Index

Aarts, H., 185
Ackerman, D., 42
action and perception, 28–9, 32, 95–6
Adamson, Glenn, 86, 90
Adenzato, Mauro, 5 aesthetics
and difference in East Java, 141
and habitus, 137–8
affordance of earth, 95–6 agniology, 168
air, 115, 116, 117–18, 124–7, 130 ‘analytic’ mode of hearing, 48–9 Anderson, Benedict, 133, 139 anthropology of knowledge, 2–7, 17–18, 167, 179, 183–91 see also knowledge and anthropology apprenticeship and anthropology, 2, 7–9, 10, 62 institutional training and understandings of skill, 86–7, 93, 104, 151 ardhanari statues in Java, 133, 136 Aristotle, 1
assessment and learning
Central Slovak lace-makers’ monitoring of work, 79 Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices, 61, 66–9, 73
skill-based assessment, 67–9, 73, 81
visual assessment and mat-weaving in India, 155, 161
Astuti, Rita, 6
Atran, Scott, 3
Augustine, St, 116
auscultation training, 13, 39–57 difficulties, 56–7
hearing impairment and training, 53–5 heart sounds and physiology, 42–4 obsolescence of stethoscope, 55–6 Bachelard, Gaston, 125, 129
‘background corrections’ and fluency, 72–3
Barth, Frederick, 6–7
Bekkering, H., 189–90
Bekker, Howard, 9
Bekker, H., 189–90
Bernstein, N.A., 72–3
Besnier, Niko, 187
bhesan selection in Javanese marriage, 145 biological constitution and ability to master skills, 175 and enculturation, 22–3, 26, 32–3, 34 and individualism of learning, 11 see also body
Bloch, Maurice, 11, 62, 93
blood as breast milk in East Java, 146–7 body ‘bodily ignorance’, 175–6, 180 bodily states and cognition, 184–6 in environment, 116
and practice in East Java, 143–4 ‘somatic modes of attention’, 140, 148 walking and drawing, 121–2 see also biological constitution; ‘body hexis’; ‘embodied cognition’ and communication; embodied knowledge ‘body hexis’, 41, 60, 137–9 beyond consciousness, 135, 137, 144 definition, 137
and semiotic functions of body, 138–9 Bourdieu, Pierre, 24–5
see also habitus
Boyer, Pascal, 3
brain modularity, 32
see also neuroscience
Brazil
   mediums and possession, 186–9 see also capoeira and imitative learning breast-feeding beliefs in East Java, 146–7
broussard in French colonial Africa, 178 Briner, Jerome, 26 building crafts and embodied knowledge, 6 embodied cognition and communication, 7–9, 95–113
on-site learning in Mali and Yemen, 7, 8, 9, 95
Bunn, S., 69–70
Burrows, L., 185
Byrne, Richard, 26

capoeira and imitative learning, 6, 13, 21–36 malícia quality and acquisition, 30–1 virtuoso imitation, 23–4, 31
cardiac ultrasound, 55–6
Careri, Francesco, 121
Carey, David, 106
Carsten, Janet, 147
Central Slovakia see lace-makers in Central Slovakia
Centre for Folk Art Production (Slovakia), 76–7, 84, 87
Chen, M., 185
childbirth and socialization in East Java, 145–6 children and conceptions of personhood in East Java, 144–7 goal-directed imitative learning, 189–90 transmission of craft knowledge in families, 64, 65–6, 82, 85, 160 Chion, M., 44, 47
Chomsky, Noam, 32
Clark, Andy, 5, 32, 129 clothing and identity in Java, 141 codification of lace-makers’ designs, 76–7, 83–93 cognitive science, 3–4, 5, 180
   and grounded cognition, 184–6, 191
   and possession, 186–9
   see also motor cognition; neuroscience Cohen, Emma, 41–2, 62, 116, 180
Coles, Kelly J., 96
collaborative learning: Kazakh women’s craft practices, 63–5 collective memory and folk crafts, 90 collective teaching and building crafts, 9 colonialism, 176–9
   and ethnography, 177–9
colours and identity in Java, 141 Coltart, John, 42–52
comfort as relative concept, 154, 163 common coding and imitation, 27–8 common sense, 25, 61

