INDEX

A
Absolute profit, 158
Action learning, 84–85, 88
Agility, 229–230
Aho, Esko, 26, 41, 55, 56, 80, 106, 199, 238
Ahtisaari, Martti, 28, 181, 238
Ala-Pietilä, Pekka, 42, 46, 47, 50, 51, 71–72, 238–239
Alahuhta, Matti, 32, 43, 46, 47, 51, 90, 142, 172, 232–233, 238
Alcatel, 153, 191
Alcatel-Lucent, 38, 39, 190
Alliances, 194
Amoi, 209
Andersson, Robert, 78, 94, 145, 239
Android software, 175–176, 228
Apple: advertising in, 210–211; brand strategies of, 161; competition offered by, 175, 176; corporate culture at, 66; iPhone infringement claims by Nokia, 125–126; iPhone sales by, 38, 39, 153, 187–188; lacks global research center, 123; organizational structures at, 103; Ovi’s competition with, 183; R&D expenditures at, 120, 121; smartphone development by, 172; success of iPhone, 6–7, 153, 225, 235
Area-based structures, 95, 96
Asel, Paul, 135–137
AT&T, 153, 170, 205
Attracting new customers, 160
Autumn Harvest scenario, 220, 222
B
Baldauf, Sari, 21, 29, 46, 47, 70, 115, 239
Baril, Jean-François, 54
Bates, 211
Behavioral interviewing, 86–87
Bell, Alexander Graham, 182
Bell Labs, 123
Beresford-Wylie, Simon, 44, 56, 77, 78, 106, 170, 188–189, 190, 191, 239
Berkin, Larry, 86
Bernach, Bill, 131
Beta Labs, 133
BlackBerry. See Smartphones
Block phones, 170
BlogHub, 77
Board of directors, 61–62
Bosch, 153
“Bottom of the pyramid” markets, 201–202, 218
Brands: brand assets and image, 156; communications reinforcing, 161–163; differentiating, 232–233; disposable vs. durable, 157, 158; effect of small home market on brand value, 157–158; establishing product identity for, 179; growth of Nokia, 168; managing Nokia, 153–155; Nokia’s approach to, 154–155; power of Nokia’s global, 152–153, 161, 219; strategies of global leaders, 153–154; strengthening link between consumer behavior and, 161; sustaining value and leadership of, 155–157
Brazil, 196, 214–215
BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India, and China) countries: countries with potential like, 216, 217; impact on growth from, 196–197, 198; other countries like, 215–216; uniqueness of, 215. See also China waves of segmentation, 171; growth in consumer services, 181–183; leadership in mobile devices, 170–173; lessons learned about, 194–195; leveraging scale and solutions in network infrastructure, 188–192; new business development, 133–135; shakeouts and consolidations, 191–192. See also Devices unit; Market creation

BusinessWeek, 42, 153, 157

C

Careers at Nokia, 87–89
Caterpillar, 85
CELTIC, 124
Centralized facilities: IT structure for Nokia, 145–146; Nokia’s hub facilities, 146–147
Change: action learning as response to, 84–85, 88; embraced by leaders, 32–35, 36; generational, 55–56; Nokia’s ability to, 229–230
China: challenging Nokia values for, 100–101; competitors in, 176; iPhone flops in, 187–188; mobile device production in, 5–6; modifying matrix for, 111–112; Nokia manufacturing plants in, 209–210; Nokia’s development in, 75, 199, 216; sustaining leadership in, 204, 207–211
Chipcase, Jan, 166
Chipsets: chipset platforms, 127; outsourcing, 147–148
Ciena Corporation, 191, 206
Cisco, 38, 146, 190
Club Nokia, 181
Coca-Cola, 15, 153, 158, 160, 161, 219, 233
Collaboration in research and development, 193
Companies. See Multinational companies
Complacency: deterring with humility, 43–44, 52; struggling with, 53, 120
Computers and horizontal industry structure, 224
“Connecting People” vision statement, 73–74, 75, 93, 154, 199, 200, 218
Consumer services: goals for, 182–183; growth of, 181–182; Ovi services strategy, 183; providing integrated solutions, 187–188; sustainability of, 188
Consumers: engaging, 76; expanding base of, 160–161; global insights from, 163–167; influence on design, 177–178; knowing emerging market’s, 199–200; linking brands with behavior of, 161; listening to, 112; responding to, 77; sales process to, 150–151; understanding needs of, 178–180
Contributor markets, 109
Convergence: digital, 223–224; industry, 193
Core Technology Centers (CTCs), 124
Corporate culture: about Nokia’s values, 76–77; decision making within Nokia, 41–42, 56–60; developing managers and leaders, 87–92; ethos of, 51–52; executive team’s humility and cooperation, 42–44, 52; external orientation with internal collaboration, 48–52, 63; Finnish work ethic in, 43–44, 45; functions of leadership, 90–92; importance to, 107; objectives of Nokia’s global, 74; Ollila’s respect for Nokia, 29; outsourcing aligned with, 147–148; perseverance within Nokia’s, 64–66, 92, 119–120; sharing purpose with values, 71–78; teams within Nokia, 60–62; trust enabling fast decisions, 57–58; values within, 72–73, 78–79. See also Corporate responsibility; Values
Index

