Index

acceptance
  exercise in PD, 134–135
  training in SAD, 235
  training in social phobia, 73–74
  lack of, 12
  promoting, 41, 47–48
  promoting in PD, 131–135
  promoting in SAD, 234
  promoting in SM, 270–273
  promoting in social phobia, 72–74 promotion in agoraphobia, 201–206
  promotion in GAD, 168–170

affect bridge
  in GAD, 159–160
  technique, 38
  with agoraphobia, 195–198
  with PD, 123–124
  with SAD, 226

agoraphobia
  causes of, 178–181
  DSM-V diagnostic criteria for, 177–178
  prevalence of, 178
  treatment of, 181–183

behavior therapy contingency management in
    SM, 257–258
  positive reinforcement in
    SM, 259
  self-modelling in SM, 259 shaping in SM, 258
  stimulus fading in SM, 258–259 behavioural experiments in PD, 121–122

case formulation
  in SM, 247
  clinical assessment, 19 eight-step cognitive hypnotherapy
    case formulation, 18

  catalepsy
    body, 26
    eye, 26

  Cognitive-behavioural therapies (CBT), 16, 34–36
    for agoraphobia, 194–195
    for SM, 259–261
    with GAD, 152–159
    with PD, 115–112
Cognitive-behavioural therapies (CBT) (cont’d)
with SAD, 221–222
with social phobia, 66
with specific phobia, 93–94 cognitive restructuring in GAD, 153–156 cognitive restructuring in PD, 117–121 problem-solving in GAD, 158–159 pros and cons of catastrophic cognitions, 121 psychoeducation about, 116 psychoeducation in GAD, 152–153 psychoeducation in SAD, 214 replacing catastrophic cognitions with realistic thinking, 122 self-monitoring in, 116 self-monitoring in GAD, 153 third-wave, 16
clenched fist technique in agoraphobia, 189–190
in GAD, 150–151
in PD, 114–115
in SAD, 219–220
in SM, 252–253
in social phobia, 64–65
cogitation, 5
cognitive distancing strategies in GAD, 167–168 strategies PD, 133
cognitive distortions, characteristics of, 4–5 cognitive hypnotherapy (CH) as an assimilative model of psychotherapy, 16 as an integrative therapy, 15
for agoraphobia, 184–206
for anxiety disorders, 16, 30
GAD, 146–175
SAD, 213–233
SM, 246–261
effectiveness of, 15–16
detoxification of anxiety in agoraphobia, 198–201 of SAD, 227–229
SM, 263–268
and worry in GAD, 160–162
of PD, 124
distancing, cognitive distancing in PD, 133 downward arrow technique in PD, 120 ego-strengthening in agoraphobia, 186
in GAD, 148
in PD, 111–112
in SAD, 216
in SM, 250
in social phobia, 61
in specific phobia, 86
principles of ego-strengthening, 26 expansion of awareness in GAD, 148–150
in PD, 112
in agoraphobia, 187–188
in SAD, 216–217
in SM, 250–251
in social phobia, 61–63
in specific phobia, 86–87
training (EAT), 27
exposure therapy disadvantages of in vivo exposure therapy, 33–34 exposure exercises, 135–137 exposure exercises in GAD, 170–171
in PD, 112–114
gradual exposure in vivo, 33 gradual in vivo exposure in agoraphobia, 193–194 gradual in vivo exposure in SAD, 223–225 gradual in vivo exposure in SM, 257 gradual in vivo exposure in specific phobia, 93 hypnotic imaginal exposure (HIE), 34 refusal in exposure therapy, 93 subjective units of distress/discomfort (SUD), 31–33 in vivo exposure therapy, 31 generalized anxiety disorder (GAD)
causes of, 144
contrast avoidance model of, 144
DSM-V diagnostic criteria for PD, 142–143
prevalence of, 143
treatment of, 144–146
Gestalt therapy empty chair dialogue, 39–40 empty chair technique with GAD, 163–165 empty chair technique with SAD, 230–232 empty chair technique with SM, 266–268 empty chair technique with specific phobia, 102 gratitude expressing in PD, 138
education, 49
education and training in SAD, 234–235
hypnotherapy, 50
training, 49
training in social phobia, 72–74
promoting in PD, 131
promoting in SAD, 234
promoting in SM, 270–273
promotion in agoraphobia, 201–206
promotion in GAD, 173–174
strategies for expressing, 48
hypnotherapy
acceptance and gratitude hypnosis in agoraphobia, 204 acceptance and gratitude for social phobia, 74–75 acceptance and gratitude in SAD, 235–236 acceptance and gratitude in SM, 272–273 demonstration of power of mind over body, 26, 85 demonstration of power of mind over body in agoraphobia, 185–186 demonstration of power of mind over body in GAD, 147 demonstration of power of mind over body in SAD, 215–216 demonstration of power of mind over body in SM, 249–250 hypnosis for relaxation, 21–25 for eliciting and healing self-wounds, 37–41 for symptom management, 21 for symptom management in specific phobia, 84–94 modulating and controlling symptoms, 27–29 modulating symptoms of PD, 114 Relaxation with Counting Method, 25 imaginal exposure therapy in agoraphobia, 188–189
in SAD, 217–219
in SM, 254–255
in specific phobia, 87–88
in GAD, 149–150
with social phobia, 62–63
integrative psychotherapy, integrated therapy, 14 Mind, theories of mind, 41–43 mind-body-heart integration breathing with your heart in agoraphobia, 205–206 mind-body-heart integration (cont’d) breathing with your heart in social phobia, 76–77 heart education in social phobia, 76
  in SAD, 237–238
  in SM, 273–275
  in social phobia, 76–77
mindfulness and acceptance-based treatments (AMBT) awareness training in GAD, 166–167 clarifying values, 48 cognitive distancing strategies, 47 effectiveness on AMBT with anxiety disorders, 45–46 mindful hypnosis in GAD, 166–167 mindfulness hypnosis in PD, 132–133 rationale for AMBT with anxiety disorders, 43–50 strategies for cultivating awareness, 46 strategies for cultivating awareness in PD, 131–132 negative self-hypnosis (NHS) and anxiety disorders, 4, 29 and cogitation, 7, 15
  and self-endangerment, 8
panic disorder (PD)
  causes of, 106–108
  CH for, 109–139
  DSM-V diagnostic criteria for, 105
  prevalence of, 106
  treatment of, 108–109
pathological worry definition of worry, 6
  excessive or unrealistic worry, 6 worry process, 6
post-hypnotic suggestion (PHS) countering NSH, 30
  in agoraphobia, 191
  in GAD, 151–152
  in PD, 115
  in SAD, 220–221
psychophysiological coherence (PC) breathing with your heart technique, 50–52 nurturing in GAD, 174–175
  nurturing in PD, 138–139 nurturing in SAD, 237–238
reframing, meaning of anxiety in specific phobia relaxation harmful effects of, 22
  hypnotic, 25
  imagery training, 25
  relaxation-induced anxiety (RIA), 22–25 relaxation-induced panic (RIP), 22–25
  training, 21
  training for agoraphobia, 184–185 training for SAD, 215
  training in GAD, 146–147
  training in PD, 110–111
  training in SM, 248
  training in specific phobia, 84–85
  response, 21
rumination
  definition of excessive worry, 6
  definition of, 5
  response styles theory of depression, 5
selective mutism (SM)
  causes of, 244–245
  DSM-V diagnostic criteria for, 242
  prevalence of, 243–244
  treatment of, 245–246
self-hypnosis
  main goals of, 29
  CD, 29
  in SM, 251–252
  training in agoraphobia, 189–190
Index