communication and knowledge production, 11–12, 163 see also ‘embodied cognition’ and communication; language consciousness

   and habitus, 25, 28, 60, 135, 137–8, 144
   imitation without intention, 24–5, 26–9 incremental complexity and awareness, 70–3 ‘material consciousness’, 151 mimesis and conscious intention, 24–6 context
   grounded cognition, 184–6, 191
   and motor cognition, 102–3, 105, 111, 184, 185 see also ‘recontextualization’ of crafts ‘correspondence problem’ and imitation, 26–7 Coy, Michael, 10
craft knowledge
   bodily knowledge and ignorance, 173–6 Central Slovak lace-makers and transmission of, 76–93 craftmanship as basis of, 91–2 different kinds of knowledge and communication, 163–4 economic value, 91, 157–9
   as enrichment, 59–60, 73 Kazakh women’s transmission of everyday craft practices, 60, 62–73
   mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India, 150–66 ‘recontextualization’ of crafts, 89–90, 93, 151–2 situated learning and institutional training in lacemaking, 77, 81–7, 93 and social positioning in Senegal, 173–5 see also building crafts and embodied knowledge Craighero, G., 5, 6
creative process and craftsmanship, 87–9, 91–2 Crick, Malcolm, 3
Csibra, Gergely, 189, 190
Csordas, Thomas, 140
cultural identity in East Java, 141 cultural transmission
   and context, 184
   and imitative learning, 189–90
   and neuroscience, 189
   and re-creation, 11
see also craft knowledge; enculturation Dawkins, Richard, 25–6
de Certeau, Michel, 123, 124 deafness and auscultation training, 53–5 development work critical perceptions from anthropology, 164–5 NGOs and mat-weaving in India, 151–7, 163–4 dialogue see dynamic syntax (DS); speech difference: embodied difference in East Java, 135, 136, 139–44, 147, 148 domination
and habitus, 135–6, 136–9, 147
power and ignorance and French colonialism, 177, 179 Dormer, Peter, 59–60, 67, 69, 73
Downey, Greg, 6, 57, 72, 175–6, 186
doxa, 137
Draper, J., 56
drawing
lace-makers’ design notations, 76–7, 83–93 and walking, 121–2
dress and identity in Java, 141 dualism
in Indonesia, 133, 133–4 language and knowing and not knowing, 170
Duden, B., 56
Duhamel, Jean-René, 96
dynamic syntax (DS) and embodied communication, 14–15, 96, 100–7 and shared performance, 110–11, 112 earth see ground and knowledge East Java: conceptions of person, 16, 133–6, 139–48 ecocardiography, 55–7
ecology of visual perception, 117–18 economic value of craft knowledge, 91, 157–9 Edelman, Gerald, 5
education
as economic investment in India, 157 formal learning and habitus, 138
see also institutional training Elkins, James, 121
Ellman, M., 46
‘embodied cognition’ and communication, 5, 6, 14–15
and dynamic syntax, 96, 100–7, 110–11
and teaching woodwork, 7–9, 95–113 embraced knowledge, 184 absence and ignorance, 174–76, 180 bodily memory and lacemaking in Central Slovakia, 76, 77–81, 83–4, 85, 92
broussard in French colonial Africa, 178–9 difference and in East Java, 136, 139–44, 147, 148 habitus as, 29–33, 34, 143–4 and hierarchy in East Java, 139, 142, 147, 148 new approaches, 185–6 and sound, 40–1
see also craft knowledge; ‘embodied cognition’ and communication; imitative learning; mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India; tacit knowledge ‘embodied mind’, 5 ‘emergentist’ approaches to mind, 5 enculturation: imitative learning and capoeira, 21–2, 23, 26, 30–1, 32, 34 engaged anthropology apprenticeship as form of, 2, 7–9, 10, 62 as core of anthropological work, 7 Engels, Friedrich, 123
environment, 2
knowledge and presence in, 4, 15–16, 115–31
living as knowledge, 4
epistemology and ‘agnioiogy’, 168
Errington, Shelly, 133, 139
Escher, M.C., 69
ethnic difference: embodiment in East Java, 135, 136, 139–44, 147, 148 ethnographic fieldwork apprenticeship and direct participation, 10 and neurological studies of mind, 6, 189 ethology and imitation, 26–7 everyday life: suitability of mat-weaving in India, 155–6 Ewing, K., 62
expert and novice and knowing well, 128 ‘extended mind’, 5
face recognition in possession scenarios, 188 family: socialization and habitus in East Java, 144–5 Fardon, R., 170
feet and walking, 122
Feld, S., 40–1, 51
felt carpet (syrmag) making in Mongolia, 60, 63–4, 66, 67–73 Ferrier, James Frederick, 168
fluency of skilled practice, 68–9, 71, 72–3 Fodor, Jerry, 5, 28, 101, 107 foetus and socialization in East Java, 145–7 folk art see lace-makers in Central Slovakia food and difference in East Java, 141–2 footprints and impressions, 122, 123
formal learning and habitus, 138
Foucault, M., 56, 177
French colonialism: ignorance and knowledge, 176–9