Corporate responsibility: about, 79; attention to, 69, 93; promoting growth in emerging economies, 80–81; promoting sustainable development, 81; social dimension only part of, 79–80. See also Values

Corporations. See Multinational companies

Costs: economies of scale, 143–144, 148–149, 196–197; innovation, quality, and efficiency of, 7–8; lowering as strategic advantage, 232; monitoring for emerging economies, 199–200, 201

Council for Mutual Economic Assistance, 19

Country units: about Nokia’s, 113; centralizing IT structure for, 145–146; headquarters among, 106–109; leading, 108; localizing global strategies, 109–112; modifying local reporting systems, 111–112; potentials and contributors among, 109; role in core matrix, 100; sales channels for, 151–152; scanners, 108–109

Creative destruction, 74

Culture. See Corporate culture

Cumulative profit, 158

Curtis, Alastair, 177–179, 239

Customers. See Consumers

D

Daimler-Benz, 153

Datang, 210

Dell, 146, 148

Demand and supply network: about, 167; centralizing IT for, 145–146; future of Nokia’s, 148–149; global centralized hub for, 146–147; manufacturing and logistics successes for, 144–145; modularity of mobile phones, 143; outsourcing aligned with culture, 147–148; scale economies and, 143–144

Design and Consumer Experience organization, 181

Devices Unit: about, 169–170; function of, 183; major markets of, 203; NRC’s work with, 123; R&D for mobile devices by, 126, 127–128; relating to knowledge networks in, 118, 119; responsibilities of, 173–176; subunits of, 173

Differentiation, 232–233

Digital convergence, 223–224

Disposable brands, 157, 158

Distribution. See Global distribution and sales

Diversity: distribution of employees, 66–69, 107–108; emphasis on, 69–70, 92; finding diverse team players, 85–87; gender, 70; leadership, 52–56

Doornik, Katherine, 230

Doz, Yves L., 229

DuPont, 85

Durable brands, 157, 158

E

also Global economic crisis; Global markets
Egalitarianism of management, 78
Ehrnrooth, Casimir, 29, 61
Ehrnrooth, George, 239
Electronic reporting system, 98
Elliot, 20
Emerging markets: “bottom of the pyramid” markets, 201–202, 218;
business models for, 200–202;
competing in, 198–199; consumer needs in, 199–200; corporate responsibility and, 80–81; developing devices for, 172–173, 187–188;
monitoring costs in, 199–200, 201; new large, 198–199; promoting growth in, 80–81, 167; sales potential in, 198. See also BRIC countries Employees: action learning for, 84–85, 88; autonomy of Nokia, 24; commitment and engagement of, 82–83; cooperative attitude of, 65–66;
decentralization and team effort of, 27; development paths for, 88–89;
devoted to Nokia R&D, 120–121; distribution of Nokia, 66–69, 107–108; diversity in, 68–69; empowering, 66, 92; flexibility and global mindset for, 84; growth among Nokia, 34, 44, 68–69; humility in, 72; interviewing potential, 86–87; language requirements for, 66; maximizing organizational capabilities of, 83; perception of matrix organization, 101–102; recruiting, 71–72, 85–87, 93, 128–129; sharing corporate values, 71; surveying for feedback, 76–77, 82
Ericsson, 32, 101, 118, 119, 120, 121, 189, 190, 191, 206, 208
Ericsson Group, 22
EUREKA cluster, 124
Europe: sales channels for market in, 151–152; sustaining leadership in Western, 206
European Monetary Union (EMU), 28
European Union (EU), 28
European Union Framework program, 124
Executive team: about, 238–243; characteristics of GEB, 44–46; “everybody is in this together” attitude, 65–66; members of GEB, 53–56; Nokia’s decision making by, 56–60; rotating jobs for leaders, 58–60; scenarios of Nokia’s prospects by, 220–222; strategies driven by, 41–44, 60–62; structuring organization, 95; timing, speed, and rhythm in decisions, 50; trust enabling fast decisions, 57–58; working with regional values, 101. See also Group executive board
F
Facebook, 183
Fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG), 158–159
Feedback: market, 165–166; surveying employees for, 76–77, 82
Financial Times, 32
Finish Cable Works, 20
Finland: after Peace Treaty of Paris, 18; business diversification in, 31; collapse of Soviet Union and, 25–26, 31; economic performance in 2010, 13–14; economic recession in, 25–26, 28; effects of World Wars on, 17–18; embraces globalization, 33–34; Finnish perseverance, 64–65, 92; focusing on core capabilities in, 30–32; industrialization of, 1–2; innovation investments in, 115–116; join European Union, 28; lumber industry in, 16–17; Nokia lead in innovations, 116, 117; Nokia’s diversification into electronics, 19–21; Nokia’s home market in, 9–11, 38–41, 48; opens to western markets, 18–19; work ethic in, 43–44
Finlandization, 22
Finnish Cable Works, 17
Index

