Contents

Notes on Contributors ix
Foreword xvii
Mark L. Savickas
Acknowledgments xxi

Part I Introduction

1 Overview and Introduction 3
Tammy D. Allen and Lillian T. Eby

2 Definition and Evolution of Mentoring 7
Lillian T. Eby, Jean E. Rhodes, and Tammy D. Allen

Part II Theoretical Approaches and Methodological Issues 21

3 Youth Mentoring: Theoretical and Methodological Issues 23
Thomas E. Keller

4 Student–Faculty Mentoring: Theoretical and Methodological Issues 49
W. Brad Johnson, Gail Rose, and Lewis Z. Schlosser

5 Workplace Mentoring: Theoretical Approaches and Methodological Issues 71
Terri A. Scandura and Ekin K. Pellegrini

6 Reflections on the Theoretical Approaches and Methodological Issues in Mentoring Relationships 93
Marcus M. Butts, Jaime R. Durley, and Lillian T. Eby
Part III Naturally Occurring Mentoring Relationships
7 Naturally Occurring Mentoring Relationships Involving Youth
Renée Spencer 99
8 Naturally Occurring Student–Faculty Mentoring Relationships: A Literature Review
Carol A. Mullen 119
9 Naturally Occurring Mentoring Relationships Involving Workplace Employees
Thomas W. Dougherty, Daniel B. Turban, and Dana L. Haggard 139
10 Reflections on Naturally Occurring Mentoring Relationships
Elizabeth Lentz and Tammy D. Allen 159

Part IV Benefits of Mentoring
11 The Benefits Associated with Youth Mentoring Relationships
Lynn Blinn-Pike 165
12 Student–Faculty Mentorship Outcomes
W. Brad Johnson 189
13 The Benefits Associated with Workplace Mentoring Relationships
Aarti Ramaswami and George F. Dreher 211
14 Reflections on the Benefits of Mentoring
Angie L. Lockwood, Sarah Carr Evans, and Lillian T. Eby 233

Part V Diversity and Mentoring
15 Diversity and Youth Mentoring Relationships
Belle Liang and Jennifer M. Grossman 239
16 Mentoring in Academia: Considerations for Diverse Populations
William E. Sedlacek, Eric Benjamin, Lewis Z. Schlosser, and Hung-Bin Sheu 259
17 Diversity and Workplace Mentoring Relationships: A Review and Positive Social Capital Approach
Belle Rose Ragins 281
18 Reflections on Diversity and Mentoring
Hazel-Anne M. Johnson, Xian Xu, and Tammy D. Allen 301

Part VI Best Practices for Formal Mentoring Programs
19 Best Practices for Formal Youth Mentoring
Andrew Miller 307
20 Best Practices for Student–Faculty Mentoring Programs
Clark D. Campbell 325
CONTENTS

21 Best Practices for Workplace Formal Mentoring Programs 345
   Lisa M. Finkelstein and Mark L. Poteet

22 Reflections on Best Practices for Formal Mentoring Programs 369
   Kimberly E. O’Brien, Ozgun B. Rodopman, and Tammy D. Allen

Part VII Integrating Multiple Mentoring Perspectives 373

23 New Directions in Mentoring 375
   Steve Bearman, Stacy Blake-Beard, Laurie Hunt, and Faye J. Crosby

24 Common Bonds: An Integrative View of Mentoring Relationships 397
   Tammy D. Allen and Lillian T. Eby

Bibliography 420
Name Index 465
Subject Index 481