CONTENTS

Foreword ix
Acknowledgments xv
The Authors xix
Introduction 1

PART ONE
Transformation, Crisis, and Opportunity 17

1. A Profession Transformed 19
2. Teaching and Learning in Clinical Situations 41
3. Teaching and Learning in the Classroom and Skills Lab 63
4. A New Approach to Nursing Education 81

PART TWO
Teaching for a Sense of Salience 93

5. Paradigm Case: Diane Pestolesi, Practitioner and Teacher 97
6. Strategies for Teaching for a Sense of Salience 109

PART THREE
Integrative Teaching for Clinical Imagination 127

7. Paradigm Case: Lisa Day, Classroom and Clinical Instructor 131
8. Developing a Clinical Imagination 143
9. Connecting Classroom and Clinical Through Integrative Teaching and Learning 155
CONTENTS

PART FOUR

Teaching for Moral Imagination

- 10. Paradigm Case: Sarah Shannon, Nurse Ethicist
  - 169
- 11. Being a Nurse
  - 177
- 12. Formation from a Critical Stance
  - 201

PART FIVE

A Call for Radical Transformation

- 13. Improving Nursing Education at the Program Level
  - 215

Appendix: Methods for the Carnegie National Nursing Education Study

- References
  - 239
- Index
  - 249