Index

Note to the Reader: Throughout this index boldfaced page numbers indicate primary discussions of a topic. Italicized page numbers indicate illustrations.

A

acceptance criteria
  for analyzing performance measures, 306
  for analyzing potential value of design options, 281
  for approving requirements, 177
  for assessing solution limitations, 311
  for measuring solution performance, 300
  for modeling requirements, 254
  for validating requirements, 264
  for verifying requirements, 260 achievement theory, 354
ACM (Adaptive Case Management), 411
ACORD (Association for Cooperative Operations Research and Development), 400 activity-based costing, 412 adaptability, behavioral characteristic, 344 Adaptive Case Management (ACM), 411 adaptive planning approaches, 39–41 adjourning stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354
agile perspective
  business analysis scope, 372–373
  change scope, 371–372
  knowledge area impacts, 376–379
  overview, 371
  underlying competencies, 376 analogous estimation, 45 analytical thinking
  conceptual thinking, 342
  creative thinking, 339
  decision making, 340
  learning, 340–341
  overview of, 338–339
  problem solving, 341
  systems thinking, 341
  visual thinking, 342
application, for CBAP and CCBA exams additional eligibility requirements, 431–433
  calculating experience hours, 430–431
  CBAP experience requirements, 427–428
  CCBA experience requirements, 429–430
  overview of, 426–427
  steps in process, 433–434 approved state, in requirements state machine, 20, 21 Archimate, 401
Association for Cooperative Operations Research and Development (ACORD), 400 atomic requirements, 257

B

BABOK Guide
  definition of business analysis, 2–3 mapping to generic life cycle, 23, 23–24 requirements classification scheme, 16–21 roles and responsibilities of business analysts, 3–4 underlying competencies of business analysts, 4–6 BACCM (Business Analysis Core Concept Model), 8–9 backlog management, for analyzing potential value of design options, 281 balance scorecards, for defining future state of projects, 114 Behavior Driven Development (BDD), 374 behavioral business rules, 242 behavioral characteristics, of business analysts
adaptability, 344–345
ethics, 343–344 organization and time management, 344
overview, 342–343
personal accountability, 344 trustworthiness, 344
benchmarking
for analyzing current state of projects, 103
for analyzing performance measures, 306
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for conducting elicitation, 208
for defining change strategy, 131
for defining design options, 276
for evaluating solution performance, 300 beta releases, 295
BMM (Business Motivation Model), 400, 401 bottom-up estimation, 45 bottom-up, BPM process improvement approach, 409
BPM. See business process management perspective
BPR (Business Process Reengineering), 411 brainstorming
for analyzing potential value of design
options, 282
for analyzing stakeholders, 56
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing risk, 125
for building business analysis reports, 46
for conducting elicitation, 208
for defining design options, 276
for defining future state of projects, 114
for identifying business analysis
improvements, 79
for planning business analysis
governance, 64
for planning business analysis
information management, 72
for preparing for requirements elicitation, 197 breadth of change
agile perspective, 371–372
business architecture perspective, 398
business intelligence perspective, 380 business process management perspective, 408
information technology perspective, 389–390
business analysis approach estimating techniques, 45–46
overview, 38–39
planning, 41–45
predictive vs. adaptive, 39–41 recommended contents, 48 stakeholders, 48
summary of techniques, 46–47
task outputs, 47–48
Business Analysis Core Concept Model (BACCM), 8–9
business analysis governance change control process, 63 creating, 64–66
decision making, 62–63
overview, 59–62, 60
planning for deliverables, 63–64 planning the prioritization approach, 63
summary of techniques, 64
business analysis information packages, 214, 215–216
business analysis, introduction to, 2–3 communication plans, 54, 82–83 relationship between business analysts and project managers, 6–7 roles and responsibilities of business
analysts, 3–4
skills of business analysts, 4–6 stakeholders and, 7–8 business analysis perspectives agile, 371–379
answers to review questions, 491–493
business architecture, 397–407
business intelligence, 379–388
business process management, 407–417
information technology, 388–397
overview, 24–25, 370
business analysis planning and monitoring
agile projects, 378
answers to review questions, 481–483
business architecture projects, 405
business intelligence projects, 386
business process management projects, 417
controlled start, 36–37
defining business analysis approach, 38–48
elements, 438
exam essentials, 84
identifying performance improvements, 74–81 information technology projects, 395
key terms, 85–86
mapping deliverables to, 459–460
mapping stakeholders to, 455 mapping techniques to, 446–447
outputs, 474–475
overview, 10–11, 34–35
planning information management, 66–74, 67 planning stakeholder engagement, 49–59 setting up business analysis governance, 59–66 Shewhart “plan-do-check-act” cycle, 82, 82
tasks, 10–11, 35–36
business analysis scope
agile perspective, 372–373
business architecture perspective, 399–400
business intelligence perspective, 381–382
business process management perspective, 409–411
information technology perspective, 391–392 business analysis tools and technology, 348 business analysts relationship with project managers, 6–7 roles and responsibilities, 3–4 skills of, 4–6. See also underlying competencies stakeholder roles, 7–8
business architecture perspective
business analysis scope, 399–400
change scope, 398–399
knowledge area impacts, 402–407
overview, 397–398
underlying competencies, 402
business capability analysis
for analyzing current state of projects, 103
for defining change strategy, 131
for defining future state of projects, 114
for modeling requirements, 254
business cases
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for assessing changes to requirements, 172
for assessing risk, 125
for building business analysis reports, 46
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining future state of projects, 114
for evaluating solution performance, 300
for prioritizing requirements, 166
business intelligence perspective
business analysis scope, 381–382
change scope, 380–381
knowledge area impacts, 384–388
overview, 379–380
underlying competencies, 384
business knowledge
best practices, 345 business acumen, 345 business principles, 345 industry knowledge, 346–347
methodology knowledge, 347 organization knowledge, 347
overview, 345
solution knowledge, 347
business model canvas
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing potential value of design
options, 282
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining future state of projects, 114
for modeling requirements, 254
Business Motivation Model (BMM), 400, 401 business objectives
KPIs (key performance indicators), 79, 84, 104, 109, 115
metrics, 79
SMART (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-Bound) objectives, 111–112
business process management perspective
business analysis scope, 409–410
change scope, 407–409
frameworks, 411
knowledge area impacts, 415–417
methodologies, 411–412
overview, 407
techniques, 412–413
underlying competencies, 413
Business Process Reengineering (BPR), 411 business requirements, 17, 148, 150 business rules analysis
for analyzing stakeholders, 56
for assessing changes to requirements, 172
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for conducting elicitation, 209
for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
for modeling requirements, 242
for tracing requirements, 155