Gaden, Henri, 178–9
Gallese, Vittorio, 28
Garbarini, Francesca, 5
Geertz, Clifford, 139, 143, 146
Geertz, Hildred, 144–5
Gell, A., 40, 51
gender feminization of mat-weaving in India, 157–8, 164 gender-specific Kazakh craft practices, 65 speech and difference in East Java, 142 Gergely, György, 189–90
gestation and socialization of child in East Java, 145–7 Gibson, James, 117–20, 126
goal-directed imitative learning, 189–90
Gombrich, E., 67
Goodenough, Oliver, 23, 29 government interventions and mat-weaving in India, 151–2, 162–3 ground and knowledge, 116–20, 127–30
grounded cognition, 184–6, 191

habitus, 21, 22–3, 34–5 ‘body hexis’, 41, 60, 137–9
and conceptions of person in East Java, 16, 133–48 and conscious and unconscious knowledge, 138 and consciousness, 25, 28, 60, 135, 137–8, 144 definitions and excess, 133–4 and domination, 135–6, 136–9, 147 as embodied knowledge, 29–33, 34, 143–4 and ideomotor theories, 28–9, 32 inequality and doxa and hexas, 136–7 malícia analogy, 30–1
and medical environment, 40 and organic structure, 26, 32, 33, 35 and practice theory, 60 systematicity and inconsistency of learning, 29–33, 34 halus–kasar distinction in Java, 135, 136, 139, 140–4, 147 hands and drawing, 122
Hanks, William, 10
hard surfacing and ground, 120–1
Harris, Mark, 3, 7
Hauser, Kaspar, 175
hearing
impairment and auscultation training, 53–5
speech and difference in East Java, 142–3 heart see auscultation training Heidegger, Martin, 119, 130 hereditary craft occupations in Senegal, 173–5 Heringa, Rens, 146
Herzfeld, Michael, 8, 164–5
hexis see ‘body hexis’ Heyes, Cecilia, 29
hierarchy
craft knowledge and social positioning in Senegal, 173–5
and difference in East Java, 136, 139–44, 147, 148
and vocabulary of travel in Java, 142 Hirschfeld, Lawrence, 3
Hobart, Mark, 171, 179
Hunter, Ian, 33
Husserl, Edmund, 61
hypotheses testing requirement, 183–4