Finnish Funding Agency for Technology and Innovation, 115
Finnish Innovation Fund (Sitra), 116
Finnish Rubber Works, 17
Flextronics International Ltd., 148
Flip phones, 170
Folder phones, 170
Forestry enterprises by Nokia, 15–17, 33
Fortune, 187
Forum Nokia, 210
Functionality segmentation, 171
Fund of Funds Program, 135

G
Gandhi, Rajiv, 211
Gates, Bill, 4–5
Genband Inc., 191
Gender diversity, 70
General Electric, 15, 97, 153, 219
Generational change, 55–56
Gerstner, Lou, 68
Giles, Colin, 40, 56, 75, 76, 100–101, 105, 111, 209–210, 239
Gini coefficient, 79, 80
Global Consumer & Customer Insights (GC&CI) unit, 163–165
Global distribution and sales: about, 149, 167; major country markets, 203–204; mobile communication sales process, 150–151; overview of, 202–203; sales channels for different markets, 151–152; scale efficiencies, 149–150; smartphones, 152; transformation to solution sales, 150
Global economic crisis: effects of, 190–191, 236; stabilization of, 142–143
Global Gender Gap Report 2009, 70
Global human resource management: action learning approach, 84–85, 88; challenges in, 92; global teamwork, 83–85; interviewing process, 86–87; recruiting employees, 71–72, 85–87, 93, 128–129
Global knowledge networks, 116, 118–122
Global markets: adaptivity in, 40–41; “bottom of the pyramid” markets, 201–202, 218; collaboration between Microsoft and Nokia, 5; competing in advanced economies, 197–198; designing devices for, 187–188; effect of Soviet Union collapse on Finland, 25–26, 31; emerging economies driving, 196; employee diversity in, 68–69; Finland’s dependence on, 9–10; Finnish dominance in forestry, 16–17; language requirements for Nokia employees and, 66; Nokia’s entry into, 21–24, 28–35; waves of globalization, 33–34. See also BRIC countries; Emerging markets; Home market
Global matrix, 95
Global teamwork, 83–85
Globalization: Nokia’s embrace of, 33–34; Nokia’s global human resource management, 82–85; third wave of, 34, 35; trends in, 235–236; values guiding, 78–79; without home market, 9–11, 38–41, 48. See also Global markets
Globally networked organizations: about, 94, 113, 234; balancing business and geography dimensions of matrix, 98–102, 113; centralized hub facilities and, 146–147; focus on area-based structures, 95, 96; headquarters among country units, 106–109; infrastructure for, 97–98; innovation networks for, 130–131, 137–140; IT logistics for, 145–146; lessons about, 113; localizing global strategies, 109–113, 227–229; Nokia’s structure, 102–106; tradeoffs of matrix organizations, 96–97; typical stages of company growth, 95–96. See also Country units
Google, 38, 39, 46, 73, 120, 121, 175, 176, 228
GP3 software, 176
Grameen Bank Foundation, 81
Greenpeace International, 81

283
Index

Group executive board (GEB): board of directors and, 61–62; characteristics of, 44–46; external appointments to, 56; illustrated, 104; members of, 53–56
Grove, Andy, 44
GSM (Global System for Mobile communications), 29–30, 32, 102
Gyllenhammar, Pehr G., 27