C
capability-centric enterprise views, 100 cause-and-effect diagrams, 102
CBAP exam
additional eligibility requirements, 431–433
application process steps, 433–434
calculating experience hours, 430–431
experience requirements, 427–428
failing, 434
fees, 433, 434
registering for, 434
CBATL (Certified Business Analysis Thought Leader), 427
CCBA exam
additional eligibility requirements, 431–433
application process steps, 433–434
calculating experience hours, 430–431
experience requirements, 429–430
failing, 434
fees, 433, 434
registering for, 434
certification, competency-based model, 426–427 Certified Business Analysis Thought Leader (CBATL), 427
change scope
agile perspective, 371–372
business architecture perspective, 398–399
business intelligence perspective, 380–381
business process management perspective, 407–409
information technology perspective, 389–390
change sponsors
agile perspective, 372
business architecture perspective, 399
business intelligence perspective, 381
business process management
perspective, 409
information technology perspective, 391 change strategy, 130
change targets
  agile perspective, 372–373
  business architecture perspective, 399–400
  business intelligence perspective, 381
  business process management perspective, 409–410
CI (Continuous Improvement), 411
CM (configuration management), 179–180, 180
COBIT (Control Objectives for IT), 400 code of conduct, CBAP and CCBA exams, 433 collaborative games, 209, 221 communication plans, 54, 82–83
communication skills, 349 listening, 351 nonverbal, 350, 351
  verbal, 350–351
  written, 351
communication tools and technology, 348 competencies. See underlying competencies competency-based certification model, 426–427 compromise, conflict resolution technique, 357 concept modeling
  for analyzing current state of projects, 104
  for conducting elicitation, 209
  for modeling requirements, 254 conceptual data models, 244–245
conceptual thinking, 342
conceivable requirements, 258 configuration management (CM), 179–180, 180 conflict resolution techniques, 355–358 confrontation, conflict resolution technique, 357 consistent requirements, 258 constraints, in requirements classification scheme, 19
constructed solution, 314 contingency theory, 355
Continuous Improvement (CI), 411 Control Objectives for IT (COBIT), 400 controlled end, mapping BABOK Guide to project life cycle, 24 controlled middle, mapping BABOK Guide to project life cycle, 24
controlled start
  business analysis planning and monitoring, 36–37 mapping BABOK Guide to project life cycle, 24 corrective actions, 78–79
creative thinking, 339
Critical to Quality (CTQ), 412
Crystal Clear, agile approach, 373 customers, as key stakeholders, 7 cycle-time analysis, 412

