Contents

List of Maps ix
Foreword by Patrick Weil x
Series Editors' Preface xiv
Acknowledgements xv

Introduction 1
The Election of Ethnic Minorities on European City Councils 1
Comparing Ethnic Minority Politics in Britain and France 3
Contrasting Levels of Representation and Modes of Access in the 1980s and 1990s 6
Towards an Analysis of Local Political Processes 13

1 Historical Institutionalism and the Comparison of Local Cases 20
Strategies of Management of Ethnic Conflict and Historical Institutionalism 20
Strategies of management of ethnic conflict 21
Historical institutionalism 25
Central and local factors 26
Birmingham, Lille and Roubaix, 1980s–2001 29
The Main Propositions and the Outline of the Book 32
The framing of debates on immigration and integration in national politics: 1945–2001
Contrasting local political systems

2 The British Policy Framework: Liberal Citizenship Regime, Depoliticization and the Race Relationism of British Cities
1948–1958: Pressure on Local Authorities and National Indifference
The beginning of mass migration
National apathy and local agitation
Depoliticization
1965–1968: The first ‘race relations’ policies
Consequences of the race relations framework on later patterns of minority participation
The 1970s and 1980s: The Legacy of the 1960s Settlement
The polarization of the 1970s
The Labour Party as the minorities’ party – until 2001?
The 1980s onwards: Local Labour activism
The ‘Race Relationism’ of British Cities in the 1980s and 1990s
Equal opportunities policies, city networks and the election of non-white councillors
Local variations
Conclusion

3 The French Policy Framework: Planned Migration, Xenophobic Politics and Durable Political Exclusion
1945–1973: State Planning and Unintended Effects
The 1945 framework and the generation gap
The unexpected arrival of extra-European immigrants
The management of North African populations by the central state
From migrants to minorities
Struggling to define immigration policy
1983–1997: National and Local Politicization of Immigration in Xenophobic Terms
The Socialist Party and the failure of the Beur movement
The rise of the Front National and the contradictory reactions of party elites
The Construction of Consensus after 1997
Socialist policy innovations
The 2001 local elections
Conclusion
Contents

- From Indifference to Multi-ethnic Coalition: The Birth of Ethnic Politics in Birmingham 92
  - Birmingham government: polycentric and partisan 95
  - A large, diverse and disadvantaged ethnic minority population 97
- From indifference and hostility to pluri-ethnic government: 50 years of ethnic politics 103
- Institutions and Activists: How Ethnic Minorities Penetrated the Labour Party 116
  - Styles of community organization 117
  - The political institutions of the inner city 122
  - Three styles of co-optation in Labour ward-level politics: from vote brokerage to independent councillors 125
- Conclusion 142

5 Lille, 1980s–2001: Machine Politics and Exclusion of Minorities in the French Municipal System
- Introduction 144
  - The Lille–Roubaix comparison 144
  - A strategy of avoidance and denial 145
- Lille’s Double Strategy of Externalization and Political Exclusion 147
  - The emergence of a North African minority 147
  - The municipality’s policy of gentrification 150
  - The persistence of a social and ethnic ‘problem’ in Lille 152
  - Social discontent in the political arena: Front National, republican universalism and minority disorganization 155
- The French Municipal System, Machine Politics and Minority Exclusion in Lille 159
  - Municipal institutions in Lille 161
  - The 1980s: municipal politics and the failure of the Beur movement 164
  - The 1990s: machine politics and the marginalization of North African dissent 169
  - Relations between municipality and North African groups in the 1990s: patronage and dependence 179
- Conclusion 185

6 Roubaix, 1980s–2001: Inclusion Through Neighbourhood Groups and an Open Municipal Game
- Introduction 187
- Urban Crisis, Migrations and the Political Management of the Crisis 188
  - From ‘Holy City of the Proletariat’ to post-industrial crisis 188
  - A large population of Algerian descent 189
Contents

- Roubaix identity, Front National vote and pro-minority policies 191
- Institutions and generations of activists 195
- Roubaix Political History and Immigrant Incorporation in the 1990s 196
  - Cross-party government and inclusion of migrants in the municipal community 197
  - North African activists in an open political game 206
- Conclusion 209

Conclusion 211
- Strengths and Limitations of Historical Institutionalism in Ethnic Minority Studies 211
- The End of the Path: Muslim Anger in Britain and the Lingering Burden of Beur Failure in France 213
- Ethnic Minorities and the Decline of the European Left 217
- Local Strategies and their Unintended Effects 218

Appendix: Interviews and Sources 221

Notes 223

Bibliography 240

Index 256