Contents

List of contributors, vii
Preface, ix
Acknowledgements, xii

Chapter 1 Does communication with consumers and carers need to improve? 1
Megan Prictor and Sophie Hill

Chapter 2 A new conceptual framework for advancing evidence-informed communication and participation, 12
Sophie Hill and Mary Draper

Chapter 3 Interventions for communication and participation: their purpose and practice, 27
Sophie Hill, Dianne B. Lowe and Rebecca E. Ryan

Chapter 4 Identifying outcomes of importance to communication and participation, 40
Sophie Hill, Dianne B. Lowe and Joanne E. McKenzie

Chapter 5 Communicating risk and risk statistics for preventing chronic disease, 54
Sophie Hill, Adrian G.K. Edwards and Dianne B. Lowe

Chapter 6 What does participation mean? Reshaping our understanding of the meaning of surgery, 67
Sophie Hill and Jessica Kaufman

Chapter 7 Disclosure: a case study of communication about medically acquired risk for a rare disease, 82
Rebecca E. Ryan, Jessica Kaufman and Sophie Hill

Chapter 8 How I used a systematic review from The Cochrane Library, 94
Helen Dilkes, Jessica Kaufman and Sophie Hill

Chapter 9 Evidence and resources for systems decision-making: improving the experience of health and treatment, 105
Dianne B. Lowe, Sophie Hill and Rebecca E. Ryan
Contents

Chapter 10 Looking at online health information more critically, 115
John Kis-Rigo

Chapter 11 Learning to communicate, 125
Megan Prictor, Simon Lewin, Brian McKinstry and Jessica Kaufman

Chapter 12 Getting the most out of research: using what we know, 143
Dell Horey, Jessica Kaufman, Sophie Hill

Chapter 13 Research agendas for knowledgeable patients, 151
Ruth Stewart and Sandy Oliver

Chapter 14 Managing multiple health problems: is there evidence to support consumer-focused communication and participation? 161
Rebecca E. Ryan and Sophie Hill

Chapter 15 Partners in care – an evidence-informed approach to improving communication with women in a hospital setting, 173
Sophie Hill, Maureen Johnson and Mary Draper

Chapter 16 Building health-literate societies, 184
Sophie Hill, Dianne B. Lowe, Chaojie Liu and Nancy Santesso

Chapter 17 Tools for building research capacity and knowledge transfer, 196
Helen Dilkes, Jessica Kaufman and Sophie Hill

Chapter 18 Emerging technologies for health communication, 208
Yannis Pappas and Josip Car

Index, 218