D
DAD (Disciplined Agile Delivery), 374 data dictionaries, for modeling requirements, 254 data flow diagrams
  vs. data modeling, 245–246
  for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
  for modeling requirements, 242–244
  Gane-Sarson notation, 243, 243, 244, 245, 249
  Yourdon notation, 243, 243, 244
data mining
  for analyzing current state of projects, 104
  for analyzing performance measures, 306
  for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
  for assessing solution limitations, 311
  for conducting elicitation, 209
  for evaluating solution performance, 300
  for preparing for elicitation, 198
  for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323
data modeling conceptual models, 244–245
for conducting elicitation, 209
vs. data flow diagrams, 245–246
for defining requirements architecture, 269–270
for modeling requirements, 244–247
for assessing changes to requirements, 172
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing risk, 125
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining future state of projects, 114
for evaluating solution performance, 300
for prioritizing requirements, 166
for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323 decision modeling
for defining future state of projects, 114
for modeling requirements, 254
decomposition. See functional decomposition Define Measure Analyze Design Verify (DMADV), 412 Define Measure Analyze Improve Control (DMAIC), 412 definitional business rules, 242 deliverables
mapping to business analysis planning and monitoring, 459–460 mapping to elicitation and collaboration, 460–461 mapping to requirements analysis and design definition, 464–465 mapping to requirements life cycle management, 461–462 mapping to solution evaluation, 465 mapping to strategy analysis, 462–463 Delphi estimation, 46 demand-driven analytics, 383 dependency, traceability relationship, 154 derivation, traceability relationship, 154 descriptive analytics, 383 design options, defining, 272–278, 273 detailed questions, 224 DFDs. See data flow diagrams; data flow diagrams (DFDs) diagramming tools, 348, 349 diagrams cause-and-effect, 102 data flow. See data flow diagrams entity-relationship diagrams (ERDs), 244–247, 246 fishbone, 102–103, 103 Ishikawa diagrams, 102
onion, 55, 55
sequence, 250
state machine, 253
directive questions, 224
Disciplined Agile Delivery (DAD), 374
DMADV (Define Measure Analyze Design Verify), 412
DMAIC (Define Measure Analyze Improve Control), 412 document analysis, 101–102
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing risk, 125
for building business analysis reports, 46
for conducting elicitation, 209
for confirming elicitation results, 213
for defining design options, 276
for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for preparing for elicitation, 198
for validating requirements, 264 domain subject matter experts, as key stakeholders, 7 Drum-Buffer-Rope (DBR), 412
duration analysis, 412
Dynamic Systems Development Method (DSDM), 374