H
Harlow, Jo, 174, 239–240
Harvard Business Review, 64
Helsinki Stock Exchange, 29
Helsinki University of Technology, 130, 138, 139
Henderson, Rebecca, 230
Hewlett-Packard, 55, 123, 175
Holkeri, Harri, 118
Holmström, Bengt, 229, 231
Home market: brand value offsetting small, 157–158; globalizing without, 9–11, 37–41, 48; role for rival companies, 37–39; strategic choices with tiny, 49–51; viewing new country as, 62
HP-Compaq, 54
HTC, 175
Huawei, 38, 176, 189, 190, 210
Hub facilities, 146–147
Human resources. See Global human resource management
Humility: courage linked with, 64; deterring complacency with, 43–44, 52; hiring employees with nöyryys, 72, 93

I
Iannucci, Bob, 123, 137, 240
IBM, 23, 68, 123, 146, 153, 166, 210, 219
Iceberg theory of branding, 155–157
Idestam, Fredrik, 16–17, 240
Ihamuotila, Timo, 55, 106, 150, 152, 240
iMode, 225, 227
India: Nokia’s development in, 75, 216; sustaining leadership in, 204, 211–214
Industry convergence, 193
Innovation: acquiring technological, 135–137; cooperating with universities, 128–131, 138, 139; as corporate value, 76; Finnish investments in, 115–116; focusing research for, 141; global network for, 130–131, 137–140; importance of, 114; international R&D cooperation for, 141; interrelated Nokia knowledge networks, 118, 119; maintaining leadership with, 233; market creation and, 122, 140–141; Nokia Research Center’s focus on, 122–124; Nokia’s lead in Finnish, 116, 117; pioneering open, 131–133; R&D done in business units, 126–128; R&D expenditures at Nokia, 118–120, 121; recruiting employees for, 86; sustaining, 141, 234; timing, speed, and rhythm in, 49–51. See also Nokia Research Center; Research and development
Intel, 44, 74, 165, 193, 224
Intellectual property rights, 124–126
Interbrand: 153, 157, 219
International divisions, 95
Internet services: competition for, 174–175; design for, 180; Nokia goal to lead in, 182–183; products available from, 170
iPhone. See Smartphones; Apple
Island Def Jam Music Group (IDJMG), 226–227
IT systems, 97–98, 113
iTunes, 228, 235

J
Japan: competition in, 207; globalization within, 34; lessons Nokia learned from, 24
Jha, Sanjay K., 175
Joint ventures, 194
Jönsson, Thomas, 66, 101
JWT, 211
Index

K
Kairamo, Kari H., 2, 21, 22, 23, 24–25, 26–28, 29, 30, 34, 45, 112, 204, 240
Kekkonen, Urho K., 18, 19, 23
Kivinen, Lauri, 25, 74, 102, 190, 240
KONE, 43
Koski, Timo, 27
Kosonen, Mikko, 102, 116, 145, 229, 240
Katotyssä, 22
Kouri, Pentti, 28
KPO (Kansallis-Osake-Pankki), 27
Kyocera, 170

L
L. M. Ericsson, 23
Latin America: competition in, 215; sales channels for market in, 151–152
Leaders: culture of Nokia, 44–48, 56–60; developing, 87–92; embracing change, 32–35, 36; interviewing potential, 86–87; loss of Koskis and Kairamo, 27–28; mentoring, 89, 90; rotating jobs for, 58–60; strategies driven by executive team, 41–44, 60–62. See also Executive team; Group executive board; Managers
Leadership: delineating board and executive, 61–62; diversity in, 52–56; egalitarianism of management, 78; emphasizing teamwork, 66; functions of, 90–92; humility in, 43–44, 52; Kairamo’s style of, 23; mission of Nokia managers, 73; Ollila shapes Nokia’s global focus, 30–32, 34–35; succeeding in global markets, 8–9; transitions in, 89–90
Leong, Chris, 56, 101, 210, 241
Lessons: business strategies, 194–195; developing strategic capabilities, 167–168; for executive teams, 62–63; globally networked organizations, 113; growing from legacy to globalization, 35–36, 233; importance of innovation, 140–141; Nokia learned from Japan, 24; success from company’s values, culture, and people, 91–93, 234
Leveraging consumer insights and research, 160–161
LG, 38, 170, 175, 183, 212, 213
Lifestyle segmentation, 171
LiMo Foundation, 176
Listening: executives’ commitment to, 58, 82; to feedback from market, 165–166
Localizing global strategies, 109–113, 227–229
Long-Term Evolution (LTE), 188, 189
Louison, Mark, 205
Lucent, 191
Luxor AB, 22

