INDEX

A
Academic ability: schools' emphasis on, 6–8; standards-based movement's focus on, 178–180
Accountability: education delivery mode to ensure, 261–262; transparency to ensure, 259–261
Action: standards focusing on, 244n, 244–246; strategic, capacity for, 225, 235–238, 274. See also Theory of action
Action research, 275
The Adolescent Society (Coleman), 12
Alienation, 60
American Federation of Teachers, 155
Anti-intellectualism, 6, 6n
Arendt, Hannah, 16n
Assessment: of capacity for change, 253–254; of conditions increasing student engagement, 255–258; of current status of school, 228n, 228; of social systems, 254–255, 255n
Athos, A. G., 62
Authority: consensual, 55–57; decision-making, 228n; exercised for social control, 53–57; types of, 53–54, 55
Authority relationships, 18, 51

B
Behavioral psychology, 75, 92, 93
Blanchard, Ken, 131
Block grants, 258–259, 260–261
Boundary systems, 30, 31, 46, 272, 299–300
Bronk, Detlev, 145
Building capacity. See Capacity
Bureaucracies: capacity in, 223; characteristics of leaders in, 233–234; vs. community, 136–137; core businesses of, 63–65; government, transformation of schools into, 143–157; lack of trust assumed by, 201; origin of term, 39; professionals in, 97–99; rational, 40; role of standards in, 241; schools as, 42–44, 45, 46; social control in, 51, 52, 53, 55, 58–59, 61; social systems of, 46–48, 49, 50, 289–305; structure of, as barrier to innovations, 23–25; superordinate goals of, 63; transforming, into learning organizations, 138–140. See also Images of schools
Bureaucratic ethos, 150–152
Bureaucratic practicality, 34
Business: learning organization model in, 211–212, 217n; profit emphasis in, 162–163. See also Core businesses
Business leaders, and school reform, 149–150, 212–213
Busing, 191–192

C
Callahan, Raymond, 74
Capacity: to act strategically, 225, 235–238, 274; in bureaucracies, 223; civic, 187–188, 193–195; defined, 223–224; to focus on future, 225–229, 273–274; to maintain direction and focus, 225, 229–234, 274; and persistence of effort, 238–239; standards for assessing, for change, 253–254
Carnegie unit, 37
Central office: in bureaucratic images of schools, 72, 83–84, 94–95, 107–108, 309; in learning organizations, 131, 309
Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education, Swann v., 191, 192
Children: marketing to, 13–15, 18–19; requiring custodial care, 62; schools' dependence on failure of some, 7–8
Christensen, Clayton M., 27n, 27–28, 38
Civic capacity: defined, 187; importance to installing innovations, 187–188; responsibility to build, 193–195
Clark, Joe, 100
Coleman, James, 12
Collaboration, 235, 237–238
Collins, Jim, 150, 270
Common good: lack of school boards focusing on, 110, 133, 193, 194–195, 196; and public education, 199, 206
Common language, as strategy to introduce disruptive innovations, 38
Communities: actions by educational leaders to build, 284–287; decline of, and school reforms, 190, 191–192; development of standards by, 248; enforcement of standards by, 243; holding schools accountable, 248–251; of learners, 114; learning, 113–114, 115–117; link between schools and, 4–5; schools as small, 134–138; special interest groups in, 188, 193–194
Compliance: in bureaucracies, 56, 61; vs. engagement, 45, 226; schools focusing on, 21
Consensual authority, 55–57
Continuity, developing structures for, 232–233
Control, government, of public schools, 143–157, 283, 287. See also Local control; Social control
Core businesses: defined, 44; and goals and functions of schools, 63–65; and metaphors, 72, 73, 218
Cuban, Larry, 5n, 19, 144
Culture: anti-intellectualism in American, 6, 6n; knowledge work, 123–125; transmission of, as school function, 61
Curriculum reform of 1960s, 32–35, 145–146