E
ECBA (Entry Certificate in Business Analysis), 426 education, eligibility requirement for CBAP and CCBA exams, 432 effort dependency, 154
elements, 13, 436, 438–442
elicitation and collaboration
agile projects, 379
answers to review questions, 486–487
business architecture projects, 406
business intelligence projects, 387
business process management projects, 417 communicating business analysis information, 213–217, 214 conducting, 201–210, 202 confirming results, 210–213, 211
elements, 438–439
exam essentials, 225–226
information technology projects, 395–396
key terms, 227
managing stakeholder collaboration, 217–222, 218
mapping deliverables to, 460–461
mapping stakeholders to, 456
mapping techniques to, 448
outputs, 475
overview, 11–12, 190–192
preparing for, 193–201, 194
tasks, 11–12, 192–193
elicitation worksheets, 198–201 end users, as key stakeholders, 7 enterprise limitations, assessing, 312–319, 313 enterprise readiness assessment, for defining change strategy, 130 entity-relationship diagrams (ERDs), 244–247, 246
Entry Certificate in Business Analysis (ECBA), 426 estimation
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for defining change strategy, 132
for preparing for elicitation, 198
for prioritizing requirements, 166 ethics, as behavioral characteristic, 343–344 eTOM, 400
evaluation criteria
for analyzing performance measures, 306
for analyzing potential value of design options, 281
for approving requirements, 177
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for measuring solution performance, 300
for modeling requirements, 254
for validating requirements, 264
for verifying requirements, 260
Evolutionary Project Management (Evo), 374 evolutionary prototypes, 206, 207 expectancy theory, 355 expected benefits, 280 expected costs, 280
experience requirements
calculating experience hours, 430–431
CBAP exam, 427–428
CCBA exam, 429–430
expert judgment estimation, 46 expert power, 353
Extreme Programming (XP), 384

F facilitation, as interaction skill, 352 failing CBAP/CCBA exams, 434 Failure Mode and Effect Analysis (FMEA), 412 feasible requirements, 258 Feature Driven Development (FDD), 374
Federal Enterprise Architecture Service Reference Model (FEA SRM), 400 fees, CBAP and CCBA exams, 433, 434 financial analysis
  for analyzing current state of projects, 104
  for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
  for assessing changes to requirements, 173
  for assessing risk, 125
  for building business analysis reports, 46
  for defining change strategy, 132
  for defining future state of projects, 114
  for prioritizing requirements, 166
  for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323
  for validating requirements, 264 fishbone diagrams, 102–103, 103 fit criteria, 283–284
five whys, 103
FMEA (Failure Mode and Effect Analysis), 412 focus groups
  for analyzing current state of projects, 104
  for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
  for conducting elicitation, 204–206
  for defining change strategy, 132
  for evaluating solution performance, 300
  for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323 forcing, conflict resolution technique, 357 formal models, 237 forming stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354 FRAMEWORX, 400
functional decomposition
  for analyzing current state of projects, 104
  for building business analysis reports, 46
  for defining future state of projects, 115
  for defining requirements architecture, 269
  for defining solution scope, 132
  for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
  for modeling requirements, 254
  for tracing requirements, 155 functional prototypes, 206, 207, 208 functional requirements, 18

G

Gane-Sarson notation, 243, 243, 244, 245, 249 gap analysis, 112, 129, 130 glossaries, for modeling requirements, 254 gold plating, 150
Governments Strategic Reference Model (GSRM), 411 grouping requirements, 165
A Guide to the Business Analysis Body of Knowledge. See Babok Guide

H

Herzberg, Frederic, 354–355 historic analysis estimation, 45

I

idea generation, 197
idea reduction, 197
IEEE (Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers) requirements classification scheme, 19
IGOE (Inputs, Guide, Outputs, Enablers), 413 IIBA (International Institute of Business Analysis) calculating experience hours for, 430–431 certification fees, 433, 434 impact analysis, 171–172, 173 implementation subject matter experts, as key stakeholders, 7 industry knowledge, 346–347
informal models, 237 information management planning levels of abstraction, 69 organization considerations, 69
overview, 66–69
requirements attributes, 71–72 requirements reuse, 70 storage and access, 71 techniques overview, 72–73
traceability approach, 69–70 information packages, 214, 215–216 Information Technology Infrastructure (ITIL), 401
information technology perspective
business analysis scope, 391–392
change scope, 389–390
knowledge area impacts, 393–397
overview, 388–389
underlying competencies, 392–393
Inputs, Guide, Outputs, Enablers (IGOEs), 413 interaction skills conflict resolution, 355–358 facilitation, 352 leadership and influencing, 352–353 negotiation, 355
teaching, 358
teamwork, 353–355
interface analysis
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for conducting elicitation, 209
interviews
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing performance measures, 306
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing risk, 125
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for building business analysis reports, 46
for communicating requirements, 216
for conducting elicitation, 209
for confirming elicitation results, 213
for defining design options, 276
for defining future state of projects, 115
for defining requirements architecture, 270
for defining solution scope, 132
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for planning business analysis information management, 72
for preparing for elicitation, 198
for prioritizing requirements, 166 Ishikawa diagrams, 102. See also fishbone diagrams issue management, 104
IT-centric, BPM process improvement approach, 409 item tracking
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for approving requirements, 177
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for building business analysis reports, 46
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for planning business analysis information management, 72
for prioritizing requirements, 166
for validating requirements, 264
for verifying requirements, 260
ITIL (Information Technology Infrastructure), 401

