INDEX

Page references followed by fig indicate an illustrated figure.

A
Academic vice president (AVP), 23
Accountability demands, 10
Advising. See Student advising
Advisory board, 101
Alumni: as advisory board members, 101; as department resource, 55–56; earmarked donations made by, 57; fundraising and “friendmaking” role of, 56; student development opportunities through, 95
Annual plans: department, 48–49; department chair, 50; faculty, 49–50; linking all of the, 50; making a short list of annual goals as part of, 50
Assessment metrics, 99. See also Evaluation

B
“Big bullies,” 22
Boundary spanner role, 19–20
Budget calendar, 66
Budget transparency: holding public department budget meetings, 65–66; public budget calendar for, 66
Budgets/budgeting: assessing income and expenses to manage, 53–55; creating ideal vision of department, 47; Dr. Li’s steps to ensure efficient, 5; functions of department, 52–53; prorata basis adjustments to, 23; questionnaire for understanding your, 104–106; sweeps, carryforwards, and discretionary dollars, 54, 55; transparency of, 65–66; 20-percent-cut scenario for core programs, 45–46; understanding department, 41; zero-based, 23. See also Department chair responsibilities; Expenditures/expenses; Financial issues
Bullying, 84
Bureaucracy environment of department, 18; fig–19
Bureaucratic grind, 27–28
California Proposition 13, 97
Carnegie classification system, 102
Carryforwards, 54
Chair. See Department chairs
Challenging personnel: approaches to use with, 82–85; considering lack of bias when dealing with, 83–84; “Dr. Chaos” faculty type as, 22; ethical and legal rights of, 83
Change: chair as catalyst between ideas and action for, 10–11; creating a vision for future, 43–47; reaching for consensus for, 50–51; slow rate of institutional, 9; strategic planning for, 48–50; taking the long view of, 31; thinking about direction of, 39; writing a vision statement for, 47–48. See also New department chairs
“Chaos” faculty type, 22
Character assassination, 22
Choke courses, 71
Chu, D., 3, 16, 26
Clinical faculty, 80
Closed systems, 17; fig
Communication: practices for effective, 87–90; for reaching out to faculty, 90; for reaching out to other chairs, 90; for reaching out to students, 91; social media used for, 56, 88; understanding chair role in managing, 85–87
Communication plans, 88
114 Index

Compensation: faculty incentive of extra, 63; ideal faculty, 47
Competencies: expectations, incentives, and opportunities to improve, 78, 79; national and professional meetings to expand, 79–80; teaching professional, 77
Confidentiality: of challenging personnel records, 84; as effective communication practice, 87; evaluation and personnel management, 81; expectations regarding, 38. See also Ethical rights; Legal rights
Conflict: handling challenging personnel and, 22, 82–85; issue of role conflict, 29; managing opportunities and not problems and, 39
Constant observation stress, 31
Contracts for services, 59–60
Core programs: creating new curriculum, 68; developing revenue earner, 61; identifying department, 44–46; 20-percent-cut scenario modeled for, 45–46. See also Curriculum
Cost-cutting measures, 65
Course schedule: avoiding “death spiral” of, 46; chair role in determining, 13; creating new programs for, 68; Cui bono? question on who benefits from, 44; designed in response to faculty interests, 45; Dr. Li’s review of and changes for, 5, 6–7; general education course, 68–69; jumbo sections as consideration when planning, 72; student development through elective and entry-level, 93–94. See also Core programs; Course schedule
Cui bono? question, 44

Curriculum: avoiding “death spiral” of, 46; chair role in determining, 13; creating new programs for, 68; Cui bono? question on who benefits from, 44; designed in response to faculty interests, 45; Dr. Li’s review of and changes for, 5, 6–7; general education course, 68–69; jumbo sections as consideration when planning, 72; student development through elective and entry-level, 93–94. See also Core programs; Course schedule

D
“Deal makers,” 22
Deans: communication for connecting with your, 89; comparing challenges faced by chairs and, 24; expectations regarding good relationship with, 38; how chairs can work effectively with, 24–25; open-systems perspective to operations of, 23; remembering that chairs work under authority of, 33–34; similarities between chairs and, 23–24; understanding institutional role and operations of, 22–23; what chairs need to know about, 22–25
Decision makers: positioning your faculty as, 100–101; positioning yourself as, 101
Decision making: creating advisory board for, 101; understanding process of, 101
Department chair ecosystem: chair as chief boundary spanner in the, 19–20; lack of preparation regarding the, 16; open system nature of, 17–19; what chairs need to know about deans, 22–25; what chairs need to know about faculty, 20–22
Department chair responsibilities: challenging personnel, 82–84; course schedules, 5–6, 13, 41, 46, 62–63, 68–72; curriculum-related, 5, 6–7, 13, 44–46, 68–69; departmental communication, 85–91; faculty professional development, 1–2, 6–7, 14, 63–65, 76–80; instruction-related, 73–75; personnel management, 80–82; planning as, 42–51; questionnaire to understand your, 102–106; resource management, 55–65; strategic positioning of