D
Decision making: level of, 228n; results-oriented, 232
Deep learning, 44, 45
Democracy: dialogue and debate by citizens in, 165, 166, 167; high-quality education necessary for, 6, 15n, 15–17, 16n; transmission of values of, 135
Design teams, 269–270
Dewey, John, 134, 267
Digital immigrants, 18
Digital natives, 18
Digital technologies: access to information with, 20; necessity of using, 18–19; and need for transformation, 9–11
Direction: capacity to maintain, 225, 229–234, 274; goals as key to, 62
Directional systems, 30, 31, 272, 290–291
Discipline problems, 62, 105–106, 107
Discussions, focused, 275
Disrupting Class (Christensen, Horn, and Johnson), 28, 38
Disruptive innovations, 27, 38
Domestication, 25
Dornbush, S. M., 243
Dreeben, Robert S., 25
Dropout rates, 252–253
Drucker, Peter, 40, 41, 97–98, 118, 119, 121, 123, 124, 162, 267
DuFour, Richard, 113–114

E
Educational triage, 67
Effort, persistence of, 238–239
Electronic networking, 18–19
Elementary and Secondary education Act (ESEA), 146–147
Engagement: assessing conditions that increase, 255–258; vs. compliance, 45, 226; test scores and, 8
Equity, transparency to ensure, 259–261
Etzioni, Amitai, 51n, 51–52
Evaluation systems, 30, 31, 46, 272, 301–302
Expectations: of children from poor families, 79; obsolete, of teachers, 92, 227; “soft bigotry of low,” 243

