Contents

Preface ix
Acknowledgments xv

Part One: Gearing Up for the New Global Reality 1

1 Building the Next-Generation Global Enterprise 3
   Anil K. Gupta, Haiyan Wang

2 Is Your Business Model Ready to Drill into the Core of the Diamond? 29
   Niraj Dawar, Charan Bagga

Part Two: Winning the Local Competition in Emerging Asia 59

3 Coevolving Local Adaptation and Global Integration: The Case of Panasonic China 61
   Toshiro Wakayama, Junjiro Shintaku, Tomofumi Amano, Takafumi Kikuchi

4 How Some Japanese Firms Have Succeeded Against Low-Cost Competitors in Emerging Markets 87
   Junjiro Shintaku, Tomofumi Amano

5 Transferring Home-Grown Management Practices: The Case of Toyota in China 115
   Akira Tanaka, Yue Wang
Part Three: Acquisition-Driven Globalization from Emerging Asia 139

6 Dubious Value of International Acquisitions by Emerging Economy Firms: The Case of Indian Firms 141
   Aneel Karnani

7 Acquisition Advantage: How Emerging Market Firms Use Acquisitions, and What Incumbents Can Do About It 169
   U. Srinivasa Rangan, Sam Hariharan

Part Four: Innovation Opportunities and Challenges in Emerging Asia 201

8 Innovating in the Vortex: New Perspectives from Radically Different Business Experiences in India 203
   Srikanth Kannapan, Kuruvilla Lukose

9 Protecting Intellectual Property in China: A View from the Field 235
   Andreas Schotter, Mary B. Teagarden

10 Competing in Emerging Asia: Reflections and Conclusions 265
    Anil K. Gupta, U. Srinivasa Rangan, Toshiro Wakayama

Notes 285

About the Editors and Contributors 309

Index 321