Covey, S., 42
Credibility, 38

Cui bono? question, 44
department, 97–101; student development, 92–96. See also Budgets/budgeting

Department chair roles: as catalyst between ideas and action, 10–11; chief boundary spanner of department, 19–20; as department leader, 9–15; dimensions and spectrum of, 33; fiduciary responsibility, 38; hiring decisions, 14; pursuing leadership, 15; questionnaire to help understanding your, 102–106; related to curriculum and coursework, 13; role stress which may accompany, 28–29; setting department agenda, 11–12; taking the time to adjust to new, 32–33; tenure and promotion, 14. See also Role conflict

Department chairs: clarifying focus of administration, 39; communication for reaching out to other, 90; comparing challenges faced by deans and, 90; ecosystem of, 16–25; increasing institutional importance of, 10; lack of preparation for most, 16; mapping our annual plan for, 50; opportunities for department development/leadership by, 1–2, 15; questionnaire to facilitate work done by, 102–106; similarities between deans and, 23–24; of small and large departments, 32; strategic positioning of yourself as, 101; taking the long view when managing, 31; understanding the decision making/makers of your, 100–101; visualizing your ideal, 46–47. See also Resource management

Discretionary dollars, 55

Dollar control management, 58

Donations: alumni and earmarked, 57; alumni “friendmaking” role in securing, 56

“Dr. Chaos” faculty type, 22

Ecosystem. See Department chair ecosystem

Elective courses, 93–94

Emeritus faculty: as advisory board members, 101; decision on replacing, 74–75

Enrollment. See Student enrollment

Entry-level courses, 93–94

Environmental scan, 99–100

Ethical rights: bullying and harassment and, 84; critical documents to ensure, 84; legal and historical clarity of situation, 84. See also Confidentiality

Evaluation: avoiding surprise, 81; confidentiality of, 81; creating norms for, 81; tenure and promotion “pre-evaluations,” 81; vision for, 47. See also Assessment metrics

Expectations: be on good terms with the dean, 38; begin thinking about
Index

Expectations: (continued)
direction of any changes, 39; build and maintain credibility, 38; chair’s fiduciary responsibility, 38; on following through, 40; maintain confidentiality, 38; for managing opportunities and not problems, 39; understanding importance of department meetings, 40

Expenditures/expenses: accounting, 54–55; cost-cutting measures, 65; department end-of-year expense summary report, 41; discretionary dollars available for, 55; Dr. Li’s case study on pruning, 5, 6; questionnaire for understanding your, 104–106. See also Budgets/budgeting; Funding; Income

Facebook, 56, 88
Faculty: accountability of, 10; bullying and harassment of, 84; clinical, 80; communication for connecting faculty with, 89–90; communication for reaching out to, 90; course schedule and needs of, 73; curriculum designed in response to interests of, 45; dealing with challenging, 82–84; department operating as closed system for, 17 ffg.; as department resource, 12–13; Dr. Li case study on budgeting for increased support of, 6; evaluation of, 47; hiring, tenure, and promotion of, 14; how chairs can work effectively with, 24–25; ideal vision of, 47; influencing department agenda, 11–12; mapping out annual plans for, 49–50; “normal distribution” range of, 21–22; peer socialization of, 78; planning teaching assignments of, 46; positioning your, 100–101; positive reinforcement and expectations of, 78; reallocating personnel dollars to benefit, 50; standards for “best” or standouts among, 78; troublemakers and challenging, 22, 82–84; what chairs need to know about, 20–22. See also Personnel resources; Staff

Faculty hiring: chair role in, 14; peer socialization as part of, 78; to replace retiring instructors, 74–75

Faculty incentives: extra compensation, 63; internal sabbaticals, 64; professional development, 79; research seed accounts, 63; spurs to faculty participation, 63–64; student help, 64–65

Faculty mix, 47

Faculty personnel handbook, 41

Faculty professional development: chair opportunities to participate in, 1–2; chair role in tenure, promotion, and, 14; creating standards for faculty standouts, 78; Dr. Li case study on increased involvement in, 6–7; expectations, incentives, identifying opportunities for, 78, 79; national and professional meeting attendance by, 79–80; peer socialization, 78; positive reinforcement as part of, 78; providing incentives for, 63–65; providing links with practitioners and future needs of, 80; questionnaire for understanding your, 106; teaching competencies for, 77. See also Funding; Personnel management; Student development