training in GAD, 150
training in PD, 114
training in SAD, 220
training in specific phobia, 88–89
training with social phobia, 64 self-views differentiating between accurate and inaccurate self-views in GAD, 162–165 differentiating between accurate and inaccurate self-views in PD, 130 separation anxiety disorder (SAD)
causes of, 211–212
DSM-V diagnostic criteria for, 209–210
prevalence of, 210
in adults, 232–238
treatment of, 212–213
social anxiety disorder or social phobia causes of social phobia, 57
CH for social phobia, 59–77
DSM-V diagnostic criteria, 55–56 prevalence of social phobia, 56 relaxation training for social phobia, 59 treatment of social phobia, 58–59 somatic symptoms, coping with somatic symptoms in SAD, 219–220 specific phobia
causes of, 81–83
DSM-V diagnostic criteria of, 80
prevalence of, 80–81
treatments of, 83–84
split screen
technique, 40
technique with agoraphobia, 198–201 technique with GAD, 160–162 technique with PD, 124–130 technique with SAD, 227–229 technique with SM, 263–266 technique with social phobia, 68–71 technique with specific phobia, 97–102 symptom management
hypnotherapy for, 21
in GAD, 150–159
syncretic cognition
definition of, 27–28, 39
in SM, 251
systematic desensitization (SD)
HASD in agoraphobia, 192–193
HASD in specific phobia, 91–92
HASD with SAD, 223
HASD with SM, 255–257
hypothesis-aided systematic desensitization (HASD), 31–33 therapeutic alliance
negotiation of trust, 20
in SM, 247
third-wave CBT
changing significance of symptoms, 28 metacognitive beliefs, 28–29 prevention of fear of fear, 28 role of inner experience in therapy, 28, 90 tolerating painful realities, behavioural rehearsal, 40–41 unconscious evidence for unconscious mental processing, 8–10 processing in anxiety disorders, 8 uncovering work, 19
values
clarifying values in PD, 137–138 strategies for clarifying values in GAD, 172–173 Wolfé’s Focusing Technique (WFT)
uncovering implicit meaning, 19, 38 worry, worry behavior control in GAD, 157–158 wounded self accessing and healing in agoraphobia, 195–201 wounded self (cont’d)
accessing and healing in GAD, 159–165 accessing and healing in PD, 122–131 accessing, 37
accessing in social phobia, 67–68 accessing in specific phobia, 94–97 eliciting of in SM, 262–263 healing, 37–41

healing in SAD, 225–232 healing in SM, 262–270
healing in social phobia, 67–72 healing in specific phobia, 94–103 hypnotic exploration technique (HET), 38 origins of self-wounds, 2 self-wounds, 1
self-wounds model of anxiety disorders (SMAD), 2–4, 11–12