Contents

Notes on Contributors ix

Introduction: Play Well, Philosophize Well!
   Sondra Bacharach and Roy T. Cook 1

Part I  LEGO® and Creativity 5
1 Constructing Creativity
   Mary Beth Willard 7
2 Building Blocks of Thought: LEGO® and the Philosophy of Play
   Tyler Shores 17
3 LEGO® Formalism in Architecture
   Saul Fisher 27
4 “That Was My Idea!”: LEGO® Ideas and Intellectual Property
   Michael Gettings 39

Part II  LEGO®, Ethics, and Rules 49
5 “You Know the Rules!” What’s Wrong with The Man Upstairs?
   Jon Robson 51
6 Searching for “The Special”: The LEGO® Movie and the Value of (LEGO®) Persons
   Alexander Quanbeck 59
CONTENTS

7 LEGO® and the Social Blocks of Autonomy 69
   Eric Chelstrom

8 Building and Dwelling with Heidegger and LEGO® Toys 79
   Ellen Miller

Part III LEGO® and Identity 89

9 Ninjas, Kobe Bryant, and Yellow Plastic: The LEGO® Minifigure and Race 91
   Roy T. Cook

10 Girl, LEGO® Friends is not your Friend! Does LEGO® Construct Gender Stereotypes? 103
   Rebecca Gutwald

11 Representation in Plastic and Marketing: The Significance of the LEGO® Women Scientists 113
   Rhiannon Grant and Ruth Wainman

12 Real Signature Figures: LEGO® Minifigures and the Human Individual 123
   Robert M. Mentyka

Part IV LEGO®, Consumption, and Culture 133

13 LEGO® Values: Image and Reality 135
   Sondra Bacharach and Ramon Das

14 Small Farms, Big Ideas: LEGO® Farm and Agricultural Idealism 145
   Craig Van Pelt

15 The Reality of LEGO®: Building the Apocalypse 153
   David Lueth

16 The American Archipelago: Touring the Nation at Miniland USA 163
   Samantha J. Boardman

Part V LEGO®, Metaphysics, and Math 173

17 The Brick, the Plate, and the Uncarved Block: LEGO® as an Expression of Dao 175
   Steve Bein
CONTENTS

18 LEGO®, Impermanence, and Buddhism
   David Kahn

19 LEGO® and the Building Blocks of Metaphysics
   Stephan Leuenberger

20 What Can You Build?
   Bob Fischer

21 Playing with LEGO® and Proving Theorems
   Fenner Tanswell

Glossary
   Alice Leber-Cook and Roy T. Cook

Index

