Contents

Foreword vii
Preface ix
Introduction xiii

PART I The Present: What Has Been Created and How 1
Chapter 1 The Net and Netizens
The Effect the Net Has on People's Lives 3
Chapter 2 The Evolution of Usenet
The Poor Man's ARPANET 35
Chapter 3 The Social Forces Behind the Development of Usenet 48
Chapter 4 The World of Usenet 59

PART II The Past: Where Has It All Come From 67
Chapter 5 The Vision of Interactive Computing and the Future 69
Chapter 6 Cybernetics, Time-sharing, Human-Computer Symbiosis and Online Communities
Creating a Supercommunity of Online Communities 76
Chapter 7 Behind the Net
The Untold Story of the ARPANET and Computer Science 96
Chapter 8 The Birth and Development of the ARPANET 115
Chapter 9 On the Early History and Impact of Unix
Tools to Build the Tools for a New Millennium 127
Chapter 10 On the Early Days of Usenet
The Roots of the Cooperative Online Culture 161
PART III  And the Future?  201
Chapter 11 The NTIA Conference on the Future of the Net
Creating a Prototype for a Democratic Decision-Making Process  203
Chapter 12 “Imminent Death of the Net Predicted!”  214
Chapter 13 The Effect of the Net on the Professional News Media
The Usenet Collective/Man-Computer News Symbiosis  222
Chapter 14 The Net and the Future of Politics
The Ascendancy of the Commons  241
Chapter 15 Exploring New York City’s Online Community
A Snapshot of nyc.general  280
PART IV  Contributions Toward Developing a Theoretical Framework  289
Chapter 16 The Expanding Commonwealth of Learning Printing and the Net  291
Chapter 17 ‘Arte’: An Economic Perspective The Role of “Arte” in the Production of Social Wealth  305
Chapter 18 The Computer as a Democratizer  315
Glossary of Acronyms  321
References  325
Acknowledgments  335
Index  337