K
Kaizen event, 413
kanban, agile approach, 371, 374 Kano Analysis, 375, 378
key performance indicators (KPIs), 79, 84, 104, 109, 115
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing performance measures, 306
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for validating requirements, 264
for verifying requirements, 260
kinesthetic learners, 340, 358 knowledge areas. See also specific areas agile perspective impacts, 376–379 business architecture perspective impacts, 402–407 business intelligence perspective impacts, 384–388 business process management perspective impacts, 415–417
CBAP experience requirements, 428
CCBA experience requirements, 429–430
elements, 13, 436, 438–442
information technology perspective impacts, 393–397 organization of, 13–14
overview, 9–12
relationships between, 10
tasks, 10–12
KPIs. See key performance indicators
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for building business analysis reports, 46
for defining design options, 276
for defining future state of projects, 115
for defining solution scope, 132
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for managing stakeholder collaboration, 221
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for planning business analysis information management, 72 Lightweight Documentation, 375, 378 listening skills, 351 logical data models, 244

M
maintained attributes, 158 requirements, 156–158, 157
state, 21
market analysis
for analyzing current state of projects, 103
for analyzing performance measures, 306
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for conducting elicitation, 208
for defining change strategy, 131
for defining design options, 276
for evaluating solution performance, 300 meta questions, 224 metadata, data modeling and, 246
methodologies
business process management perspective, 411–412 knowledge, 347
metrics, 79
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing performance measures, 306

L lateral thinking, 197
lean BMP methodology, 411 legitimate power, 353 lessons learned
for analyzing current state of projects, 104
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing risk, 125
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for validating requirements, 264
for verifying requirements, 260
mind mapping
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing risk, 125
for conducting elicitation, 209
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining design options, 276–277
for defining future state of projects, 115
for planning business analysis
information management, 72
for preparing for elicitation, 198
Model-based and Integrated Process Improvement (MIPI), 411 modeled state, 21
modeling tools, 348, 349
MoSCoW Prioritization, 375, 378 motivational-hygiene theory, 354–355 mourning stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354

N necessity dependency, 154 negotiation skills, 355 negotiation, of requirements, 166 nonfunctional requirements, 18, 247–248 nonverbal communication, 350, 351 norming stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354

O
observation
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing performance measures, 306

P
parametric estimation, 45 payments, for CBAP and CCBA exams, 433, 434 PCF (Process Classification Framework), 401, 411 people-centric, BPM process improvement approach, 409 performance, of business analysis assessments measures, 77–78 corrective/preventive actions, 78–79
key performance indicators (KPIs), 79
metrics, 79
overview, 74–77
performance analysis, 77 performance assessment, 81 results analysis, 78
techniques overview, 79–80
performance, of solutions analyzing measures, 302–307, 304 building the analysis, 307–308 measuring, 297, 297–302 performing stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354 permissions matrix
for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
for modeling requirements, 254
personal accountability, 344 perspectives on business analysis
agile, 371–379
business architecture, 397–407
business intelligence, 379–388
business process management, 407–417
information technology, 388–397
overview, 24–25, 370
PERT estimation, 45
physical data models, 244 pilot releases, 295
power levels, 353
predictive analytics, 383 predictive planning approaches, 39–41 prescriptive analytics, 383 preventive actions, 78–79 prioritized designs, 167 prioritized requirements, 160–167, 162, 258 prioritized state, in requirements state machine, 21 problem-solving skills, 341 alternatives identification, 341
conceptual thinking, 342
creating thinking, 339
decision making, 340, 341
learning, 340
overview, 338–339
problem definition, 341 systems thinking, 341
visual thinking, 342
process analysis
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for conducting elicitation, 209
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323 Process Classification Framework (PCF), 401, 411 process modeling
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for building business analysis reports, 46
for conducting elicitation, 209
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining future state of projects, 115
for defining solution scope, 132
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80 notations, 250
for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
for modeling requirements, 248–250
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for planning business analysis information management, 72
for tracing requirements, 155 process-centric enterprise views, 100 product backlogs, of requirements, 165, 166 professional detachment skills, 358–360 professional development, eligibility requirement for CBAP and CCBA exams, 432 progressive elaboration, 417 project charter, 127

