Contents

List of Figures vi
Preface – Southern Africa: A Personal Geography, History, and Politics viii
Acknowledgments xxi
Introduction: Global, Inequality, Women, and HIV/AIDS 1

1 The Culture of Science and the Feminization of HIV/AIDS 17
2 Imperial Moralities and Grassroots Realities 45
3 The Transition to a New South Africa: Hope, Science, and Democracy 65
4 Of Nevirapine and African Potatoes: Shifts in Public Discourse 91
5 The Difference in Pain: Infected and Affected 107

By Sibongile Mkhize
6 Contested Sexualities 118
7 Public Spaces of Women’s Autonomy: Health Activism 139
8 “Where Are Our Condoms?” – Namibia 155
9 Ju/’hoansi Women in the Age of HIV: An Exceptional Case 171
10 Changing Times, Changing Strategies: Women Leaders Among the Ju 184
11 “The Power of Practical Thinking” – The Role of Organic Intellectuals 199
12 Conclusions: Neoliberalism, Gender, and Resistance 217

Notes 222
Bibliography 237
Index 264