F
Factories, image of schools as, 74–86; background on, 70, 73, 74–76; central office in, 72, 83–84; parents in, 72, 78–80; principals in, 72, 82–83; school boards in, 72, 85–86; students in, 72, 76–78; superintendents in, 72, 84–85; teachers in, 72, 80–82
Families: changed structure of, 12, 62; schools as, 134–138
Finn, Chester E. Jr., 165–166
Flexibility: abandoned efforts to increase, in schools, 36–38; of sequencing of steps in theory of action, 276–278
Focus: on academic ability, 178–180; capacity to maintain, 225, 229–234, 274; on changing operating systems, 27, 31; on future, 225–229, 273–274; on learning, 41, 44–46
Follow-through, 276
Ford, Henry, 84–85
Ford Foundation, 36, 151
Formal control, 50
Framing, 214, 214n
French, John, 54
Friedman, Milton, 198
Future: capacity to focus on, 225–229, 273–274; of schools in digital world, 19–21
Gaming, electronic, 19
Gerstner, Lou, 86
Global economy, education for competition in, 4, 16
Goal conflict, 65–66
Goal displacement, 66–68
Goals: as keys to direction of schools, 62; superordinate, 62, 63, 64, 73
Good to Great (Collins), 270
Government: changing role of state, in standards, 242–243; federal, transformation of schools into bureaucracies of, 143–157; involvement of, in education, 135n, 136, 136n; suggested policies of, to transform schools, 258–259; threat of control of public schools by, 283, 287
Graduation rates, 252–253
Graduation standards, 242, 244n, 244–246
Gray Panthers, 201
Gross, Neal, 178
Hawthorne Studies, 13n
Hill, Lister, 145
Hofer, Eric, 16n
Horn, Michael B., 28, 38
Houston Independent School District, 205
Humes, Edward, 88n
Ideal types, 40–41
Images of schools, 69–140; background on, 71–74; descriptions of roles in, 307–311; as factories, 70, 72, 73, 74–86; inadequacy of, 110–112; as learning organizations, 72, 73, 117–134; power of mental models to change, 210–214; as prisons, 70–71, 72, 73, 99–110, 214–215; as professional service delivery organizations, 70, 72, 73, 87–99; as warehouses, 70, 72, 73, 99–110. See also Mental models; Metaphors
Influence: defined, 51; exercised for social control, 57–60; of peer groups, 11–13, 13n
Informal control, 50
Information, storage of and access to, 19–20
Information technology (IT), 9. See also Digital technologies
Inner-city urban schools, 164n, 164, 204–205
Innovations: bureaucratic structure as barrier to, 23–25; capacity to support, 223–224, 225; civic capacity’s importance to, 187–188; difficulties of introducing, into schools, 31–35; disruptive, 27, 38; domestication of, 25; focused on changing school operating systems, 27, 31; social capital’s importance to, 187; sustaining, 27
Inspectorate model, 249
Instruction, quality of, 5–6
Involvement, moral vs. calculative, 60, 61
Johnson, Curtis W., 28, 38
Johnson, Mark, 214
Kanter, Rosabeth Moss, 231, 238–239
Knowledge development and transmission systems, 30, 31, 46, 272, 292–295
Knowledge work culture, transmission of, 123–125
Knowledge work organizations, 40
Knowledge workers: business leaders’ lack of understanding of, 150n, 150; Drucker on, 40, 41, 97–98; students as, 118–121
Lakoff, George, 214
Leaders: business, 149–150, 212–213; community building by, 284–287; development of marketing mentality by, 281–284; in learning organizations vs. bureaucracies, 233–234; preferred values of, 188–189; required for transformation, 4
Leadership: participatory, 230–231; by school boards, 195–198
Leadership development, transformational, 258, 266–271
Learners, communities of, 114
Learning: deep, 44, 45; as focus of schools, 41, 44–46; profound vs. superficial, 45, 174–175; quality of, and test scores, 8; relationship between schools and, 163–164
Learning communities: defined, 114; in learning organizations, 115–117; professional, 113–114
Learning organizations, image of schools as, 117–134; background on, 72, 73, 117–118; central office in, 131, 309; parents in, 127–129, 307; principals in, 129–130, 309; school boards in, 133–134, 310; students in, 118–123, 307; superintendents in, 132, 310; teachers in, 125–127,
308; transmission of knowledge work culture in, 123–125
Leddick, Susan, 120
Local control: Americans’ desire for, 188; educating citizens for, 189–190; risks with, 262–263; suggestions for building trust in, 202–204
Marketing to children, 13–15, 18–19
Mathews, David, 160, 283
McColl, Ann, 147
Mental models, 70; exercise on, 219; power to change image, 210–214. See also Images of schools; Metaphors
Mills, C. Wright, 150–151
Mission, vs. vision, 229
National Board for Professional Teaching Standards, 99
National Business Roundtable, 156
National Chamber of Commerce, 148, 156, 196
National Defense Education Act (NDEA), 146, 258–259
National Education Association (NEA), 144, 149, 155
National Governors Association, 155
National Science Foundation, 32
No Child Left Behind (NCLB): and federal government control of schools, 147, 149, 156; impact on schools, 110; issues recognized but not addressed by, 259; opposition to, 201; and parents, 181; and role of teacher, 74, 81
Norms: defined, 29–30, 273; and social control, 50; and social systems, 272–273; types of, 44
O’Neill, “Tip,” 154
Operating systems: defined, 26; innovations focused on changing, 27, 31
Pascale, R. T., 62
Peer groups: increased influence of, 11–13; influence in workplace, 13n; as threat to traditional authority relationships, 18
Piaget, Jean, 14
Power: defined, 51; exercised for social control, 51; as strategy for introducing disruptive innovations, 38; types of, 51, 54