project managers
as key stakeholders, 7 relationship with business analysts, 6–7 prototyping

for conducting elicitation, 206–208
for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for modeling requirements, 254

punishment power, 353

Q

questionnaires
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing performance measures, 307
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
for assessing risk, 125
for assessing solution limitations, 311
for building business analysis reports, 47
for conducting elicitation, 209
for defining design options, 277
for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for planning business analysis governance, 64
for planning business analysis information management, 73
for recommending actions to increase solution value, 323

R

RACI matrix, 56, 62, 84
ranking requirements, 165 RE (Requirements Engineering), 392

references, eligibility requirement for CBAP and CCBA exams, 432 referent power, 353 registering for CBAP and CCBA exams, 434 regulators, as key stakeholders, 8 release planning, 130–131
requirements
allocation, 275
architecture, defining, 265–272 atomic, 257
business requirements, 148, 150–151 classification scheme, 16–21
classifying, 16–21, 17 concise, 258
elicitation. See Elicitation and Collaboration IEEE scheme, 19
lineage, 150
maintaining, 156–158
management process, 16
nonfunctional, 247–248
overview, 14
product backlogs, 165, 166 relationship with design cycle, 15, 15 solution requirements, 148, 150–151
stakeholder requirements, 18, 148, 150–151, 154
state machine, 20–21
traceability, 150–156, 151 transition, 18, 294, 324–325 well-written, characteristics of, 257–259 requirements analysis and design definition

agile projects, 379
analyzing potential value and recommended solution, 278, 278–283
answers to review questions, 487–488
business architecture projects, 406
business intelligence projects, 388
business process management projects, 417 defining design options, 272–278 defining requirements architecture, 265–272, 266
elements, 441–442
exam essentials, 285–287
information technology projects, 396–397
key terms, 287–288
mapping deliverables to, 464–465
mapping stakeholders to, 447–458
mapping techniques to, 451–453
outputs, 477
overview, 12, 234–236
specifying and modeling requirements, 237–256
tasks, 12, 236, 238
validating requirements, 261, 261–265
verifying requirements, 256, 256–261 Requirements Engineering (RE), 392 requirements life cycle management
agile projects, 379
answers to review questions, 484–485 approving requirements, 174–178, 175 assessing requirements changes, 167–174, 169
business architecture projects, 406
business intelligence projects, 387
business process management projects, 417
elements, 439–440
exam essentials, 181–182
information technology projects, 396 maintaining requirements, 156–160, 157
mapping deliverables to, 461–462
mapping stakeholders to, 456–457
mapping techniques to, 449
outputs, 475–476
overview, 11, 146–148
prioritizing requirements, 160–167, 162 task list, 148–149
tracing requirements, 150–156 requirements state machine, 20–21 research questions, 224 reusable requirements, 158 review meetings reviews
for approving requirements, 177
for building business analysis reports, 47
for communicating requirements, 217
for confirming elicitation results, 213
for identifying business analysis
improvements, 80
for planning business analysis
governance, 64
for validating requirements, 264
for verifying requirements, 260
reward power, 353
risk analysis and management
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing performance measures, 307
for analyzing potential value of design
options, 282
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for assessing enterprise limitations, 317
for assessing solution limitations, 311 for building business analysis reports, 47
for identifying business analysis
improvements, 80
for managing stakeholder collaboration, 221
for preparing for elicitation, 198
for prioritizing requirements, 166
for recommending actions to increase
solution value, 323
for validating requirements, 264 risks, decision making and, 340 roles
for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
for modeling requirements, 254
of business analysts, 3–4 rolling wave estimation, 45 ROM (rough order of magnitude) estimation, 46 root-cause analysis, 102–103

