Contents

Notes on Contributors viii
Acknowledgments xii

Introduction 1

PART I  Sonnet Form and Sonnet Sequence

1 The Value of the Sonnets
   Stephen Booth
   15

2 Formal Pleasure in the Sonnets
   Helen Vendler
   27

3 The Incomplete Narrative of Shakespeare’s Sonnets
   James Schiffer
   45

4 Revolution in Shakespeare’s Sonnets
   Margreta de Grazia
   57

PART II  Shakespeare and His Predecessors

5 The Refusal to be Judged in Petrarch and Shakespeare
   Richard Strier
   73

6 “Dressing old words new”? Re-evaluating the “Delian Structure”
   Heather Dubrow
   90

7 Confounded by Winter: Speeding Time in Shakespeare’s Sonnets
   Dympna Callaghan
   104
PART III
Editorial Theory and Biographical Inquiry: Editing the Sonnets
8  Shake-speare Sonnets, Shakespeare's Sonnets, and Shakespearean Biography
   Richard Dutton

9  Mr. Who He?
   Stephen Orgel

10  Editing the Sonnets
   Colin Burrow

11  William Empson and the Sonnets
   Lars Engle

PART IV
The Sonnets in Manuscript and Print
12  Shakespeare's Sonnets and the Manuscript Circulation of Texts in Early Modern England
   Arthur F. Marotti

13  The Sonnets and Book History
   Marcy L. North

PART V
Models of Desire in the Sonnets
14  Shakespeare's Love Objects
   Douglas Trevor

15  Tender Distance: Latinity and Desire in Shakespeare's Sonnets
   Bradin Cormack

16  Fickle Glass
   Rayna Kalas

17  “Th’ expense of spirit in a waste of shame”: Mapping the “Emotional Regime” of Shakespeare's Sonnets
   Jyotsna G. Singh

PART VI
Ideas of Darkness in the Sonnets
18  Rethinking Shakespeare's Dark Lady
   Ilona Bell

19  Flesh Colors and Shakespeare's Sonnets
   Elizabeth D. Harvey
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contents</th>
<th>vii</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PART VII</td>
<td>Memory and Repetition in the Sonnets</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Voicing the Young Man: Memory, Forgetting, and Subjectivity in the Procreation Sonnets</td>
<td>Garrett A. Sullivan, Jr.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Full character’d”: Competing Forms of Memory in Shakespeare’s Sonnets</td>
<td>Amanda Watson</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PART VIII</td>
<td>The Sonnets in/and the Plays</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Halting Sonnets: Poetry and Theater in Much Ado About Nothing</td>
<td>Patrick Cheney</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Personal Identity and Vicarious Experience in Shakespeare’s Sonnets</td>
<td>William Flesch</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PART IX</td>
<td>The Sonnets and A Lover’s Complaint</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Making the quadrangle round”: Alchemy’s Protean Forms in Shakespeare’s sonnets and A Lover’s Complaint</td>
<td>Margaret Healy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Enigma of A Lover’s Complaint</td>
<td>Catherine Bates</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Appendix: The 1609 Text of Shakespeare’s Sonnets and A Lover’s Complaint</td>
<td>441</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Index</td>
<td>502</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>