Index

a posteriori knowledge 7, 27, 37 a priori knowledge 7, 26–27, 37, 46, 171
abstraction 62–67, 105, 191
acceptance of theory 206 accessibility of theory 204 activities of daily living (ADLs)
  behavioural paradigms 110
  limitations of theories 117
  nursing theories 3, 10, 20
  selection of theories 142, 148, 155
see also Henderson, Virginia; Roper, Logan and Tierney adaptation theory 116, 142–149, 175, 180 adequacy of theory 203–204 ADLs see activities of daily living advanced practice 82–84
aesthetics 43–45, 179
American nursing theories 18–19, 116, 143–144 antecedents 193
assumptions
definitions 6, 10
interpersonal relationships 132–133
research and theory 176–177, 183
theory description 189–190
authority 46

back-stage behaviour 87
Bacon, Francis 24
behavioural change 141
behavioural paradigms 109–110
biomedical model
  benefits 92
  historical development 91
  limitations 92, 95, 100–101
  nursing roles 80, 90–93, 95
  process 91
  selection of nursing theories 149
body of knowledge 13, 15–16, 18
borrowed theory 156–158
British nursing theories 18, 116, 143–144
burnout 89
Camus, Albert 124
care plans 141
caring theories 101, 126–127, 128
see also Swanson, K. M. caring/becoming theories 64, 94, 107
Carper, Barbara 36, 43–45, 179
Cartesian dualism 25, 27
Catechism of Positive Religion, The (Comte) 29
cause–effect relationships 61 change 141
clarity 201, 202
clinical nurse specialists 82 clinical setting 150–151 clinical trials 73
communication 183
complexity of theory 202
Comte, Auguste 28–29
concepts
case concept analysis 188, 192–194
nursing theories 5–6, 9–11
research and theory 163–166, 182–183
theory content 200
t theory description 189–191, 193 conceptual substance 117–118 consequences 193
consistency 201
consultant nurses 82
cost reduction 80
Course of Positive Philosophy
  (Comte) 28
critical science 25, 34
Croatia 20
Darwin, Charles 26
deductive reasoning 49–50, 131, 172, 200 defeasibility 37
Descartes, René 25, 26–27
describing 4
descriptive theories 59–60, 177–179 developmental paradigms 108–109, 128–129
Index

education
- benefits of nursing theories 120
- interpersonal relationships 133–135
- nursing roles 85, 96
- nursing theories 20
- selection of nursing theories 145–146

Einstein, Albert 26, 32, 162 emancipation 34
empathy 41
empirical indicators 204
empirical knowing 46
empiricism 25, 27–31, 37, 46–48
empirics 43, 45, 179
empowerment 34
enlightenment 34

Essay Concerning Human Understanding (Locke) 28

ethics
- knowledge 43–45
- nursing practice 72–74
- research 173, 179
- selection of nursing theories 144–145

ethnography 168

evidence-based practice 40, 46–48

existentialism 124, 129 expanded nursing roles 82, 85–86 expected utility 61 explaining 4
explanatory theories 59–60, 178–179 extended nursing roles 82, 85–86 external evaluative criteria 194–200 factor-isolating theory 58, 178 factor-relating theory 58, 178 falsification 25, 30

FANCAP theory 145
Fawcett, Jacqueline
construction of theory 9

models and theories 104–105, 110–111
nursing practice 63, 67
research 175
selection of theories 146–147, 150, 153–155
theory analysis and evaluation 195, 198–205

frameworks
- knowledge 48
- nursing theories 15–17
- research 174–175
- theory analysis and evaluation 198

Frankfurt School 25, 34
Freud, Sigmund 26
From Novice to Expert. Excellence and Power in Clinical Nursing Practice (Benner) 34

