Index

acute rhinosinusitis (ARS), 38 allogenic bone grafts, 157–8 allografts, 157, 158, 160, 162
all-on-4 technique, 44–7
alloplasts, 158, 160
American Academy of Oral and Maxillofacial Radiology (AAOMR), 31 anorganic bovine bone mineral (ABBM), 161 as low as reasonably achievable (ALARA) principles, 10, 25, 35, 49 autogenous bone grafts, 157, 168 barrier membrane, 76–7, 110, 111 benign paroxysmal positional vertigo (BPPV), 135 tissue engineering materials see tissue engineering materials xenogenic bone grafts, 158
bone morphogenetic protein (BMP), 158
bony septa, 1, 87–8
CBCT see cone beam computed tomography (CBCT) chronic gut suture, 60, 61
chronic maxillary sinusitis, 80, 81 chronic/persistent maxillary sinusitis, 7 chronic rhinosinusitis (CRS), 38–9 chronic sinusitis, 4
clogged maxillary sinus, 80, 82 computer-assisted implant dentistry, 48–9 cone beam computed tomography (CBCT) accurate radiographic method, 49 advantages, 34
clinical application, 50
guided implant surgery
all-on-4 technique, 44–7
DICOM, 44
stereolithographic surgical guide, 45 transcrestal approach, 45, 47–9 intraosseous vessels, 42–3 long-cone periapical radiography, 14 maxillary sinus and bony structures, 35
maxillary sinus septa, 39–41
nonsecretory cyst, 35
oral and maxillofacial diagnosis, 34
panoramic radiography, 18

© 2014 John Wiley & Sons, Inc. Published 2014 by John Wiley & Sons, Inc.
cone beam computed tomography (CBCT) (cont’d)
rhinosinusitis, 38–9
secretory cysts, 35
SimPlant software, 35
sinus grafting procedures, 43–4 sinus membrane thickness, 19 continuous sutures technique, 60 controlled hydrostatic sinus elevation allograft bone material, 145 calibrated and hand-controlled pump, 139, 140
dental implant placement, 142–3
full-thickness flap, 143, 144
hand-actuated pump, 144
luer-lock cannula, 143, 144 matching size insert cannula, 145 patient prescriptions, 145–6
pressure sensor meter, 139, 140
sinus membrane perforations, 139
surgical protocol, 140–142
tapping motion, 138, 139
conventional cross-sectional tomography
clinical application
anatomic structures and morphology, 32–4 limitations, 32
dental implant patients, 32 linear and multidirectional motion, 32 X-ray beam, 32
conventional dental radiographic imaging techniques periapical see periapical radiography radiographic examination, 24, 25
delayed implant placement technique
criteria, 165, 166
disadvantages, 166
lateral window approach, 167, 168
residual bone height, 170 demineralized freeze-dried bone allografts (DFDBAs), 157, 158 delayed implant success and survival rates definition, 166
delayed implant placement technique
criteria, 165, 166
disadvantages, 166
lateral window approach, 167, 168
residual bone height, 170
grafting materials, 172
growth factors, 168
implant length, 170
implant surfaces, 169–170
intraoperative and postoperative complications, 171–2 oral hygiene, 171
removable partial denture (RPD), 170–171 residual bone quality, 170 parafunctional habit, 171
simultaneous placement technique
advantage, 165
criteria, 165, 166
lateral window approach, 166–8
residual bone height, 170
transalveolar approach, 168, 169 smoking habit, 171
dental-implant treatment planning, 31 diamond/carbide rotary instruments, 107 digital imaging and communications in medicine (DICOM) files, 44 digital long-cone periapical technique, 14 distal membrane, 72
European Association for Osseointegration (EAO), 18, 32
fibrointegration, 11
freeze-dried bone allografts (FDBA), 74, 157 functional endoscopic sinus surgery (FESS), 83 hard tissue management bone island handling, 71
bony window
buccal alveolus, 68
carbide bur, 69, 70
diamond round bur, 68, 70
handpieces, 68, 69
osteotomy, 68–70
posterior superior alveolar artery, 68, 69 sinus membrane, 71–4
wall-off technique, 71
healthy maxillary sinus, 80, 81
hematomas, 98
hydraulic sinus lift procedure see controlled hydrostatic sinus elevation implant-abutment seating, 12–13
infraorbital artery (IOA), 42
infraorbital process, 1 interarch discrepancy, xii, xiii intraoral dental radiographs, 16

