Index

advertising
  and economic development, 128 competition, 131
  government regulation, 131
  media segmentation, 138
  Olympics, 136–7
Apple Daily, 199
Associated Press, 115
Authoritarian Capitalism, 23–4

Baidu (Chinese Google), 33–4
BBC, 100, 110, 114, 116, 125, 127
Beijing Evening News, 46–7
Beijing Radio, 136
Beijing Review, 183
Beijing Youth, 123
Belgrade, Chinese embassy bombing, 146
bloggers, 28, 30

CCTV
  9/11 attack, 99–101
  advertising, 134–5
  audience size, 104
  Barack Obama, 99
  headquarters fire, 98
  local governments, 102, 105
  Mao Zedong, 118
  overseas audiences, 107–11
  protocol news, 107
  “Super Girl”, 95

Xiwen Lianbo, 100, 102, 104–7
Xinhua, 111, 116
cell phones, censorship, 37
growth, 36
mobilization tool, 37
China Daily, 15, 185, 186
China Internet Network Information Center (CNNIC), 32
China News Service, 117
China Radio International, 183
China Today, 183, 185
Chinese Academy of Social Science, 158
Chinese Journalist, 127
CNN, 100, 110, 113, 114, 116, 125, 127
Coca-Cola, 155–7
Confucius, Analects of, 145–6
CPC (Communist Party), 88

Dalai Lama, 42
Deng Xiaoping, 144
diaspora, Chinese people, 198
  media and people abroad, 203–4 outmigration, 205
earthquake in Sichuan, 12–14
Economic Daily, 142 education for journalism and communication, 208
English channels on TV, 187, 188
English media roles, bridging, 194,
  elite, 191
  future trends, 196
  language, 192
Elle China, 62, 134
Falun Gong, 29, 204–5
GAPP (General Agency of the Press), 116 geography of China, 19–20
Google and Yahoo, cooperation with Chinese government, 34–5
Great Leap Forward, 118
Guangdong, Radio, 136
Han, Han, 98
Hong Kong, 117, 118, 141, 199–200
  film industry, 199
  press freedom, 200
  relations with UK and China, 199
Hu Jintao, 15, 41, 144, 152
Huang Jianxin, 163
India, western media look to, 211–12
Internet services, 189
Kai-Shek, Chiang, 200
Kristof, Nicholas, 12
Lee, C.C., 12
Lee, Kwan Yew, 202–3
Li, Gong, 179, 180
“Long March”, 117
Macau, 116, 117
magazines, digital, 71–2
  in English, 185–7
  fashion, 66–9
four categories, 63
general interest, 64–6
joint ventures, 63
news, financial, 69–71
totals, circulations, 61, 62
Maher, Ed, 111, 112
major problems, demographics, poverty, pollution, ideology, 209–11
metropolitan dailies, 120, 121
motion pictures,
decline of independents, 168–9
domestic films, 164–6
earnings, audiences, 163–4
Hollywood influences, 173–5 rating of films, 170–2 relaxed film censorship, 169–70
role of stars, 178
WTO effects on films, 166–7
Netease, 136
Newspapers,
  changing roles, 46
  Chinese perspective, 58–60
dual roles, 50–2
  in English, 185–7
history, 43
newspaper groups, 52–3 party organs, 44
readership, 49
served elites, 44
total revenues, 49
North China Daily News, 183, 185
NWIO (New World Information Order), 118
Olympics, 2008 in Beijing, 16–18
Oriental Daily News, 199
People’s Daily*, 16, 107, 116, 118, 121, 122, 142
Pew Research Center, survey of attitudes to China, 113
Phoenix TV, 99, 100, and 9/11 attacks, 99, 100
and mainland audience, 101
and Xinhua, 101
Politburo, 116
press,
cultural differences, 24–5
Leninist theory, 22
modern history, 20, 21
relations with government, 25–6
Public Relations,

Analysts of Confucius, 145–6
and Deng Xiaoping, 144
and Hu Jintao, 144, 152
and national economy, 142
and SARS crisis, 153
and Wen Jiabao, 144, 160
Beijing Olympics, 160
Chinese definition, 147–8
Chinese Public Relations Association, 157
foreign firms, 151
Miss PR drama, 141
Public Relations News, 158
QQ, 136

Radio broadcasting, boom times, 75
decline, 75–6
deregulation and revival, 76, 78
eyarly radio, 74–5
English language learning, 77 online radio stations, 81
radio services in English, (CRI), 184
Red China News Agency, 117
Reference News, 117, 119
Reporters Without Borders, 199, 202
SARFT (State Admin. For Radio, Film, and TV), 88, 96, 116, 120, 171, 172
SARS epidemic, 124, 153
satires and protests, 38–9, 40
Shanghai Media Group (SMG), 136
Shanghai Radio, 136
Shanghai Style, 134
Shuguang, Rao, 163
Sichuan earthquake, 121, 154
Sina.com, 100, 116, 136
Singapore, 201, 202
Sohu.com, 136
South Morning China Post, 42, 199
Southern Weekend, 14, 127
Southern Metropolis, 114
Standard (Hong Kong), 199
Starbucks, 161
State Council, 116, 121
Stone, Sharon, 154
support of government, 26–7
Tatzebao (big character posters), 20
Tiananmen Square, 21, 41, 123, 124, 199
Tibet, protests in, 11–12
television entertainment, foreign influences, 91–2
game shows, 93
history, 85
Olympics, 84
reality shows, 93
regulation, 87
revenues, ratings, 87
TV imports, 89–90
UNESCO, 118
USA Today, 49

Wall Street Journal, 156 webcasting, 35
Wen Jiabao, 13, 144, 152
West Germany, 118
Wild Swans, 103
WTO (World Trade Organization),
120, 131
Xinhua,
  and CCTV, 101, 116, 120, 122
  and city newspapers, 122
  as Third World agency, 118
  auxiliary enterprise, 119–20
  diplomatic role, 118 international plans, 126
  local governments, 124

Index

  party newspapers, 122
  positive news emphasis, 121
  Tibet protests, 12
  Xinhuanet, 116, 121, 124

  Zedong, Mao, 12, 118
  Zhao, Ziyang, 124