Galilei, Galileo 31
gnostic touch 41–42
Goffman, Erving 87
grand theories see nursing models grounded theory 168

health care assistants 137–138
health care intensification 136
Heidegger, Martin 25, 33
Henderson, Virginia 3, 19–20, 56, 112–113, 117 hermeneutic phenomenology 33 hierarchies of evidence 47–48

historicism 25, 31–35, 51, 101
human science 51
Hume, David 28
Husserl, Edmund 25, 33
hybrid nursing theories 146–147
hypothetico deductive reasoning 164, 166, 171 idealism 71–72, 118 importance of theory 203 inductive reasoning 49–50, 131, 162–165, 200 interaction theories 64, 94, 129–133

interactional paradigms 108–109 internal consistency 201 internal evaluative criteria 194–200

Interpersonal Relations in Nursing (Peplau) 104

interpersonal relationships 123–139
as building block for nursing 125–126 caring 126–127, 128
health care intensification 136
implications for nurse education 133–135 measurement of 136
metaparadigms 128
nursing models 128–130
nursing theories 10, 127–133
role drift 137–138

social capital 135
technological advances 137 testing assumptions 132–133 threats and barriers 136–138 types 124–125

see also Peplau, Hildegard interpretive-constructionism 25, 31–35 isolation 124

jargon 116–117, 152–153
jazz music 38–39
justified true belief 37

Kerlinger, F. N. B. 36, 46–48
King, Imogene 129–130
knowledge 23–52

body of knowledge 13, 15–16, 18
categories of knowledge 36, 43–48 classification of theories 107
definitions 24–25
developing nursing knowledge 48–51 education and knowledge development 20 empiricism 25, 27–31, 37, 46–48
historicism 25, 31–35, 51
and knowing 24–25
knowledge cycle 205
nursing practice 27, 29, 31–52, 54–58, 60
knowledge (cont’d)
nursing roles 96
nursing theories 4, 7, 12–13, 15–16, 18, 20
personal knowing 38, 43–45, 127, 179
philosophies of 25–35
practical knowledge 36, 37–42
propositional knowledge/ theory 36–37, 68, 76 rationalism 25, 26–27, 49–50
research and knowledge development 168
selection of nursing theories 145–146
theory–model controversy 104–106
types of knowledge 35–48 ways of knowing 36, 42–48, 179 Kuhn, Thomas 14–15, 25, 32
labelling 182
language and linguistics
clarity and consistency 201
jargon 116–117, 152–153
nursing theories 4
simplicity and complexity 202
Laudan, Larry 32–33
laws 7
length of patient stay 145, 163–165
Locke, John 25, 28
logical positivism 25, 29–30
Manen, Max van 41–42
Maslow’s hierarchy of needs 57
Meditations on First Philosophy (Descartes) 26
Meleis, Afaf
definitions of theory 7
interpersonal relationships 128–130
knowledge 32–33
models and theories 9, 94, 104–105, 107, 118, 120–121
nursing practice 63–65
research 165, 180–182
science of nursing 12
theory analysis and evaluation 187–189, 192–204
Merton, Thomas 54, 76
metaparadigms 110–114
environment 113–114
health 113
interpersonal relationships 128
nursing 112–113
person 112
selection of nursing theories 153–155
type analysis and evaluation 190–191, 200
meta-theory
abstraction 63, 67
knowledge 32–33
models and theories 101–102, 105
nursing practice 63, 67
nursing roles 93
research and theory 166–167
see also Fawcett, Jacqueline; Meleis, Afaf methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) 75 micro-theory 66
mid-range theories
abstraction 63, 65, 67
contemporary context 20
limitations 148
models and theories 100–101
nursing practice 63, 65–67, 76–77
nursing roles 93–94, 95–98
relevance of existing theories 95–96
research 167–169
selection 142–146, 148
theory analysis and evaluation 191, 200, 205
midwifery theories 148
Mintzberg, Henry 162
morality 72–74, 144–145
Morse, Janice 126
MRSA see methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus
Muir Gray hierarchy of evidence 47
My Argument with the Gestapo (Merton) 54 needs theories 64, 94, 128–129
Neuman, B. 19–20, 31, 35, 94, 116, 180
Nightingale, Florence 10, 18–20, 91, 95, 143–144
Notes on Nursing (Nightingale) 18
noumena 71–72
Nursing: Concepts of Practice (Orem) 100–101
nursing models
abstraction 105
benefits 115, 118–121
classification of theories 106–109
current trends 109–110
definitions of model 102–103 dimensionality of models 102–103
education 120
high-level criticisms 117–118
historical development 100–101
interpersonal relationships 128–130
limitations 95
limitations of nursing theories 114–118 low-level criticisms 115–117
metaparadigms 110–114
paradigmatic roots 107–109, 128–129
practice and theory 119–120
professionalisation 120–121
quality of care 121
research and theory 165–169, 172, 175–176
selection 142–143
theories and models 9, 56–58, 63–65, 93–96, 99–122
theory analysis and evaluation 191, 205
theory–model controversy 104–106
nursing practice
abstraction 62–67
categorising theory 67–68
definitions of practice 56 fundamental questions and answers 55–56, 76–77
knowledge 27, 29, 31–52
levels of theory 58–67
meta-theory 63
mid-range theories 65
models and theories 56–58, 63–65, 119–120
nomenclature and scope of practice 84
nursing roles 81–83, 93–97
Index

