Contents

Introduction: “Well, I’m Afraid It’s About to Happen Again” 1
Robert Arp and Kevin S. Decker

Part I Doing Philosophical Things with South Park 5

1 Flatulence and Philosophy: A Lot of Hot Air, or the Corruption of Youth? 7
Willie Young

2 You Know, I Learned Something Today: Stan Marsh and the Ethics of Belief 19
Henry Jacoby

3 “Imaginationland,” Terrorism, and the Difference Between Real and Imaginary 29
Christopher C. Kirby

4 Dude, Listen to Reason! Logic Lessons Inside and Outside South Park 41
Robert Arp

Part II South Park and … Religion 53

5 Science, Religion, South Park, and God 55
David Kyle Johnson

6 “Your Magic Is No Match for Our Powers Combined!”—Religious Pluralism and the Search for Truth 71
Jeffrey Dueck
7 Cartmanland and the Problem of Evil
David Kyle Johnson

Part III South Park versus ... Religion

8 “Respect My Religiositah!”—South Park and Blasphemy
David Koepsell

9 Mary’s Menses and Morality: Blasphemy in South Park
Kevin J. Murtagh

10 South Park, The Book of Mormon, and How Religious Fundamentalists Always Find a Way to Be Naive and Arrogant at the Same Time
Roberto Sirvent and Neil Baker

Part IV Respecting My Authoritah! in South Park

11 Juvenile Hijinks With Serious Subtext: Dissent and Democracy in South Park
David Valleau Curtis and Gerald J. Erion

12 Of Marx and Mantequilla: Labor and Immigration in “The Last of the Meheecans”
Jeffrey Ewing

13 “Vote or Die, Bitch”—Does Every Vote Count
in a Two-Party System?
John Scott Gray

14 Socioeconomic Darwinism from a South Park Perspective
Dale Jacquette

Part V Liber-arianism in South Park

15 Cartman Shrugged: South Park and Libertarian
Philosophy
Paul A. Cantor

16 Sitting Downtown at Kentucky Fried Chicken:
One Toke Over the Line
Kevin S. Decker
17  Cat Urine, Medicinal Fried Chicken, and Smoking: South Park’s Anti-Paternalistic Libertarianism
    Shane D. Courtland

Part VI  There’s a Time and a Place for Everything, Children

18  You (Still) Can’t Get Married, You’re Faggots:
    Mrs. Garrison and the Gay Marriage Debate
    Jacob M. Held

19  Cute and Cuddly Animals versus Yummy Animals
    Cynthia Jones

20  Aesthetic Value, Ethos, and Phil Collins: The Power of Music in South Park
    Per F. Broman

Contributors  260
Index  265