M
Maemo, 228
Managers: conflicts in matrix structures pulling, 111; developing, 87–92; egalitarianism of, 78; mission of Nokia, 73; transitions in leadership for, 89–90
Manufacturing: Brazilian operations for, 215; evolving logistics for, 144–145; facilities for, 147; future of Nokia’s, 148–149; global centralized hub for, 146–147; in India, 213–214; plants in China, 209–210
Market-based strategies, 49, 63
Market creation: combining innovation with, 122, 140–141; developing new businesses, 133–135; sales channels for developing markets, 151–152; seeking insights from customers for, 163–167. See also Emerging markets
Marketing: branding in Nokia, 154–155; communications reinforcing brand, 161–163; fast-moving consumer goods, 158–159; four waves of segmentation, 171; maintaining Nokia leadership with, 233; methods for growing business, 160–161; PITA approach to mobile devices, 159–160.
Index

See also Brands
Markets: contributor, 109; future, 223–229; major worldwide, 203–204; potential, 109; sales channels for country units, 151–152. See also Emerging markets; Global markets; Home market
Markets division, 170
Marshall Plan, 18
Martin, John, 174, 241
Matrix organizations: balancing business and geography dimensions of, 98–102, 113; centralizing IT logistics for, 145–146; dealing with regional values, 101; effectiveness of Nokia’s, 97–98; headquarters among country units, 106–109; leading country unit operations, 108; localizing global strategies, 109–112; modifying in China, 111–112; Nokia’s structure as, 102–106, 234; origins of Nokia’s, 94–96; potentials and contributors among country units, 109; scanners within, 108–109; tradeoffs of, 96–97. See also Country units
Matsushita, 24
McDowell, Mary T., 53, 54, 55, 56–57, 97, 104, 106, 241
McGovern, Frank, 144
McKinsey, 31
Mechelin, Leo, 16–17
MediaTek Inc., 176
Mentoring, 89, 90
Mergers and acquisitions in Nokia, 21–22, 34, 135–137, 194
Microsoft, 4–5, 15, 38, 39, 94, 120, 121, 123, 126, 153, 165, 166, 172, 176, 208, 219, 224
MIT, 129
Mobile communications: collaboration between Nokia and Microsoft, 4–5; entry into U.S. market by Nokia, 23–24; global competition by Nokia, 24–25, 30–32; global knowledge networks in, 116, 118–122; importance of global mindset in, 7–9; Nokia’s history in, 1–4; possible horizontal layers in, 224–226; sales process in, 150–151
Mobile Computers business, 174
Mobile devices: building from observations, 166–167; centralizing IT logistics for, 145–146; China’s market share of, 5–6; competition in, 174–176; designing, 176–181, 187–188; developing for emerging markets, 172–173; dominant Nokia global business, 105; estimated sales of, 120; generic form factors for, 170–171; innovations in, 3–4; market share for, 173; mobile phones, smartphones, and mobile computers, 174; modularity of, 143; Nokia bets future on, 2–3; Nokia’s device vs. service model, 184–185; open innovation for, 132; outsourcing for, 147–148; PITA approach to, 159–160; product categories for, 179–180; R&D in Devices and Services unit for, 127–128; sales of iPhone, 6–7, 38, 39, 153; strategic advantages of Nokia in, 233–234; U.S. market for, 204–206. See also Smartphones
Mobile operators, 190–191
Mobile services business, 105
Mobile Telesystems, 214
Mobira, 20
Moerk, Hallstein, 55, 82–84, 86, 87, 96, 106, 241
Motorola, 38, 39, 118, 119, 120, 165, 170–171, 175, 190, 205, 208, 212, 221–222
Multinational companies: balancing business and geography dimensions of, 98–102, 113; dealing with regional values, 101; innovation building capabilities of, 140; lessons for, 236–237; localizing global strategies, 109–113, 227–229; modifying local reporting systems, 111–112; Nokia’s success in global markets, 10–11;
structure and location of, 107–108;
typical stages of growth, 95–96;
winning in global markets, 196–199.
See also Country units; Globally
networked organizations