Power and authority systems, 30, 31, 46, 272, 303–305
Prensky, Marc, 18, 227
Principals: in bureaucratic images of schools, 72, 82–83, 93–94, 106–107, 309; in learning organizations, 129–130, 309; obtaining support of, for transformation, 268
Prisons, image of schools as, 99–110; background on, 70–71, 73, 100; central office in, 72, 107–108; and in-school suspension, 214–215; parents in, 72, 103–105; principals in, 72, 106–107; school boards in, 72, 109–110; students in, 72, 100–103; superintendents in, 72, 108–109; teachers in, 72, 105–106
Private schools, 20, 198, 252–253, 287
Privatization, 28–29, 261
Professional service delivery organizations, image of schools as, 87–99; background on, 70, 73, 87; central office in, 72, 94–95; parents in, 72, 89–91; principals in, 72, 93–94; and professionals in bureaucracies, 97–99; school boards in, 72, 96–97; students in, 72, 87–89, 88n; superintendents in, 72, 95–96; teachers in, 72, 91–93
Profit, business emphasis on, 162–163
Profound learning, 45
Public schools: and common good, 199; high-quality, necessary for democracy, 15n, 15–17, 16n; involvement of government in, 135n, 136n, 136; link between communities and, 4–5; parents’ satisfaction with, 189; purpose of, 5–6; threat of government control of, 283, 287
Rational bureaucracies, 40
Raven, Bertram, 54
Ravitch, Diane, 78
Reading: to become transformational leader, 266–267; standards on skills in, 181–183, 247–248
Reading First program, 155, 155n
Reclaiming Public Education by Reclaiming Our Democracy (Mathews), 160
Recruitment and induction systems, 30, 31, 46, 272, 296–298
Reeves, Douglas, 244n
Reformation, systemic, 27. See also School reform
Robinson, Ken, 6–7, 179
Romney, Mitt, 198
Sanctions: types of, 51–52; used to establish and maintain social control, 51–53
School boards: in bureaucratic images of schools, 72, 85–86, 96–97, 109–110, 310–311; leadership by, 195–198; in learning organizations, 133–134, 310; local, desire for control by, 188; necessary change by, 205–206; obtaining support of, for transformation, 268; responsibility of, to build civic capacity, 193–195
School consolidation, 190, 191–192, 195–196
School of Dreams (Humes), 88n
School reform: and business leaders, 149–150, 212–213; metaphors and, 216–218; reason for difficulty of, 31–35; threats driving movements for, 4–5; as "tinkering toward utopia," 5n, 5, 19; vs. transformation, 3. See also Standards-based movement
School vouchers, 28, 198–201, 287
Schools: as bureaucracies, 42–44, 45, 46; core business of, 63–65; functions of, 61–62, 64; future of, in digital world, 19–21; goal conflict and displacement in, 65–68; inner-city urban, 164n, 164, 204–205; as learning organizations, 41, 42–46; parents’ concerns about, 172; private, 20, 198, 252–253, 287; relationship between learning and, 163–164; as small communities or families, 134–138; as social systems, 25–26; superordinate goals of, 63, 64; transformed into government bureaucracies, 143–157; virtual, 261–262. See also Images of schools; Public schools; Transformation of schools
Scientific management, 74, 75, 92
Scott, W. R., 243
Self-control, 50
Senge, Peter, 40, 41, 44–45, 70, 115, 119
Separation, as strategy for introducing disruptive innovations, 38
Service delivery organizations. See Professional service delivery organizations, image of schools as Shaking Up the School House (Schlechty), 28
Shanker, Albert, 213
Shook, John, 130
Sizer, Theodore, 15n
Skinner, B. F., 93
Social capital: building, 201–204; defined, 187; importance to installing innovations, 187
Social control: authority exercised for, 51, 53–57; defined, 50; influence exercised for, 51, 57–60; and involvement or alienation, 60–61; power exercised for, 51; sanctions used to establish and maintain, 51–53; types of, 50
Social systems: of bureaucracies vs. learning organizations, 46–50, 289–305; defined, 26; difficulties of changing, 31–35; schools as, 25–26; standards for assessing, 254–255, 255n; types of, 30
The Sociological Imagination (Mills), 150
Sociological Resources for the Social Studies (SRSS) project, 33
Special interest groups, 188, 193–194
Spending clause, U.S. Constitution, 147
Sputnik. See Curriculum reform of 1960s
Standards, 241–263; absence of tests for, 172–173; changing state government’s role in, 242–243; complexity of, 181–184; content vs. performance, 175–176; developmental, 246–248; of different constituencies, 180–181; effects of, 173–180; establishing, 184–186, 190; exceptions to, 251–252; graduation, 242, 244–246; and graduation and dropout rates, 252–253; holding communities accountable for enforcing, 248–251; in learning organizations vs. bureaucracies, 241; multiple, 186; nonacademic, 248; organizational performance, 253–258; in schools as factories, 77; technical vs. market-based, 169–170; tests as, 176–178; trivialization of, 170–172. See also Tests, standardized
Standards-based movement: as consistency with bureaucratic mental models, 159–160; difficulties of opposing, 160–161; parents’ vs. experts’ influence in, 164–169; test scores emphasized by, 161–164
Strategic action, capacity for, 225, 235–238, 274
Strategic thinking, 267–268
Students: in bureaucratic images of schools, 72, 76–78, 87–89, 100–103, 307; in learning organizations, 118–123, 307
Superordinate goals, 62, 63, 64, 73
Suspension, in-school, 214–215
Sustaining innovations, 27
Swann v. Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education, 191, 192
Systemic reform, 27
Systems: defined, 26; operating, 26, 27, 31. See also Social systems