praxis 18, 21, 70
predictive and prescriptive theory 59–61
reflecting on theory 54–55, 75–76
research and theory 162, 164–165, 180–181
science and nursing theory 75–76 science–practice gaps 71–75
sophistication 58–62
specialist and advanced roles 82–84 theory and practice 3, 8, 11–21, 53–78, 93–97, 119–120 theory–practice gap 13, 69–71
see also practice theory
nursing roles 79–98
biomedical model 80, 90–93, 95
changing patterns of need and demand 80 definitions of role 81 development of new roles 81–83 education, political environment and research 85, 96 front- and back-stage behaviour 87 implications of new nursing roles 84–85
interpersonal relationships 137–138
nomenclature and scope of practice 84
nursing practice 81–83, 93–97
nursing theories 80, 85–98
relevance of existing nursing theory 93–97 role conflict 89–90
role drift 137–138
role expansion and extension 82, 85–86 role norms and role sets 88–89
role stress and strain 89
role theory 80, 85–90
selection of nursing theories 155–156
sick role 86
sociological perspectives 86–90 specialist and advanced practice 82–84
student nurses 88
nursing science 11–12, 16–17, 57 nursing theories argument for 1–22
benefits 115, 118–121
biomedical model 80, 90–93, 95, 100–101, 149
categorising theory 67–68
classification of theories 106–109
construction of theory 4, 9–10
contemporary context 18–21
current trends 109–110
definitions of nursing 56
definitions of theory 5–8, 103–104
description, analysis and evaluation 186–207 developing nursing theory 56–57
historical development 94–95, 100–101
hybrid nursing theories 146–147
interpersonal relationships 10, 127–133
levels of theory 58–67
limitations 114–118, 148
metaparadigms 110–114, 153–155, 190–191, 200
midwifery theories 148
models and theories 9, 56–58, 63–65, 93–96, 99–122
necessity and meaning of theory 4–5
nursing roles 80, 85–98
paradigmatic roots 14–16, 107–109, 128–129, 151
practice and theory 3, 8, 11–21, 53–78, 93–97, 119–120
predictive and prescriptive theory 59–61
reflecting on theory 54–55, 75–76
relevance of existing theory to new nursing roles 93–97
research 11–12, 16–17, 57, 161–185
role theory 80, 85–90
single versus multiple theories 147–148
sophistication 58–62
theory–model controversy 104–106
theory–practice gap 13, 69–71
see also individual theories/theorists; meta-theory; mid-range theories; nursing models; practice theory Occam’s razor 151–152, 202
one-dimensional models 102–103 Orem, Dorothea
contemporary context 19–20
knowledge 31, 35
limitations to theory 116–117
metaparadigms 112–113
models and theories 100–104, 110, 112–113
necessity and meaning of theory 4
nursing practice 57–58, 64–67
nursing roles 94–95
selection of theories 142, 144, 146, 148
Orlando, Ida 129–130
outcome theories 64, 94, 129–130 Outline of a Theory of Practice (Bourdieu) 135 paradigm shifts 25, 32, 144
paradigms 14–16, 107–109, 128–129, 151
see also metaparadigms parsimony 151–152
Parsons, Talcott 86
pathic touch 41–42
patients’ needs 152
Peplau, Hildegard
construction of theory 9–10
contemporary context 18
interpersonal relationships 104, 126, 129–133, 136–137
metaparadigms 112–113
nursing roles 90, 94
selection of theories 142, 151, 157
perceived view of science 51 performance 40
Index