Kramer-Nevins sinus lift instruments, 63

lateral window technique
bone grafting material bovine xenograft, 74–5
collagen plug, 75, 76
equine xenograft, 74–5
freeze-dried bone allografts (FDBA), 74–5
growth factors, 74–5
osteocative, 74
OSTEON, 74–5
rhBMP-2, 74–5
clinical procedures
anesthesia, 67
barrier membrane, 76–7
bone grafting materials see bone grafting material hard tissue management see hard tissue management incision/flap design, 67, 68 suturing technique, 77

complications
chronic maxillary sinusitis, 80, 81
clogged maxillary sinus, 80, 82 contamination of site or graft material, 95 dental/periodontal examination, 80, 99–100 diagnostic wax-up, 80
dislodgement, implant, 95
flap care, 89
flap retraction injury, 89–90
graft particles, 93–4
healthy maxillary sinus, 80, 81
hemorrhage/excessive bleeding, 82, 88, 96 inadvertent tears/perforations, 90–91 medical history, 82–4
medical preoperative conditions, 99
panoramic radiograph, 80 patient’s social history, 80 postoperative instructions, 98, 100–101 preoperative dental conditions, 99–100 preoperative instructions, 100 preoperative sinus conditions, 99 presurgical prevention, 89 radiographic testing see radiographic testing Schneiderian membrane perforation, 82, 91–3 semilunar hiatus, 80, 81
septa, 87–8
sinus membrane incomplete elevation, 96–8 teeth trauma, 95
transoperative and postoperative complications, 79 delayed placement technique, 167, 168 dental implant success and survival rates, 166–8 hen’s egg shell, 61, 62
maxillary sinus septa, 39
piezosurgical technology see piezosurgical technology Schneiderian membrane, 57, 58
sinus augmentation, ix, x, xi sinus elevation elevator
Kramer-Nevins sinus lift instruments, 63
Palti sinus lift instrument, 63 sinus membrane detach, 63, 64
sinus membrane elevation, 64, 65
Tarnow-Eskow sinus lift instrument, 63 sinus elevation surgery instruments, 58, 59 surgery sinus lift instruments, 58, 59 suture materials and technique, 60, 61 tactile sensations, 58
transalveolar osteotome approach, 117
luer-lock cannula, 143

maxillary ostium (MO), 3

maxillary sinus
anatomy
alveolar and palatine processes, 1 bilateral air-filled cavities, skull, 1, 2
bony septa, 1
function and physiology, 7
infraorbital process, 1
microscopic, 4, 5
natural ostium, 3–4
nerves and blood vessels, 5, 6
odontogenic infection, 1, 2
maxillary sinus (cont’d)
  Schneiderian membrane, 3 sinus cavities, 3
  zygomatic process/projection, 1
  pathophysiology, 7
Mectron Medical Technology, 107
Mectron piezosurgery device, 107 monofilament sutures, 60 mucocele cyst, 35–7