‘ideational culture’, 3–4 identity
conceptions of person in East Java, 135–6 habitus and unconscious as forgetting, 137 and mat-weaving as work in South India, 150, 157–8, 159, 162, 163–4 social positioning and craft knowledge in Senegal, 173–5 ideomotor theories of imitation, 27–9, 32 ignorance, 17, 167–181
anthropology of, 170–3 bodily knowledge and craft work, 173–6 and knowledge in French colonial practice, 176–9 language and not knowing, 168–70, 171
as primal state, 169
imitative learning, 9
and authenticity in Central Slovakian lacemaking, 90–2 and capoeira, 6, 13, 21–2, 23–4, 26, 30–2, 34 correspondence problem, 26–7
goal-directed imitative learning, 189–90 human facility for, 26–7, 29 inconsistent progress, 31–3 and mat-weaving in India, 160, 161
and mimesis, 24–6
and motor cognition, 26–9, 32, 33, 96, 99, 104–7, 108–9 neuroscience and mirror neurons, 27–8, 189, 190
virtuoso imitation, 23–4, 31
wider applications, 21 impressions and walking, 122–3 incommensurability and East Javenese concept of person, 134, 135, 148 India see mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India individualism, 8, 9, 11 Indonesia
dualism and oneness, 133
see also East Java
industriousness in Kazakh women, 65 Ingold, Tim, 4, 7, 33, 67, 68, 82, 160, 161 innovation and mat-weavers in India, 153–7, 163–4 inscriptions and walking, 121, 123 institutional training disembodied colonial training, 178, 179 disembodied notation and lace-making in Slovakia, 77, 84–7, 93 fine woodwork apprenticeship in UK, 7–9, 95–113 imitative learning and motor cognition, 96, 99, 104–7, 108–9 and mat-weaving in India, 161–2
see also formal learning and habitus ‘intelligent action’, 6, 61 interaction and knowledge production, 12 interdisciplinary approach, 2–7, 180, 183, 190–1
and imitative learning, 22, 33–4 Islam
and East Javanese ritual, 145, 146–7 ignorance and losing one’s way, 171–2 restrictions on Labbai Muslim girls in South India, 162 and weaving origin myths in Senegal, 172–3
James, William, 26
Java see East Java
Jeannerod, Marc, 96, 111
Kaluli people and auditory knowledge, 40–1
Kanef, Deema, 89
Kant, Immanuel, 117, 127–8, 137–8 Karmiloff-Smith, Annette, 32
kasar see halus–kasar distinction in Java Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices, 13–14, 59–74
assessment and learning, 61, 66–9, 73 children and transmission of knowledge, 64, 65–6 domestic context, 62–5 incremental complexity and skills, 69–71, 72–3 reflective practice, 71–3 transmission of knowledge and skills, 63–73 Keeler, Ward, 142
kinaesthetic information and capoeira training, 22, 24, 26–7 dynamic syntax and motor cognition, 96, 104, 105, 106, 108–9, 111, 112 ground and knowledge, 15, 118–19
motor-kinaesthetic understanding and Kazakh women’s skills, 66, 68, 69 travel and hierarchy in Java, 142
King, Anthony, 22, 34–5
Király, I., 189–90
Klee, Paul, 121
knowledge and anthropology, 1–7, 167, 179, 183–91 bodily factors and making knowledge, 184–6 contribution of ethnographic fieldwork, 6 and ignorance, 167–81
lack of understanding of how we know, 2–3 need for interdisciplinary approach, 2–7, 22, 32–3, 180, 183, 190–1 need for new approaches, 185–6 as open-ended programme, 6–7, 134 shared productions of knowledge, 10–12, 163 Labbai Muslims see mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India lace-makers in Central Slovakia, 14, 76–93 bodily memory and technique, 77–81 bodily memory and transmission of knowledge, 76, 77, 80, 83–4, 85, 92 disembodied codification and authenticity, 76–7, 84–92 economic value of notation, 91 ‘generative’ and ‘imitative’ craft, 87–92 pedagogical approaches and epistemology of lacemaking, 77, 81–7 political ‘recontextualization’ of folk culture, 89–90, 93 Laennec, René, 52, 56
Lakoff, George, 28
Lambek, Michael, 134
language
dynamic syntax and embodied cognition, 96, 100–7, 110–11 and French colonialism, 178 ignorance and not knowing, 168–70, 171
and motor cognition, 96, 99–100, 104–7 notation and Central Slovak lace-making, 76–7, 83–92 semiotic functions of body, 138–9 shortcomings of verbal instruction, 106–7 see also speech; vocabulary ‘language of thought’ (LOT), 101, 103, 106, 107
Last, Murray, 167–8, 179
Laughlin, Charles, 3
Lave, Jean, 4, 162
Lebenswelt (life world), 61
Lévi-Strauss, Claude, 33, 34
LeVine, Robert, 26
Index