perinatal nursing 65–67, 95, 114, 190
personal knowing 38, 43–45, 127, 179
personal theories 153–154
personhood 112
phenomena
  nursing practice 71–72
  nursing theories 5–6, 10–11
  research and theory 162–164, 182
  theory analysis and evaluation 189–190, 200, 205
psychiatry 125
public health nurses 82
qualitative research 166, 168–170, 178–179
quality of care
  benefits of nursing theories 121
  interpersonal relationships 126, 138
  nursing roles 80
  research 173, 176–177
  selection of nursing theories 146
quantitative research 166, 178–179 race 144
randomised controlled trials (RCTs) 47
rationalism 25, 26–27, 49–50
RCTs see randomised controlled trials realism 71–72, 118
reason see rationalism received view of science 51 Reflective Practitioner, The (Schön) 76 refutation 18, 50, 171, 173
research
  empirical relationship with theory 177–179 inductive approach 162–165 knowledge development 50–51, 168
  models and theories 64
  nursing roles 85
  nursing theories 11–12, 16–17, 57, 161–185
  Popper’s boat 11–12, 164 qualitative and quantitative research 166, 168–170, 178–179 research–theory relationship 167 role of the study 183–184 strategies for theory development 180–184 strength of link with theory 165–166 theory-evaluating research 167, 175–177 theory-framed research 167, 174–175
theory-generating research 166–171
theory-testing research 166–167, 171–173
research ethics 72–73, 173 research–theory strategy 180 retroductive reasoning 50, 131
RLT see Roper, Logan and Tierney roles see nursing roles Roper, Logan and Tierney (RLT) theory
  benefits 120
  contemporary context 19–20
  limitations 117
  models and theories 102, 109–110, 117, 120
  necessity and meaning of theory 3
nursing practice 64–65
nursing roles 94–95
research 166
science of nursing 10
selection of theories 142–144, 154–155
Roy, Callista
  contemporary context 19–20
  interpersonal relationships 131
  knowledge 31, 35
  limitations to theory 115–117
  nursing practice 57
  nursing roles 94
  research 175–176, 180
  selection of theories 145–148
Russia 19
Ryle, Gilbert 38
sanitation 10
Schlick, Moritz 29–30
science–practice gaps 71–75
scientific evolution 32–33

practical knowledge 36, 37–42
practice cross 81, 83
practice theory
  abstraction 66–67
  knowledge 50
  models and theories 104–107
  nursing roles 93–94, 96–98
  relevance of existing theories 97
  research 166–168
  theory analysis and evaluation 187, 191, 200 practice–theory strategy 180 practice–theory–research–theory strategy 181
  praxis 18, 21, 70
  predicting 4
  predictive theories 59–61, 178–179 prescriptive theory 59–61 primary care 82
  primary qualities 28
  professionalisation 120–121

propositional knowledge/theory 36–37, 68, 76
propositions
  nursing theories 6, 9–11
  research and theory 163–166, 170–171, 183
  theory analysis and evaluation 189–190, 200, 205

phenomenology 25, 33–34, 168–169
philosophies
  of knowledge 25–35
  nursing behaviours 191
  paradigms 14–16
  personal theories 153–154
Poland 20
political environment 85, 148–149 Popper, Karl 11, 25, 30, 50, 164
positivism 28, 46, 74–75 postmodernism 25, 35
post-positivism 75
post-positivist empiricism 25, 30–31

philosophies
  of knowledge 25–35
  nursing behaviours 191
  paradigms 14–16
  personal theories 153–154