natural ostium, 3–4
nonosseointegrated implant, 11–12

odontogenic infection, 1, 2 orthopedic joint replacement, 83 osteoco nductive bone grafting materials, 74
OSTEON, 74
osteonecrosis of the jaw (ONJ), 83 osteotome sinus floor elevation, 151 osteotome technique, ix, xi, 10
crestal approach, 113
dome-shaped tented space, 113, 114 instrument set, 113, 114
Summers osteotome technique, 113
transalveolar approach concave and convex osteotome, 115, 116 osteotome kit, 114, 115 straight and offset osteotomes, 115, 116 surgical mallet, 114–5
ostiomeatal complex (OMC)
ostium, 3–4
Palti sinus lift instrument, 63
panoramic radiography
clinical applications
  anatomic structures and morphology, 19–20
  bone quantity, 24
  CBCT/CT, 19
dentoalveolar structures, 23 false-negative diagnosis, 24 mucosal antral cysts, 22 mucosal thickening, 19, 21, 23 mucous retention cysts, 23 seromucinous glands, 22 dental implant assessments, 18
maxillofacial area, 18
periapical radiography
ALARA principles, 10
clinical applications
cementation, 15–16
gеometric and anatomic limitations, 16–18
implant-abutment seating, 12–13 implant osseointegration, 11–12 indirect sinus augmentation, 10–11 peri-implant bone change, 13–15
residual bone height, 10, 11
intraoral film-based, 9 patient-friendly radiographic method, 10 peri-implant bone conditions, 17
piezosurgical technology applications, 106–108
blood-free surgical field, 106 bone graft and barrier membrane, 110, 111 bony window osteotomy, 108
full-thickness flap, 108
microvibrations, 105, 106 piezoelectric power unit, 105
sinus membrane elevation hand instruments, 110, 111
  noncutting elevator EL1, EL2, and EL3, 109, 110
Schneiderian membrane, 109
sinus membrane separation, 109, 110 suture and postoperation instruction, 110 platelet-derived growth factor (PDGF), 159–160 posterior maxillary arch complications Epley maneuver, 132–3
  inadequate primary stability, 129–130 infection, 130
  sinus membrane perforations, 131–2 subantral bone height, 129 posterior superior alveolar artery (PSAA), 42 precision implant X-ray relator and locator (PIXRL), 14 radio-detectable materials, cementation, 18 radiographic testing
  blood vessels position, 86, 87 bone resorption/pneumatization, 84 CT image, 84–5
  osteoclastic activity, 84
  ostium, 87
panoramic radiograph, 84
paranasal sinuses, 84, 86
periapical infection, 84 radiopaque object, 84–5 Waters’ projection, 84
recombinant human BMP-2 (rhBMP-2), 159, 160
removable partial denture (RPD), 170–171
retention cysts, 35, 36
rhinosinusitis, 38–9
Rinn system, 119
sensory innervation, 5, 6
SimPlant software, 35
simultaneous placement technique
advantage, 165
criteria, 165, 166
lateral window approach, 166–8
residual bone height, 170
transalveolar approach, 168, 169
sinus augmentation, x sinus elevation procedures, ix, x sinus floor elevation technique
lateral window technique
decision tree, 153–5
diamond/piezosurgical tips, 149, 150 implant survival rates, 155
maxillary sinus cavity, 149
residual bone height, 152
sinus bone grafting, 153
wall-off technique, 149–151
transalveolar technique
decision tree, 153–5
implant length, 152–3
implant survival rate, 155–6 maxillary sinus cavity, 150 osteotome technique, 150–152
sinus bone grafting, 153
thin-out technique, 152, 153 standardized periapical radiograph, 13–14 stereolithographic surgical template, 45, 46
Summers osteotome technique, 113
Tarnow-Eskow sinus lift instrument, 63
3-D radiographic imaging techniques CBCT see cone beam computed tomography (CBCT)
conventional cross-sectional tomography, 33–4
medical-grade CT scans
ALARA principles, 35
bone and soft tissue, 33 bone density measurement, 33 computer-guided implant surgery, 45, 47–9 history, 33
intraosseous vessels, 42–3
sinus grafting procedures, 43–4 tissue engineering materials
allografts, 160, 162
alloplasts, 160, 162
autografts, 162
biological growth factors, 162
canine models, 159
rhBMP-2, 159, 160
rhPDGF, 159–161
xenografts, 160, 162
traditional radiographic imaging techniques, 31
transalveolar osteotome approach
clinical procedures
bone graft material, 120
crestal approach, 117
delayed approach, 125
dental implant approach, 124 dental implant insertion, 123 enlarged, cylindrical drill, 120 flap and flapless approach, 117–18 implant preparation site, 118 overinsertion and membrane perforation, 122 periapical radiograph, 118, 119 piezosurgical instruments, 118
Rinn system, 118
sinus floor cortical bone, light malleting, 121 postoperative management antibiotic therapy, 127 anti-inflammatory medication, 127 postoperative instruction, 128–9, 133–4 sinus elevation complications, 129–33
preoperative instructions, 133
transalveolar sinus elevation techniques balloon sinus lift technique angled design, 135, 136
clinical procedures, 136–8 micro-mini design, 136
straight design, 135, 136
green-stick fracture, 135 hydraulic sinus lift procedure
allograft bone material, 145
transalveolar sinus elevation techniques (cont’d)
calibrated, hand-controlled pump, 139, 140
dental implant placement, 142–3
full-thickness flap, 143, 144
hand-actuated pump, 144
luer-lock cannula, 143, 144
patient prescriptions, 145–6
pressure sensor meter, 139, 140
sinus membrane perforations, 139

surgical protocol, 140–142
tapping motion, 138, 139

Valsalva test, 93, 140

wall-off technique, 71

xenogenic bone grafts, 158

xenografts, 160

Zimmer inflated sinus balloon, 135