Contents

Acknowledgments  xiii

1 Introducing Popular Culture  1
   Approaching Popular Culture  1
   Defining Popular Culture  2
   Popular Culture Invades the Classroom  12
   The Americanization of Popular Culture  14
   The Decolonization of Culture  15
   Culture and Economics—The Postindustrial Revolution  17
   Why This? Why Now? Why Me? A Couple of Final Arguments for the Importance of Studying Popular Culture  18
   Coffee as Popular Culture  19
   And It All Boils Down To...What Is in a Cup of Coffee?  27
   Suggestions for Further Reading  28

2 The History of Popular Culture  29
   Taking It from the Streets  29
   Making the Streets Safe for Commerce  30
   Popular Recreation before 1830  31
   Capitalism and the Industrial Revolution  32
   Popular Recreation and Resistance  38
   The Production of Commercial Mass Culture—the Birth of the Culture Industry  43
   Continuities and Changes  49
   Suggestions for Further Reading  55

3 Representation and the Construction of Social Reality  57
   Truth2Power  57
   Constructing a Crisis—the Discourse of Violent Youth  58
   Signification—the Production of Social Sense  59
   Representing the Youth Crisis  63
   Truth2Power: The Politics of Representation  75
   Contexts of Representation  79
   Representation in Contemporary Culture  86
   Suggestions for Further Reading  89
4 The Production of Popular Culture 91
   The Business of Culture 91
   “Money Changes Everything”: The Pitfalls of Thinking about Production 93
   The Culture Industry Thesis 96
   Shifting Modes of Cultural Production 106
   Cultural Production Today 112
   Suggestions for Further Reading and Viewing 122

5 The Consuming Life 123
   Back to “Normal” 123
   A Brief History of Consumer Culture 126
   Consumption as Distinction 135
   Consumption, Desire, and Pleasure 140
   The Politics of Consumption 142
   Suggestions for Further Reading and Viewing 148

6 Identity and the Body 151
   Identity—a Necessary Fiction? 151
   The History of Identity—Some Different Theories 153
   Hegemonic Masculinity, Postfeminism, and the Third-Wave 161
   LGBTQ+ 168
   Different Bodies, Different Selves? 172
   Altered States 176
   Suggestions for Further Reading 182

7 Identity, Community, Collectivity 183
   Who Do You Want Me to Be? 183
   “The People Who Are Ours” 187
   Modern Identities: Nation, Empire, and Race 191
   Nation and Empire 197
   Postcolonial Identities 200
   Postnational Identities: Melted, Frozen, Reconstituted 204
   Community or Collectivity? 210
   Suggestions for Further Reading 212

8 Subcultures and Countercultures 213
   The Mainstream and Other Streams 213
   Subcultures and Countercultures: What Is the Difference? 217
   Popular Representations of Subcultures and Countercultures 221
   The Politics of Subcultures 229
   Suggestions for Further Reading 240

9 Space, Place, and Globalization 243
   (Dis)Locations of Popular Culture 243
   Private versus Public Space 246
   Inside Out 255
   The Big Picture: Globalization? 262
   Is Globalization Real? 264
   Globalization and Popular Culture 271