N
Nanotechnology, 188
Natsuno, Takeshi, 227
Navigation software, 176
NAVTEQ, 100, 104, 119, 181
NEC, 190
Net sales: India’s, 212; Nokia Siemens
Networks, 202–203
Neuvo, Yrjö, 47, 57, 107, 118, 119–120,
122, 123, 129, 131, 152, 222, 225, 241
New York Stock Exchange, 29
New York Times, 221
Nike, 153
Ningbo Bird, 209
Nippon Telegraph & Telephone
Corporation (NTT), 24, 207, 225, 227
Nobel Peace Prize, 28
Nokia: adaptations in ‘80s, 24–25;
adaptivity in global markets, 40–41;
balancing business and geography dimensions, 98–102, 113; basic business strategies, 169–170; claims iPhone infringement, 125–126;
competing in global markets, 196–199;
cooperation within, 192–194;
corporate responsibility of, 79–81, 93;
demand and supply network,
142–149, 167; design philosophy of,
176–181; developing new business,
133–137; distribution and sales,
149–152; distribution of employees,
66–69, 107–108; diversification of,
17–21; effect of western markets on,
18–19; employee diversity in, 69–70,
92; enters mobile communications market in U.S., 23–24; executive team of, 41–44, 56–60; external orientation and internal collaboration of, 48–52, 63; forestry origins of, 15–17, 33; GEB
of, 44–46, 53–56; gender diversity, 70;
generational change within, 55–56; global focus of, 30–32, 35–36, 233;
globalization without home market,
9–11, 38–41, 48; growth with mergers and acquisitions, 21–22, 34, 135–137, 194; GSM digital mobile standard of,
29–30, 32, 102, 116, 118; headquarters for, 106–108; history of, 1–4; human resource management at, 82–85;
influence of Japanese corporations on,
24; innovation within, 7–8, 114–116,
137–140; integration with European markets, 22–23; Kairamo’s leadership of, 21; leadership within, 52–56, 90–92; loss of leadership and restructuring of, 26–28; market share of mobile devices, 7; marketing in,
158–163; Nokia Siemens Networks organization vs., 105–106; Ollila’s legacy at, 28–30, 32, 34–35;
optimizing global teamwork, 83–85;
organizational structure of, 94–98;
overview of global sales, 202–203;
perseverance within, 64–66, 92;
pioneering open innovation, 131–133;
power of global brand, 152–158, 168;
quality and cost efficiency of, 7–8;
R&D done in business units, 126–128;
rapid growth and development of culture within, 107–108; recruiting at, 71–72, 85–87, 93, 128–129;
reorganizes to focus on mobile devices, 2–3; research priorities,
123–124; rotating jobs for leaders,
58–60; shared vision of “Connecting People”, 73–74, 93, 154, 199, 200, 218; sources of success, 229–234; strategic capabilities of, 142, 167–168; strategy and decision making within, 44–48;
strengths of, 4–6; structure of,
102–106; sustaining leadership,
235–236; teams within, 60–62, 234;
tradition of adaptation, 35–36; values
within, 76–77, 78–79, 234; vulnerabilities of, 6–7. See also Lessons; Strategic capabilities
Nokia 2000 vision, 30
Nokia China, 111–112
Nokia Corporate Alliances Business Development (NCBC) unit, 133–135
Nokia Design, 180–181, 185
Nokia Foundation, 131–132
Nokia Growth Partners (NGP), 135–137
Nokia Mobile Phones, 31, 85, 172
Nokia Networks, 188–189
Nokia Pilots, 133
Nokia Play 2010, 226–227
Nokia Research Center (NRC): about, 114, 122; accumulating intellectual property rights, 124–126; cooperating with universities, 128–131, 138, 139; creating markets using innovative networks, 138–140; developing new businesses, 133–135; mission of, 122–123; research priorities, 123–124; sustaining innovation, 141, 234
Nokia Siemens Networks (NSN), 25, 44, 53, 70, 75, 77, 91, 103, 105–106; about, 170; business units in, 192; Chinese R&D centers for, 210; developing new businesses, 133–135; interest in Nortel business, 191; interrelating with knowledge networks in, 118, 119; launch of, 191–192; major markets of, 203; market presence of, 189–190; net sales, 202–203; NRC’s work with, 123; organization of, 105–106; R&D within, 121–122, 128; research and development in, 121–122, 128, 188–189; Siemens merges with Nokia Networks, 188–189; U.S. presences of, 205–206
Nokia Telecommunications, 31
Nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), 81
Nordea Bank AB, 27
Nortel, 190, 191, 206
Northern Telecom, 23
Novartis, 85
Nöyrys, 72
NRC, 123
NTT DoCoMo, 207, 225, 227
Nuovo, Frank, 176–177, 178, 179, 180, 241
O
Oceanic, 22
Öistämö, Kai, 53, 54, 106, 126, 127, 169, 185, 200, 221, 241
Ojanperä, Tero, 55, 59–60, 106, 122–123, 226, 227, 242
Open Handset Alliance, 176
Open source software: Open Handset Alliance for, 176; open innovation by Nokia, 131–133; operating systems, 173
Orange, 190
Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEC), 18–19, 116
Orta, Heikki, 60
Outsourcing, 147–148
Ovi, 181, 183, 228
Ovi Mail, 183
Oxygen Project, 129
Oy Nokia Ab, 20
P
Paasikivi, Juho K., 18
Paasikivi-Kekkonen line, 18
Palm, 38, 126, 175, 176
Panasonic, 170
Panda, 209
Pardy, Keith, 65, 71, 160, 242
Performance Management Process, 82
Perseverance and sisu, 64, 65, 66, 92, 119–120
Philip Morris, 153
PITA (population, incidents, times, and amounts) approach, 159–160
Porter, Michael, 49, 229
Potential markets, 109
Procter & Gamble, 146, 170–171, 233
Product innovation: avoiding Americentric, 187–188, 221–222; design philosophy and, 176–177; providing integrated solutions, 187–188; timing, speed, and rhythm in, 49–51. See also Devices unit; Solutions unit