Racism 144
scientific revolution 25, 32 scope of a theory 191, 200 secondary care 82
secondary qualities 28
self-care theory
  contemporary context 20
  models and theories 101, 110, 113, 117
nursing practice 65–66
nursing roles 95
selection of nursing theories 142–143
  selection of theories 142–144, 148–149
see also Orem, Dorothea semantic clarity and consistency 201
sexism 144
shared knowledge 25, 29
sharing 183
sick role 86
significance of a theory 187–189, 203 simplicity of theory 151–152, 202 simultaneity paradigm 15 situation-producing
  theory 58–61, 178
situation-relating theory 58–61, 178
Slovenia 19
social capital 135
social context 148–149
sociological perspectives
  front- and back-stage behaviour 87
  nursing roles 86–90
  role conflict 89–90
  role norms and role sets 88–89
  role stress and strain 89
sick role 86
sophisticated knowledge 40
sophistication 58–62
specialist practice 82–84
Spitzer, Robert 125
staff attitudes 149–150 staffing issues 117
statistical methods 178
Structure of Scientific Revolutions,
The (Kuhn) 32
student nurses 88
Sudnow, David 38–39
Swanson, K. M. 65–67, 95, 114, 190 syllogism 49–50
symbolic interactionism 129 symbols 4
sympathy 41
systems paradigms 108
tabula rasa 25, 28, 168
tacit knowledge 38, 40
taking in 181
taxonomies 16
technological advances 137
tenacity 46
TER see theory-evaluating
  research
tertiary care 82
testing theory
  assumptions 132–133
  practice and theory 17, 18, 61, 68
  theory analysis and evaluation 204–206
TFR see theory-framed research TGR see theory-generating
  research
toy analysis and
  evaluation 186–207
  acceptance 206
  adequacy 203–204
  author of theory 189–191
  clarity and consistency 201, 202 concept analysis 188, 192–194 concepts and definitions 187, 192
  empirical indicators 204
evaluators of nursing
  theory 187–188
importance and
  significance 203
  internal and external criteria 194–200
  origins and logical development 191
  significance of a theory 187–189, 203
  simplicity and complexity 202
testability 204–206
  theory description 188, 189–191
  theory construction 4, 9–10 theory selection 140–160
  borrowed theory 156–158
criteria for selection 150–153 method of choice 147
problems in theory
  selection 143–150
  role of theory 140–143
  strategies for
  selection 154–155
theory-evaluating research (TER) 167, 175–177
theory-framed research (TFR) 167, 174–175
theory-generating research (TGR) 166–171
theory–practice gap 13, 69–71
theory–practice–theory
  strategy 180
theory–research–theory
  strategy 181
theory-testing research (TTR) 166–167, 171–173
therapeutic relationship 125–126
three-dimensional
  models 102–103
totality paradigm 15
Travelbee, Joyce 129–130
TTR see theory-testing
  research
two-dimensional
  models 102–103
understandability 152–153
United Kingdom 19
United States 18–19
van Manen, Max 41–42
Vienna Circle 25, 29–30
Watson, Jean
  contemporary context 21
  limitations to theory 118
  metaparadigms 112–114
  models and theories 101, 104, 112–114, 118
  necessity and meaning of theory 4
  nursing roles 94
  theory analysis and
evaluation 190
Wikipedia 55
Wittgenstein, Ludwig 29–30
word of mouth 47