Faculty workloads: chair understanding of the, 41; course scheduling and consideration of, 74; ideal vision of, 47; questionnaire for understanding your, 106. See also Course schedule

Faculty-chair relationship: being “one of the people” issue of, 20–21; chair role conflict related to, 29; chair role in hiring of, 14; chair role in tenure and promotion of, 14; faculty “normal distribution” issue of, 21–22; how to create an effective, 24–25; quid pro quo, 21

Fiduciary responsibility, 38

Financial documents: department annual budget, 41; department end-of-year expense summary report, 41

Financial issues: chair’s fiduciary responsibility, 38; department expenditures, 5, 6, 41, 54–55, 65; fundraising and donations, 56–57; increasing challenges related to funding and, 9–10. See also Budgets/budgeting

“Friendmaking,” 56–57

FTEF (full-time-equivalent faculty), 57

FTEF (half-time faculty), 57

FTES (full-time-equivalent students), 58
Funding: grants providing, 60–61, 79; increasing challenges related to, 9–10; keeping library of funded proposals, 79. See also Expenditures/expenses; Faculty professional development
Fundraising: alumni and earmarked donations, 57; alumni “friendmaking” role in, 56

G
General education courses: putting best face on your, 68–69; schedule only what you need, 69
Gmelch, W. H., 32
Governance: creating vision of, 47; questionnaire on your institution’s, 104
Graduate student assistance: budgeting efforts to support, 6; used as course instructors, 75; department agenda allocating, 11. See also Student help
Graduation: decreasing time to, 73; defining plans for your majors, 74; meeting with students prior to, 94, 96
Graduation check sheet, 94, 96
Grants: description and sources of, 60; keeping library of funded proposals, 79; successful proposals for, 60–61

H
Harassment, 84
Hiring decisions, chair role in, 14
Hostile work environment, 84
Housekeeping tasks: description of, 27; handling the stress related to, 27–28

I
Ideal department visualization, 46–47
Income: budget management step of assessing, 53; discretionary dollars, 55; sweeps and carryforwards as, 54. See also Expenditures/expenses
Institutions: academic vice president (AVP) of, 23; bureaucratic organization of, 18/fig–19; challenges facing contemporary, 9–10; conducting environmental scan, 99–100; increasing importance of chairs and departments to, 10; questionnaire to help you understand your, 102–103; slow rate of change in, 9; understanding the decision making/makers of your, 100–101; understanding where deans operate within, 22–23
Instruction: consider team teaching for, 75; considering jumbo sections for, 72; decreasing time to graduation for your majors, 73; defining graduation plans through, 74; don’t automatically replace retiring faculty for, 74–75; giving your majors help in key courses, 74; improving competencies for, 77; legal and typical workloads considerations for, 74; looking at overload possibilities, 74; optimizing modes of, 73; reviewing class maximums, 75; teaching assistants used for, 75. See also Course schedule
Internal sabbaticals, 64

J
Jumbo sections, 72

L
Large department chairs, 32
Legal rights: bullying and harassment and, 84; of challenging personnel, 83; critical documents to ensure, 84; legal and historical clarity of situation, 84. See also Confidentiality
LinkedIn, 56

M
Majors: decreasing time to graduation for your, 73; defining graduation plans for your, 74; providing help in key courses to your, 74; providing student development opportunities to, 95. See also Students
Majors club, 95
Manuals/workbooks/readers, 61–62
Meetings: department, 40, 65–66, 88–89, 89; national and professional, 79–80
Meyer, J. W., 10

N
National meetings, 79
New department chairs: essential reading before taking office, 40–41; examining how they can make a difference, 35–36; planning strategies by, 42–51; understanding the expectations, 37–40. See also Change; Department chairs
Open systems: the department as a, 18; how chairs operate within, 17–19; how deans operate within, 23

