Contents

Notes on Contributors viii
Acknowledgments xx

Part I Introduction 1
1 Corporate Social Responsibility and Communication 3
   Øyvind Ihlen, Jennifer L. Bartlett and Steve May
2 The Paradoxes of Communicating Corporate Social Responsibility 23
   Sandra Waddock and Bradley K. Googins

Part II Field Overviews 45
3 Management, Communication, and Corporate Social Responsibility 47
   Jennifer L. Bartlett and Bree Devin
4 Public Relations and Corporate Social Responsibility 67
   Jennifer L. Bartlett
5 Organizational Communication and Corporate Social Responsibility 87
   Steve May
6 Marketing and Corporate Social Responsibility 110
   Peggy Simcic Brønn
7 Reputation Management and Corporate Social Responsibility 128
   Mark Eisenegger and Mario Schranz
8 Rhetoric and Corporate Social Responsibility 147
   Øyvind Ihlen
Contents

Part III Corporate Social Responsibility Communication in Action 167

Concepts and Aspects

9 Ethics: Corporate Social Responsibility, Power and Strategic Communication 170
   Jacquie L’Etang, Jairo Lugo-Ocando and Zeti Azreen Ahmad

10 Risk Communication and Corporate Social Responsibility: The Essence of Sound Management for Risk Bearers, Generators and Arbiters 188
   Michael J. Palenchar, Tatjana M. Hocke and Robert L. Heath

11 Trust and Credibility as the Basis of Corporate Social Responsibility: (Mass-) Mediated Construction of Responsibility and Accountability 208
   Günter Bentele and Howard Nothhaft

12 Corporate Social Responsibility Communication and Dialogue 231
   Urša Golob and Klement Podnar

13 Transparency and Neoliberal Logics of Corporate Economic and Social Responsibility 252
   Majia Holmer Nadesan

14 The Concept of Stakeholders and its Relevance for Corporate Social Responsibility Communication 276
   Juliana Raupp

15 Significance of Sector-Specific Corporate Social Responsibility Initiatives: Status and Role in Different Sectors 295
   Augustine Pang, Angela Mak and Joanne Mui-Hean Lee

Tools and Processes

16 Corporate (Social) Responsibility and Issues Management: Motive and Rationale for Issue Discourse and Organizational Change 316
   Robert L. Heath and Michael J. Palenchar

17 Communicating Corporate Social Responsibility through Nonfinancial Reports 338
   Elise Perrault Crawford and Cynthia Clark Williams

18 Communicating Corporate Social Responsibility through the Internet and Social Media 358
   Paul Capriotti

19 Communicating Corporate Social Responsibility through Corporate Image Advertising 379
   Alan A. Pomereng
Contents

20 New Partnerships for a New Generation of Corporate Social Responsibility 399
Melissa J. Bator and Cynthia Stohl

21 Media Relations and Corporate Social Responsibility 423
Craig E. Carroll

22 NGOs as Communicative Actors within Corporate Social Responsibility Efforts 445
Sarah E. Dempsey

23 Communication and Corporate Social Responsibility: A Storytelling Perspective 467
Stefan Wehmeier and Friederike Schultz

Part IV Commentaries and Conclusions 489

24 Interrogating the Communicative Dimensions of Corporate Social Responsibility 491
Lars Thøger Christensen and George Cheney

25 A Provocation: Thinking the “Social” into Corporate Social Responsibility 505
Shirley Leitch and Judy Motion

26 Commentary: The View from Management 516
Güler Aras and David Crowther

27 The View from Organizational Studies: A Discourse-Based Understanding of Corporate Social Responsibility and Communication 534
David Grant and Daniel Nyberg

28 Conclusions and Take Away Points 550
Øyvind Ihlen, Jennifer L. Bartlett and Steve May

Name Index 572
Subject Index 580