Profit: on FMCG, 158–159

Q

Qualcomm, 120, 121

R

R&D networks. See Innovation; Research and development

Radio Shack, 204

Radiolinja, 118

Rahnasto, Ilkka, 125

Rashid, Rick, 133

Research and development: business units doing, 126–128; capital structure supporting, 139; collaboration in, 193; Devices and Services Unit mobile device, 126, 127–128; Finnish institutions for, 115–116; global locations for, 130–131; India-based, 213; investing in electronics, 114–115; leveraging consumer, 160–161; NRC’s cooperation with universities, 128–131, 138, 139; NSN’s, 121–122, 128, 188–189; priorities of Nokia Research Center, 123–124 Resource-based strategies, 49, 63 Retaining customers, 160 Rhythm in innovation, 49–51 RIM, 39, 120, 121, 125, 153, 175, 176, 183, 205, 225 Roberts, John, 230 Roosevelt, Franklin D., 201 Russia market presence, 214 Røpke, Peter, 127

S

Sales force, 150–151. See also Global distribution and sales

Samsung, 38, 170, 175, 183, 208, 212, 213

Savander, Niklas, 53, 105, 106, 170, 183, 184, 185, 242

Scale: centralizing IT to meet, 145–146; economies of, 144, 148–149; increasing to justify R&D investment, 188–189

Scanners, 108–109

Science and Technology Policy Council, 116

Self-reliance, 88

Service experience segmentation, 171

Services Unit: about, 169–170; consumer services available via, 181–182; major markets of, 203; Nokia’s service vs. device model, 184–185; NRC’s work with, 123; R&D for mobile devices by, 126, 127–128; relating to knowledge networks in, 118, 119

“70–20–10” approach, 88

Shell, 62

Shivakumar, D. “Shiv”, 41, 44, 65, 70, 75, 110, 212, 242

Siemens, 20, 68, 189, 212

Singh, Manmohan, 211

Sisu, 64, 65, 66, 92, 119–120

Smartphones: American market for Nokia, 205; business strategies for Nokia, 174; competition in, 175–176; design of, 179; global market for, 125; improving sales of, 227–228; market and competition among, 152; Nokia’s competition in, 153; profit loss on Nokia, 123–126; R&D for, 127–128; software development for, 172

Software: Android, 176–177; development of, 127, 172; GP3, 176; navigation, 176; Symbian, 132, 173, 228