linearity
of descriptions of skills, 84, 159–60 and paths, 121, 123
time-linear parsing of skills, 101, 106–7, 110, 194 lines, 124–5
Lingis, Alphonso, 130
listening see auscultation training; hearing living as knowledge, 4, 15–16, 115–31
Long, Richard, 121, 122, 123
losing one’s way and ignorance, 171–2, 173
Low, Chris, 124–5
Macauley, David, 130
McCullough, Malcolm, 83
Macfarlane, Robert, 121
Madurese identity in East Java, 134–5, 136, 139–44 making knowledge: terminology and concept, 116 Malian building crafts, 7, 8, 9, 95
Marchand, Trevor, 91–2
marching and roads, 121 Margolis, Joseph, 22
marriage in East Java, 144, 145
Martin, Emily, 4
Marx, Karl, 117, 159
Mason, Paul, 6
mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India, 16–17, 150–66 learning to weave, 159–62 NGO interventions, 151–7, 163 production and transmission of knowledge, 163–4 responses to innovation, 153–7, 163–4 suitability and comfort of looms, 154–7, 163–4 work and identity, 150, 157–8, 159, 162, 163–4 materials and teaching process, 49 eyeveryday accessibility of materials in India, 155–6 ‘material consciousness’, 151
responsiveness and learning, 67, 71–2, 73, 82, 86 Mauss, Marcel, 33, 34
medicine
theoretical and practical knowledge, 40
see also auscultation training mediums and possession in Brazil, 186–9 Meltzoff, Andrew, 26, 189 memory
bodily memory and lacemaking in Central Slovakia, 76, 77–81, 83–4, 85, 92 collective memory and folk crafts, 90
see also embodied knowledge mental representations, 10–11
and dynamic syntax, 101–7, 111
and motor cognition, 95–6, 99–100, 185 ‘systematic gap’, 102
Merleau-Ponty, M., 6, 140
mimesis
and conscious intention, 24–5, 26–9 distinction from imitation, 24–6 and embodied knowledge, 23–6, 184
and habitus, 34–5
see also imitative learning mind: computational models, 4–5 mirror neurons, 5, 6, 27–8, 189, 190 mixed personhood in East Java, 134–5, 136, 139–44 ‘modal re-enactment’, 185 modularity theories, 5
and brain function, 32
Mongolia see Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices
Moore, B.C.J., 48–9
Moore, Keith, 26
morality: knowledge and ignorance, 169, 179 motor cognition
and context, 102–3, 105, 111, 184, 185
and dynamic syntax, 104–7, 110–11
and imitative learning, 26–9, 32, 33, 96, 99, 104–7, 108–9 and mental representations, 95–6, 99–100, 185 motor skills: repetition and rehearsal, 72, 96, 99 movement
language of, 104–7
see also walking and knowing Murch, Walter, 51
myth: weaving origin myths in Senegal, 172–3, 175 nation-building and codification of folk culture, 76–7, 93 nature and nurture, 1
and concept of person in East Java, 135, 144–7 ‘nescience’, 168, 169
neuroanthropology, 6
imitative learning, 22, 23, 26–9, 32, 189 ‘neurophenomenology’, 3 neuroscience, 3
danger of ‘neuroreductionism’, 4 ideomotor theories and imitation, 27–9, 32 ignorance and absence, 180 non-reductive approaches, 5–6 see also cognitive science; mirror neurons NGOs and mat-weaving in India, 151–7, 163
nomadism in Senegal, 172 notation and Central Slovak lace-makers, 76–7, 83–92

novices and acquisition of skills, 72 and expert, 128, 160, 161 and rules and representations, 68–9, 73, 77, 82, 85 see also practice and learning nurture see nature and nurture observation and learning, 9 Kazakh women and craft practices, 64, 66

and mat-weaving in India, 160, 161
and motor representations, 106, 107, 108–9, 111–12
O’Connor, E., 68
Olsen, Bjornar, 126
on-site learning in Mali and Yemen, 7, 8, 9 oneness and dualism in Indonesia, 133 orang campuran and mixed personhood in Java, 134–5, 139–44
ostensive-communicative cues, 190