  for analyzing performance measures, 307
  for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
  for assessing risk, 125
  for assessing solution limitations, 311
  for defining design options, 277
  for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
  for modeling requirements, 254

rough order of magnitude (ROM) estimation, 46

S

satisfy, traceability relationship, 154

Scaled Agile Framework (SAFe), 374 scenarios
    for evaluating solution performance, 301
    for modeling requirements, 250–252 scope modeling
    for analyzing current state of projects, 105
    for analyzing stakeholders, 57
    for building business analysis reports, 47
    for defining future state of projects, 115
    for defining requirements architecture, 270
    for defining solution scope, 132
    for modeling requirements, 255
    for tracing requirements, 155

SCOR (Supply Chain Operations Reference), 401

Scrum, agile approach, 374 sequence diagrams, 250

Shewhart “plan-do-check-act” cycle, 82, 82

SIPOC (Suppliers Inputs Process Outputs Customer), 413

Six Sigma, 412

SMART (Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-Bound) objectives, 111–112

SMEs (subject matter experts), as key stakeholders, 7 smoothing, conflict resolution technique, 357 software knowledge, 348–349 solution components, 308

solution evaluation
  agile projects, 379
  analyzing performance measures, 302–308, 304
  answers to review questions, 488–489
  assessing enterprise limitations, 312–319, 313 assessing solution limitations, 308–312, 309
  business architecture projects, 406
  business intelligence projects, 388
  business process management projects, 417
  elements, 442
  exam essentials, 328–329
  information technology projects, 397
  key terms, 329–330
  mapping to deliverables, 465 mapping to stakeholders, 458 mapping to techniques, 453–455 measuring solution performance, 296, 297–302
  outputs, 478
  overview, 12, 294–296
  recommending actions to increase solution value, 319–324, 320
  tasks, 12, 296

solution knowledge, 347

solution requirements, 18, 148, 150–151

solution scope, 20

specified state, in requirements state machine, 21

sponsors, as key stakeholders, 8 SSADM (Structured Systems Analysis and Design), 392

stakeholder engagement plans
- assessing stakeholder communication needs, 54
- defining stakeholder collaboration, 53–54
- lists, maps, personas, 55–56
- organization modeling, 54–55
- overview, 49, 49–50
- performing stakeholder analysis, 52–53
- summary of techniques, 56–57
- task inputs, 49–52
- task output, 58

stakeholder list, map, or personas
- for eliciting business analysis information, 198
- for managing stakeholder engagement, 221
- for modeling requirements, 255
- planning stakeholder engagement, 55–56

stakeholder matrix, 55

stakeholders
- mapping to business analysis planning and monitoring, 455
- mapping to elicitation and collaboration, 456
- mapping to requirements analysis and design definition, 457–458
- mapping to requirements life cycle management, 456–457
- mapping to solution evaluation, 458
- mapping to strategy analysis, 457
- requirements, 18, 148, 150, 154

state machine, 20–21

state machine diagrams, 253

state modeling, 253

storming stage, Tuckman model of team development, 354

strategy analysis
- agile projects, 379
- answers to review questions, 483–484

business architecture projects, 406

business intelligence projects, 387–388

business process management projects, 417

change strategy definition, 126–136

current state analysis, 95–107

elements, 440–441

future state definition, 107–118

information technology projects, 396

mapping deliverables to, 462–463

mapping stakeholders to, 457

mapping techniques to, 450–451

outputs, 476–477

overview, 11, 92–94

risk assessment, 119–126

tasks, 11, 94

Structured Systems Analysis and Design (SSADM), 392 subject matter experts (SMEs), as key stakeholders, 7 sunk cost fallacy, 340