Solutions Unit: about, 169–170; creation of, 185–186; Nokia Design moved to, 181

Sony, 24, 154
Index

Sony-Ericsson, 123, 175
Soros, George, 28
Soviet Union: collapse of, 22–26, 31; expanding Russian market presence, 214; Finnish fight against, 17; Nokia’s relationship to U.S. and, 22–23; postwar relations with Finland, 18–19
Speech Cosmos scenario, 220–221, 222
Speed: of product innovation, 49–51; trust enabling fast decisions, 57–58
Sprint Nextel, 205
Standardization for innovation, 124
State Electric Works, 19
Stewart, David, 59, 60, 226
Strategic capabilities: demand and supply network, 142–149; developing, 142, 234; global distribution and sales, 149–152; layering strategic advantages, 231–232, 237; lessons in developing, 167–168; marketing strategies, 158–163; Nokia’s success based on, 229–234; power of Nokia’s global brand, 152–158, 168; seeking consumer insights globally, 163–167; strength of Nokia’s, 167–168. See also Brands; Demand and supply network; Global distribution and sales
Strategic decisions: choices corporations with tiny home market, 49–51; external orientation and internal collaboration in, 48–52, 63; GEB’s role in, 56–60; Illila’s restructuring of Nokia, 28–32, 34–35; leadership function for, 90; localizing global strategies, 109–113, 227–229; making bold, 36; promoting values worldwide, 74–75; team process within Nokia, 44–48; values taking precedence over, 78–79
Success: based on strategic capabilities, 229–234; components of Nokia’s, 64; infrastructure required for, 113, 195; innovation and Nokia’s, 120; manufacturing and logistics, 144–145; perseverance and Nokia’s, 64–66, 92, 119–120; sources of Nokia’s, 91–93, 234
Sundbäck, Veli, 47, 242
Suominen, Arja, 45, 51, 161–163, 242
Suri, Rajeev, 56, 170, 191–192, 243
Sustainable development, 80–81
Sustaining market leadership: acknowledging need to connect, 222–223; competition for future, 223–229; improving smartphone sales, 227–228; possible problems, 235–236; scenarios for future, 219–222; sources of success, 229–234
Symbian Foundation, 86, 132
Symbian operating system, 126, 132, 225–226, 228
System Research Centers (SRCs), 124
T
T-Mobile, 190, 205
Tandy, 23, 153
TCL, 209
Teamwork: as corporate value, 76, 234; empowering employees, 66, 92; humility and cooperation in Nokia, 42–44, 52; matrix organizations and, 96; Nokia leadership by executive team, 41–44; optimizing global, 83–85; organizational incentives for interdependence, 104–105; origins of Nokia, 27; persistence and, 65–66, 119–120; programs, integration, and common targets, 61; success of leadership diversity in Nokia, 52–56; working within Nokia, 60–62. See also Executive team
Technology: acquiring innovative, 135–137; business segmentation by, 171; developing new businesses from, 133–137; global innovation sites for, 130–131; innovations in Nokia, 233; intellectual property rights for, 124–126; Nokia’s global network for innovative, 137–140; pioneering open innovation, 131–133
Technophone, 144
Index

Telefónica, 190
Televa, 19
Tempere University of Technology, 130, 138, 139
Timing product innovation, 49–51
Tirri, Henry, 106, 123, 131, 132, 243
Torres, Alberto, 54, 55, 56, 106, 170, 185, 243
Toyota, 146
Treaty of Friendship, Cooperation, and Mutual Assistance, 18
Trust: enabling fast decisions, 57–58; finding individuals with, 72; outsourcing and, 148
Twitter, 183

U
Ulfberg, Björn, 164, 165
Union Bank, 27
United States: avoiding Americentric product development, 187–188, 221–222; developing market in, 22–23, 204–206; feels less need to adapt, 40; international strategies of, 33–34; Nokia sales within, 23–24, 176; Nokia’s competitors in, 175–176; Nokia’s headquarters in, 106–107; sales channels for market in, 151–152
Universal Music Group International (UMGI), 227
University research and development, 128–131, 132

V
Valco, 20, 21
Value: brand, 155–158; creating extended value networks, 193
Values: about Nokia’s, 76–77, 234; assertiveness in China and Asia, 101; “Connecting People” vision statement, 73–74, 75, 93, 154, 199, 200, 218; developing managers and leaders, 87–92; empowerment in China, 100; motivating shared purpose, 72–73, 93; Nokia Siemens Networks, 75, 77; precedence over strategy, 78–79; promoting corporate responsibility, 69, 79–81; recruiting candidates based on, 71–72, 85–86, 93; representing in Indian market, 212; “70–20–10” approach, 88; sharing purpose with, 71
Vanhauwenhuyse, Rita, 87
Vehviläinen, Mika, 191
Venture Capital Fund, 136
Venture Capital Plus, 135
Verizon, 205
Vertical integration, 225
Village Phone project, 81
Vimpelcom, 214
Vladirmirov, Viktor, 22–23
Vodafone, 190
Vuorilehto, Simo, 28

W
Wal-mart, 146
Wales, Jimmy, 131–132
Wall Street Journal, 153
Wealth distribution, 79–80
Welch, Jack, 97
Westerlund, Björn, 19, 114, 243
Wieden & Kennedy, 211
Wikipedia, 131–132
Wikstedt, Kurt, 114–115, 243
Wilska, Kari-Pekka, 24, 58, 65, 76, 243
Worldwide product divisions, 95

X
Xerox Park, 129

Y
Yahoo, 38, 39
Yoffie, David, 230

Z
ZTE, 176, 190, 210