T
Taylor, Frederick W., 74
Teachers: in bureaucratic images of schools, 72, 80–82, 91–93, 105–106, 308; conforming to rules, 41, 44; difficulty of task of, 14, 45n; high-quality, attracting and retaining, 81–82, 215–216; in inner-city urban schools, 164n, 164; in learning organizations, 125–127, 308; obsolete expectations of, 92, 227; as professionals, 97–99
Teaching and Learning Centers (TLCs), 217
Technology: defined, 26n; digital, 9–11, 18–19, 20; employing, for strategic action, 238; information, 9
Tenth Amendment, 144–146
Tests, standardized: parents’ opinions on, 189; predictive validity of, 173; and quality of instruction, 5–6; and quality of learning, 8; as standards, 176–178
Theory of action, 265–279; action research in, 275; flexible sequencing of steps in, 276–278; focused discussions in, 275; follow-through and persistence in, 276; personal comment on, 278–279; steps in, 272–274; transformational leadership for, 266–271
Thinking, strategic, 267–268
Title I, 147
Tocevville, Alexis de, 15n
Transformation of schools: changes required for, 209–210; into government bureaucracies, 143–157; government policies to encourage, 258–259; leaders required for, 4; into learning organizations, 138–140, 157–158; need for, 5–19, 287–288; as pre-condition for improving school performance, 24–25; vs. reform, 3; selecting metaphors to aid in, 218–219. See also Theory of action
Transformational leaders, development of, 258, 266–271
Transparency, 260–261
Trump, J. Lloyd, 36
Trump plan, 36–37
Trust, building, 201–204
Twain, Mark, 195
Tyack, David, 5n, 19, 144

U
U.S. Constitution: spending clause, 147; Tenth Amendment, 144–146
U.S. Department of Education, 189

V
Vance, Victor, 81
Virtual schools, 261–262
Vision: developing shared, 226–227; leaders carrying out, 134, 197, 233; in learning organizations vs. bureaucracies, 47–48; vs. mission, 229; and use of metaphors, 217
Vouchers, 28, 198–201, 287

W
Waller, Willard, 103, 125
Warehouses, image of schools as, 99–110; background on, 70, 73, 100; central office in, 72, 107–108; parents in, 72, 103–105; principals in, 72, 106–107; school boards in, 72, 109–110; students in, 72, 100–103; superintendents in, 72, 108–109; teachers in, 72, 105–106
Weber, Max, 39, 40, 53–54
Working on the Work (Schlechty), 255