Suppliers Inputs Process Outputs Customer (SIPOC), 413

suppliers, as key stakeholders, 8

Supply Chain Operations Reference (SCOR), 401 supply-driven analytics, 383

supporting materials, 198

surveys
- for analyzing current state of projects, 105
- for analyzing performance measures, 307
- for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
- for analyzing stakeholders, 57
- for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
- for assessing risk, 125
- for assessing solution limitations, 311
- for building business analysis reports, 47
- for conducting elicitation, 209
- for defining design options, 277
- for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for identifying business analysis
improvements, 80
for planning business analysis
governance, 64
for planning business analysis
information management, 73
for recommending actions to increase
solution value, 323
SWOT (Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities, and Threats) analysis, 113, 114
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing potential value of design
options, 282
for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
for defining change strategy, 132
systems thinking, 341

T

tactile learners, 340, 358
tasks
Business Analysis Planning and Monitoring, 10–11, 35–36, 436–437, 438
Elicitation and Collaboration, 11–12, 192–193, 437, 438–439
Requirements Analysis and Design
Definition, 12, 236, 437, 441–442
Requirements Life Cycle Management,
11, 148–149, 437, 439–440
Solution Evaluation, 12, 437, 442
Strategy Analysis, 11, 94, 437, 440–441 structure of, 13–14 teaching skills, 358
teamwork skills, 353–355
techniques
business process management perspective, 412–413
mapping to business analysis planning and modeling, 446–447
mapping to elicitation and collaboration, 448 mapping to requirements analysis and design definition, 451–453 mapping to requirements life cycle management, 449
mapping to solution evaluation, 453–455
mapping to strategy analysis, 450–451
summary of, 468–472
testable requirements, 258 testers, as key stakeholders, 7
The Open Group Architecture Framework
(TOGAF), 402
Theory of Constraints (TOC), 412 text X and theory Y motivational theory, 355
three-point estimation, 45 throw-away prototypes, 206 time boxing/budgeting requirements, 165
TOC (Theory of Constraints), 412 TOGAF (The Open Group Architecture Framework), 402
top-down, BPM process improvement
approach, 409
Total Quality Management (TQM), 412 touched state, in requirements state machine, 21 transition requirements, 150–156, 151 transition states, 130
trustworthiness, behavioral characteristic, 344
Tuckman model of team development, 354

U

underlying competencies
agile perspective, 376
analytical thinking and problem solving, 338–342
answers to review questions, 490–491 behavioral characteristics, 342–345
business architecture perspective, 402
business intelligence perspective, 384
business knowledge, 345–348
business process management perspective, 413
communication skills, 349–351
information technology perspective, 392–393 interactive skills, 352–358
key terms, 362–363
overview, 5–6
tools and technology, 348–349 Unified Process (UP), IT methodology, 392 use cases
for evaluating solution performance, 301
for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
for modeling requirements, 250–252, 252 user stories
for maintaining reusable requirements, 159
for modeling requirements, 253

validate, traceability relationship, 154 validated requirements, 264–265 validated state, in requirements state machine, 21
validating requirements, 261, 261–265
Value Reference Model (VRM), 401 vendor assessment
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for defining change strategy, 132
for defining design options, 276
for defining future state of projects, 115
for evaluating solution performance, 301 verbal communication skills, 350–351 verified requirements, 260–261 verified state, in requirements state machine, 21 verifying requirements, 256, 256–261 viewpoints, 268, 286
views, 268, 286
visual thinking, 342
VRM (Value Reference Model), 401

W withdrawal, conflict resolution technique, 357 work experience
CBAP requirements, 428
CCBA requirements, 429
workshops
for analyzing current state of projects, 105
for analyzing potential value of design options, 282
for analyzing stakeholders, 57
for approving requirements, 178
for assessing changes to requirements, 173
for assessing enterprise limitations, 318
for assessing risk, 125
for building business analysis reports, 47
for communicating requirements, 217
for conducting elicitation, 209
for confirming elicitation results, 213
for defining change strategy, 133
for defining design options, 277
for defining future state of projects, 115
for defining requirements architecture, 270
for identifying business analysis improvements, 80
for planning business analysis governance, 64 written communication skills – Zachman Framework

for planning business analysis
information management, 73
for prioritizing requirements, 166 written communication skills, 351

X

XP (Extreme Programming), 384

Y

Yourdon notation, 243, 243, 244

Z

Zachman Framework, 402