Peer advisers, 96
Peer socialization, 78
Performance counseling, 81
Perlmutter, D., 22
Personnel dollars: reallocating, 59; spending, 58
Personnel management: consulting model personnel files for, 81; evaluation norms used for, 81; handling challenging personnel, 82–84; keeping confidentiality and computer records of, 81–82; performance counseling as part of, 81; “pre-evaluations” for tenure and promotion, 81; understanding chair role in, 80. See also Faculty professional development
Personnel records: confidentiality of computer files and, 81–82; security of, 84
Personnel resources: dollar control management of, 58; FTEF (full-time-equivalent faculty), 57; FTEF (half-time faculty), 57; meeting enrollment targets, 58–59; position control of, 57; reallocating personnel dollars, 59; spending personnel dollars, 58. See also Faculty
Planning: communication plan component of, 88; creating a vision for the future by, 43–47; importance for new chairs, 42–43; reaching for consensus, 50–51; strategic planning expansion of, 48–50; writing vision statement as part of, 47–48
Political positioning: chair responsibility for, 98; strategies for, 99–100
Portch, S., 9
Position control, 57
Positive reinforcement, 78
Practitioner-faculty links, 80
“Prickly pears,” 22
Professional development. See Faculty professional development
Professional meetings: faculty development through, 80; sponsoring student attendance at, 94
Promotion: chair role in faculty, 14; “pre-evaluations” for, 81
Proposition 13 (California), 97
Queens State College (QSC), 85
Questionnaire: on budget and expenses, 104–106; on governance, 104; on my institution, 102–103; on my role as chair, 103
Quid pro quo faculty-chair relationship, 21
Readers/workbooks/manuals, 61–62
Research seed accounts, 63
Resource management: alumni, 55–57; developing new resource streams, 59–62; faculty, 12–13; faculty incentives, 63–65; personnel, 57–59. See also Departments
Resource streams: contracts for services, 59–60; developing revenue earner programs, 61; grants, 60–61; manuals, workbooks, and readers, 61–62; resource-generating enrollments, 61; special-session courses, 62–63; summer projects, 62
Resource-generating enrollments, 61
Responsibilities. See Department chair responsibilities
Revenue earner programs, 61
Robert’s Rules of Order, 40, 89
Role conflict: learning to cope with, 29; sources of, 29. See also Department chair roles
Role stress: learning to cope with, 28–29; sources of, 28
Rowan, B., 10
Sabbaticals (internal), 64
Small department chairs, 32
“Smilers,” 22
Social media networking, 56, 88
Special-session courses, 62–63
“Spotting Your Enemies” (Perlmutter), 22
Staff: bullying and harassment of, 84; evaluation of, 47, 81; handling challenging, 22, 82–85; personnel records of, 81–82, 84. See also Faculty
Strategic planning: link all annual plans, 50; make short list of annual goals, 50; map annual plan for department, 48–49; map annual plan for faculty, 49–50; map annual plan for yourself, 50; reaching for consensus for, 50–51

Strategic positioning: positioning your department politically, 98–100; staying close to decision making/makers, 100–101; understanding chair responsibility for, 97–98

Stress/stressors: of the bureaucratic grind and housekeeping tasks, 27–28; of constant observation, 31; learning to handle the, 26–27; role stress experienced by chairs, 28–29. See also Department chairs

Student advising: graduation check sheet discussed during, 94, 96; peer advisers for, 96; promoting student development through, 95–96; scheduling regular sessions for, 96

Student affairs, 95

Student development: advising component of, 95–96; of student leaders, 94; taking a proactive approach to, 93–95; understanding chair responsibility for, 92–93. See also Faculty professional development

Student enrollment: as course schedule consideration, 69–71; Dr. Li case study on increasing, 5–6; jumbo sections with large, 72; meeting targets for, 58–59; resource-generating, 61

Student help: on managing department expenses, 64–65; provided to faculty, 64. See also Graduate student assistance

Student leader development, 94

Students: communication for reaching out to, 91; course schedule which considers needs of the, 71–72; Cui bono? question on curriculum benefits to, 44; FTES (full-time-equivalent students), 58; ideal vision of department, 47; reallocating personnel dollars to benefit, 59; stimulating community engagement by, 94. See also Majors

Summer projects, 62
Sweeps, 54

T

Target enrollment: considering the numbers when scheduling courses, 69–70; meeting, 58–59

Task environment of department: connecting with important people in your, 89; description of, 17/fig–18

Teaching assistants, 75
Team teaching, 75
Technology, Dr. Li’s successful use of, 5–6

Tenure: chair role in faculty, 14; “pre-evaluations” for, 81
Troublemaking faculty: approaches to challenging and, 82–84; “Dr. Chaos” type of, 22
Trust building, 38
“Turfmasters,” 22
20-percent-cut scenario, 45–46
Twitter, 88

U

University of Georgia, 9
“Unwelcome comments,” 84

V

Veregge, S., 3, 16, 26
Vision: creating a future, 43–47; ideal department, 46–47
Vision statement: function and considerations for, 48; Physics Department four-year liberal arts college example of, 48–49; Physics Department of research university example of, 48

W

Workbooks/manuals/readers, 61–62

Z

Zero-based budgeting system, 23