuation, 54–60
price momentum trends, 43–48
reversion to the mean, 66–70
Relative return analysis, 127
Representative objective, 106
Return-based style analysis, 161
Return decomposition analysis, 89
Returns: sources of, 195 stability, 126
Returns-based style analysis methodology, 14
INDEX

Reversion to the mean, 63, 65, 93, 144
of earnings growth, 149 tendency, 136–157, 160
and valuation ratios, 69
Rising markets, 133, 135
Risk aversion, 91
of investors, 94, 96, 133, 138
Risk-based explanations for value, 92
Risk premium, 13, 61, 98
Risks, 175
considerations, 149 factors, 27
inappropriate, 195
R-squared statistic, 52
Russell 1000 Index, 109
Russell 2000 Index, 5
S&P 500 Stock Index, 5
Samsonite Company, 8
Samuelson, Paul, 7
Sector/industry active weights, 151
Security active weights, 151
Selection universe, 179–180
Sharpe, William, 7, 14, 161
Sharpe ratios, 22, 135, 183
Shleifer, Andrei, 89, 91, 94
Short-horizon strategies, 133, 173
vs. long-horizon strategies, 96
Short-term earnings expectation and price
momentum, 29–52
analysis methodology, 29–31
decomposing momentum returns, 48–51 regression analysis and correlation coefficient, 51–52
relationships studied, 31–48
Signal specification, 183–184
Size (market capitalization), 21
Size effect, 12, 13–14
Spearman rank correlation coefficient, 29, 52
Stability of after-cost active returns, 136
Standard & Poor’s, 5, 16
Stock risk premiums (SRP) growth-adjusted, 94 implications, 74–76
Stock-specific risk, 62
Style choices, 14
Style indexes, 155
objectives of, 104
Style investing framework, 155
active manager performance analysis, 160–164
growth as investment style, 156–157
growth style redefined as momentum, 157–159
Style specification, 113 principles of, 105–106
Systematic behavior of earnings, 23, 89, 94
timing of, 82
Systematic predictor of price returns, 76
Systematic sources of active returns, 23 Systematic trending behavior and momentum, 84
Thaler, Richard, 91, 92
Thorley, Steven, 184
Three-factor model, 155
Titman, Sheridan, 23, 90
Total return analysis, 135
Total return and risk characteristics, 135, 168
Tracking error, 131, 175
Transfer coefficient (TC), 117, 184–185, 187
Transparency, 110, 123
Tversky, Amos, 91
United Kingdom, 72, 73, 133, 151
market universe, 54, 124, 141–143, 149, 188 United States, 133, 140
market universe, 31, 72, 86, 124
Univariate regression, 51, 52
Universe coverage, 126–127, 151, 180–182
U.S. large cap, 136–140, 149, 167
U.S. small cap, 140–141
Valuation effects, 13–14 Valuation ratios and growth prospects, 62 and reversion to the mean, 69
stock-specific risk, 62
Value active returns, 90, 93, 148
Value effect, 23
Value managers, 105, 162, 164
Value mean reverts, 66–70
Value returns decomposition, 76–79
Index

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Term</th>
<th>Page(s)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Value signal, 183</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Value stocks, 82</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>risk of, 91</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Value style indexes, 16</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Value vs. momentum active return, 148–149</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vanguard 500 Index Investor, 9</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vanguard S&amp;P 500 Index Fund, 8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vishny, Robert W., 89, 91, 94</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wells Fargo Bank, 8</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Westpeak Global Advisors, 179, 187</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wilshire 5000 Index, 5, 103</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Wilshire Associates, 16</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World ex-Europe universe, 145</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World ex-Japan universe, 145</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>World ex-North America universe, 145</td>
<td></td>
</tr> </tbody>
</table>