Parry, G., 49
participation and ethnographic fieldwork, 10 pastoralism in Senegal, 171, 172 paths and tracks, 116, 120–4, 128–30, 171
Pattamadai mat-weaving in South India, 150–66
patterns in Kazakh carpet making, 66, 69–71 Pemberton, John, 141
perception
and action, 28–9, 32, 95–6
and difference in East Java, 141, 148 diversity of assimilation, 40
ecology of visual perception, 117–18
of wayfarer, 128
performance see shared performance person: habitus and East Javanese conceptions of, 16, 133–48 person recognition and possession, 188 phenomenology and halus–kasar distinction in Java, 139 and immediacy of experience, 61
Plotkin, Henry, 95
Portisch, Anna Odland, 82–3 possession and cognition, 186–9 potency: embodied hierarchies in Java, 139 power and ignorance and French colonialism, 177, 179
practice and body in East Java, 143–4 practice and learning, 9
and assessment, 66–7, 73
motor skills and repetition and rehearsal, 72, 96, 99, 108–9
novices and acquisition of skills, 82, 160–1 practice theory, 14, 33, 60–1, 83
and mimesis, 25–6, 28–9, 35

and motor cognition, 104–7, 111–12
see also habitus
pregnancy rituals in East Java, 145–6 Prinz, Wolfgang, 28
problem-solving and Kazakh carpet making, 14, 70–1, 72
propositional knowledge, 13, 25, 77, 93, 95 and body hexis, 138
and dynamic syntax, 101, 103, 104
lack of animation, 144, 185
and motor cognition, 96, 98, 99, 104–5, 112
and time-linear representations, 106–7 propriocceptive information and motor cognition, 96, 104, 105, 106, 111, 112 psychoacoustic research, 46, 48
Qajghaliuly, A., 69

Rapport, Nigel, 7
‘recontextualization’ of crafts, 89–90, 93, 151–2 recording knowledge see notation and Central Slovak lace-makers re-creation and cultural transmission, 11 reflection and practice, 60–1, 82–3 complexity and ‘background corrections’, 71–3
lack of reflection in skilled practice, 14, 68–9
rehearsal and motor cognition, 72, 96, 99 Rendell, Jane, 128–9
representational theory of mind (RTM), 101–2
representations see mental representations;
rules and representations rhythm and craft work, 79, 81, 85, 176 Rizzolatti, G., 5
roads and transport, 120–1, 123
Rosch, Eleanor, 5
Ross, Gail, 26
rules and representations, 68–9, 73, 77, 82, 85
Russon, Anne, 26
Ryle, G., 69

Sacks, Oliver, 6, 53
Saunders, David, 33
secrecy and knowledge, 174 semantic under-specification, 102–3 semiotic functions of body, 138–9
Senegal, 171–5
Sennett, R., 151
sensory experience and knowledge
and assessment, 67–8, 69, 73
in French colonial Africa, 178–9 shared performance, 12, 107–12
shared productions of knowledge, 2, 10–12, 163
shared utterance, 11–12, 107–8, 110–11, 112, 163 tacit knowledge, 60, 73, 77, 83, 92, 93
and grounded cognition, 185
see also embodied knowledge taste and difference in East Java, 141–2 teaching and ostensive-communicative cues, 190 pedagogical approaches and epistemology of lacemaking, 77, 81–7 transmission of craft knowledge and skills, 7–10, 62–73 see also institutional training; materials and teaching process textiles see Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices; lace-makers in Central Slovakia; mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India theology and ignorance, 169
Thompson, Evan, 5
Thorndike, Edward, 26
threads, 124–5, 129
Tomassello, Michael, 26
Tooby, John, 3
tools
response to new loom in India, 153–7, 163–4 responsiveness and learning, 67, 71, 73, 82, 86 Toren, Christina, 4, 163 tracks, 128
and traces, 124–5, 129
transport and roads, 120–1, 123 travel and hierarchy in East Java, 142 trial-and-error learning, 26
Turner, Stephen, 25
Turner, Victor, 3
unconscious as forgetting, 137 under-specification and dynamic syntax, 102–3, 104–7 unknown: knowledge of, 134 value systems and body hexis, 137
Varela, Francisco, 5
Venkatesan, Soumhya, 136
virtuoso imitation, 23–4, 31
visual affects and difference in Java, 141 visual assessment and mat-weaving in India, 155, 161
vocabulary
hierarchy and travel in Java, 142
and ignorance, 168–9, 169–70
for sound, 51–2
Vogt, Stefan, 106
walking and knowing, 115–31
Wallman, Sandra, 150
Warren, R.M., 49

Sheets-Johnstone, Maxine, 129
Shindler, Daniel, 49, 56
Simpson, E., 159
simulation theories of imitation, 27–9
and grounded cognition, 184, 185
Sinclair, Simon, 40, 52
Sirigu, Angela, 96
situated learning, 4, 8, 10, 40, 161, 162 and institutional training in lacemaking, 77, 81–7, 93 skill acquisition and embodied knowledge, 33 apprenticeships and understandings of skills, 86–7, 93, 104, 151 dynamic syntax and embodied communication, 100–7, 110–11
fluency of skilled practice, 68–9, 71, 72–3 learning to weave in South India, 159–62 social context and meaning, 165 social positioning and ignorance in Senegal, 173–5 see also auscultation training; imitative learning; Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices; lace-makers in Central Slovakia
skill-based assessment, 67–9, 73, 81
Smith, D., 49
social inequality
and doxa and hexis, 136–7 and learning to weave in India, 162
social positioning and craft knowledge in Senegal, 173–5 social production of knowledge, 135–6, 163 socialist era craft traditions, 89–90, 93 socialization, 25, 138, 144 and college apprenticeship in UK, 8–9 and habitus in East Javanese context, 144–7
’somatic modes of attention’, 140, 148
sound
lack of vocabulary for, 51–2 recordings and auscultation training, 49–51 and speech levels in East Java, 142–3
see also auscultation training speech
and difference in East Java, 142–3
shared utterance, 11–12, 107–8, 110–11, 112, 163 Sperber, Dan, 3 spirit mediums and possession in Brazil, 186–9 stamp and impressions, 123 stethoscopes see auscultation training Strathern, Andrew, 134
Strathern, Marilyn, 134
submersive naturalization, 154 surface and ground, 118–20, 123, 127–30
’synthetic’ mode of hearing, 48–9

200 Index
wayfaring and paths, 120, 121, 123–4, 128–30
losing one’s way and ignorance, 171–2, 173 ‘ways of knowing’, 77 weather, 115, 124–7, 130
weaving and ignorance in Senegal, 172–3 see also mat-weaving as embodied skill in South India
Weiner, J., 40, 51
Welsby, P.D., 49
Wenger, Etienne, 4, 162
West, H., 67
Whitehouse, Harvey, 4, 5
Widlok, Thomas, 122
Wilk, R.R., 154
Wilson, Frank, 5
wind, 116, 124–7, 130
witchcraft and secrecy, 174 women see gender; Kazakh women’s everyday craft practices; lace-makers in Central Slovakia
Wood, David, 26
woodwork apprenticeship and embodied cognition, 7–9, 95–113
work
anthropology of work and meaning of, 165
identity and mat-weaving in India, 150, 157–8, 159, 162, 163–4
and social positioning in Senegal, 173–5
Yemeni building crafts, 7, 8, 9, 91–2, 95
Yost, W.A., 46
Yue, Guang, 96
Zajonc, Juraj, 90